1952 Fire Loss In State Hits Record Figure

Michigan's fire loss rose to a new high in 1952 when property valued at $35,000,412.26 was destroyed. There were 193 fire fatalities, including 66 children and one fireman.

The information is contained in the annual fire loss report compiled by the State Police fire marshal division. The report is based on summaries submitted by fire departments throughout Michigan.

State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs, who is also state fire marshal, pointed out that the 1952 monetary loss exceeded the previous high of $29,760,609.98 in 1951 by $5,839,802.28. The fire fatality toll, however, was below the previous three years. The all-time high was 257 deaths in 1950.

MORE FIRES were reported by local departments than in any other year. There were 64,229 as compared to the previous high of 59,958 in 1948.

Total loss on buildings, including 16,260 dwellings, was $21,015,956.20. Contents of the buildings represented a loss of $13,424,158.22. Other fires, such as motor vehicles, boats, machinery not in buildings, aircraft, grass fires, etc., amounted to $1,160,297.84.

A breakdown of various types of fires listed 6,545 automobiles, 79 dry cleaning plants, 136 bulk storage plants, 245 house trailers, 101 schools and 37 theaters.

There were 4,016 fires caused by smoking and 8,228 by other forms of careless use of fire. Additional leading causes were faulty electrical wiring and appliances and misuse of appliances, 4,068; defective chimneys, stacks and stove pipes, 4,143; overheated heating equipment, 1,652; and grass fires, 17,205.

Of 686 incendiary fires, 314 were set by adults and 372 by children.
