INSECTS AS GUARDS

PRICELESS NUGGETS GUARDED BY MOSQUITOES.

The Insects Drive Workers Away—Only the Leprosy-Ridden Natives Able to Stand the Horrible Plague—Method of Torture.

GOLD IN PLENTY may be found in the sands of the Volador river—a stream of moderate volume that comes tumbling from the snow line of the Sierra de St. Martha in South America—but though the lowland region and the river bed where the precious metal abounds in fabulous quantities are easily accessible, the mosquitoes are so thick and terrible there that all attempts to rifle the sands of their gold have so far failed.

Elisee Reclus, the celebrated French geographer, was the first to explore the plain about the Volador's mouth. It seemed like an earthly paradise at first, and the stinging insects were no more numerous than one might have expected. But as the dry rainy season came on and the air grew hot and humid the mosquitoes appeared in incredible swarms. M. Reclus had thought of establishing an agricultural colony in the fertile lowlands, but found the plagde of insects so unbearable that he was forced to beat a retreat and abandon the project.

He was the discoverer of this wonderful stream, whose waters sweep over sands that are literally golden. He told the news to the French Vice-Consul at Rio Hacha, and this official obtained the concession of this Eldorado. The dangers he was to encounter he knew perfectly well. He took with him when he set out an ingeniously constructed gauze tent of large dimensions. For two days he tried to live under its shelter and watch the operations of his workmen, who toiled in the stifling heat, clothed in thick garments, and protected by heavy boots, gloves and veils. At the end of the second day, however, both employer and employes with one accord gave up the struggle and retreated.

The next to try to wring fortune from these auriferous sands was an Italian, who obtained permission from the Vice-Consul referred to above. The Italian laughed at the idea of mosquitoes driving anyone away from a place where gold could be picked up almost by the handful. He started out with a party of Sioux who shared with him his belief, and so they took along no special protection against the insects. They endured for less than half an hour the awful torture and then fled. They found their way back to Rio Hacha with difficulty, for the eyes of five were so badly swollen that they were blind. The sixth was a sight to behold, and he had to pick out the pathway with the aid of one eye, which the mosquitoes had not entirely closed.

Yet there are human beings who can venture with impunity into this hell where guardian demons are mosquitoes, and these are some of the savage natives of the mountains from whose rocky steps the river comes tumbling down. These savages who are mosquito proof are rendered so by their bodies being covered with the aches of that awful disease leprosy. Strange to say, the mosquitoes will not touch them. But neither will nor the hands of civilization will tempt them to labor, and there is no human power, apparently, which will drag them from their rude caves on the mountain side and make them labor for the white man.

It is an old and true saying that one might as well try to get along without furs in the arctic regions as without mosquito nets in the tropics. Mosquito nets seem to have been of little avail, however in the instances related. The insects are said to have been both unusually large and unusually venomous, and they crept in such myriads that they had the appearance of a mist hanging over the waters of the river. The intense pain and action of the poison on the system speedily drive the strongest mad.

One of the favorite tortures among the natives of the region about the valley of the Volador is to strip their victim and bind him naked to a stake. In a moment his body will be literally covered with mosquitoes and in a half hour's time it will be enormously swelled. The torture is indescribable.

Greasers Coming East.

The lower class of Mexicans, "greasers" they are called out west, are immigrating east in large numbers. In the past five years such inducements were offered them in southern Texas as cheap farm lands that they brought all their friends on, and now there are large "greaser" colonies all over Southwest Texas. But immigration is so great that even Texas hasn't room for them, and they are now flocking to the North and East. A few years ago Mexican labor was totally unknown in the Southern states. Now it is plentiful. They are so successful as cheap farm workers in the southern states that they are steadily coming this way, having already reached as far as Central Ohio. A large number of them are now in Chicago, where they introduced Mexican dishes at the World's Fair.—Ex.

The Wholesale Grocers' association meets in Atlanta on Wednesday next. We hope to be present, for we honor the men who sell groceries—especially on credit.

We also note that the American Waterworks association meets in Atlanta Tuesday. We would have invited them to Billville, but unfortunately, water is an unknown quantity here.

This has been the coldest June we have ever seen in Billville. We sold our fishing tackle for an overcoat and gave a half interest in the paper for a red-hot stove.—Atlanta Constitution.

Gave His Fishes to the Poor.

A novel proceeding for the benefit of the Methodist church took place recently on the farm of W. T. Kenyon, on the Ohio side of the river. He is the owner of a fine fish pond, which he permitted to be drained and the fish sold for the benefit of the church. The small boy was in his glory wading in mud and water after fish, all of which there was about 400 pounds. The largest weighed twenty pounds. They were mostly German carp. The church realized about $50.

Affliction.

"Affliction is a divine diet, which, though it be not pleasing to mankind, yet Almighty God hath often, very often, imposed it as a medicine, though better physic upon those children whose souls are dearest to Him."—Walton.

PLEASANTRIES.

Scientists say that "plenty of sleep is conducive to beauty." "That's so; even a tall hat looks worn when it loses its nap."

Bell Boy—The man in 44 is a congressman. Clerk—How do you know? Bell Boy—He ordered a glass of seltzer and a syphon of whisky.

"Blessed if I ain't a regular Tribby," muttered the man in the crowd after being slapped on half a dozen times; "everybody gets on to my feet."

"My old aunt has sent me a jar of brandy cherries," said a toper to a party of friends, "and, though I don't care much for cherries, still I fully appreciate the spirit in which they were tendered."

"At last, my dear fellow!" "What's up?" "You will hardly believe it. I am in love and I am loved in return." "You are perfectly happy, then." "Nearly so—only—it is not the same girl."

"She left the ballroom a few minutes ago, saying that she didn't fancy being squeezed in the crowd." "Was Charley with her?" "Yes, and I think that by this time he has found a place where there is no crowd."

"Jones did your daughter prove much of a success as a typewriter? Brown—I did she? Well, I should say so. Married her first employer before she'd worked three months. He is worth $20,000 at the very least, too.

Mr. Suburbs—Yes, we live only thirty miles out of town. The last girl we had stayed with us six weeks. Servant Lady—Oi don't want th' place. Six weeks! Yez don't get th' chance to hypnotize me if I knows meself!

Maiden of Blushing Fifteen—You have changed a great deal of late, Charlie, Callow Youth—To my one advantage, I hope. Maiden—Certainly to your own advantage. Formerly you brought me a box of candy every day. Time to Flee—"Mungerson, our state's favorite son and candidate for the presidency, has disappeared. I hear," demarked the politician. "I wonder what's become of him?" "He heard that a delegation was about to call on him for his views on silver."

"I licked him," said the boy, mournfully. "I licked him good, an' now there are a couple of big fellows in the next street just a-layin' to lick me cause I licked him." "My son," said the father, earnestly, seeing an opportunity to impress a lesson in international politics upon the boy, "now you realize the position that Japan is in."

It is estimated by engineers who have studied the subject that 16,000,000 horse power goes to waste every hour over Niagara falls.

DON'T STOP TOBACCO

IT'S INJURIOUS TO STOP SUDDENLY and don't be imposed upon by having a remedy that requires you to dose, as it is nothing more than a substitute. In the sudden stoppage of tobacco you must have some stimulant, and in most all cases, the effect of the stimulant, be it opium, morphine, or other opiates, leaves a far worse habit contracted. Ask your druggist about BACO CURO. It is purely vegetable. You do not have to stop using tobacco with BACO CURO. It will notify you when to stop and your desire for tobacco will cease. Your system will be as free from nicotine as the day before you took your first chew or smoke. An iron-clad written guarantee to absolutely cure the tobacco habit in all its forms, or money refunded. Price $1.00 per box or 3 boxes (30 days treatment and guaranteed cure.) $2.50. For sale by all druggists or will be sent by mail upon receipt of price. SEND SIX TWO CENT STAMPS FOR SAMPLE BOX. Booklets and proofs free.

Office of THE PIONEER PRESS COMPANY, C. W. HUBBARD, Supt. St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7th, 1894.

Eureka Chemical and Mfg. Co., La Crosse, Wis.

Dear Sirs—I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past year have smoked fifteen cigars regularly every day. My health was ruined, my nerves shattered, and my digestion had become impaired. I was in perfect health, and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every tobacco user knows full appetite, has completely left me. I consider your "Baco Cure" a most valuable remedy and fully recommend it. Yours very truly, C. W. HUBBARD.
