ROYAL OAK RUMBLINGS.

EDITED AND CONDUCTED BY ARTHUR B. CAMPBELL.

Subscriptions Received and Advertising Contracted for in this Paper by the Agent, Arthur W. Campbell, of Royal Oak.

John Watch entertained some of his host of friends Sunday.

Sheep-shearing is in order and some pretty heavy fleeces are being taken.

Miss Nora Carlton is visiting Mrs. H. N. Brown and other friends in Detroit.

The Campbell tribe re-united Tuesday at the residence of H. J., the eldest son.

One day last week a bee considerably improved the environments of the M. E. church.

Will McDowell started for Marquette Tuesday, where he will work at the carpenter's trade.

John Watch has obtained a three years lease of the Decker farm, and his to turn out it to one of his employees.

Having was commenced last Friday by Mar. Robinson, who got in one pile of his fine shape. Wise can beat that for this year?

Wilmot's plow must have been going very fast when it went through here. We didn't even catch sight of it, but that's no sign it didn't come.

Is there a cross on your paper this week? If so, hand in your checks and your Lexicrative will continue to arrive just the same as if paid at the Birmingham office.

Children cry when out Sunday, and you want to tell everybody you see to go. They have gone to much trouble to arrange a pleasing program and everybody ought to go. M. E. church, Sunday, all day.

Talk is going on about celebrating the Fourth by oration, a huge dinner, music and otherwise interesting program. Let's have some execution about it and not all talk. A rousing old-fashioned celebration would give Royal Oak energy for a year to come.

The lyceum at Hazel park last week was quite entertaining, although there were only a few to talk. It was concluded that the pulpit was more influential than the press. Next meeting, the evening of the first Tuesday in July. The subject to be then chosen and debated without study or preparation.

WEST BLOOMFIELD.

Messrs. Shutts and Whitehead took in some Cass lake fishing last week, and now we expect to hear some big fish stories told at Birmingham post-office.

The joint board of school inspectors of this town and Bloomfield have organized a new school district near Walnut lake, for which they have the thanks of the community.

Mr. Stodgel raised a barn frame on Saturday last, with John Kimball to do the shouting.

Mr. Harris has the repairs on his house nearly completed.

Mrs. Rundel is very low with an abscess and her demise is hourly expected.

There is soon to be a new toll-gate on the Orchard Lake gravel road.

The Cass Lake Aquatic club have a grand opening this month.

Frank Bixby suffers with rheumatism.

Mrs. Ada Hinkley has gone to Perry on a visit.

Mrs. J. Gamble has gone to Birmingham to visit her brother-in-law, Mr. Quick, who is sick.

J. P. Huger is building an addition to his house.

Corn is going to be corned again this year if the cold weather and worms don't quit pretty soon.

Mrs. Ketchum is visiting friends in Toledo. We understand she is going to open a restaurant in the house formerly kept by G. L. Seeley at Orchard Lake.

Pink-eye is raging to some extent in the western part of the town.

When some of our girls have a beau they take him into the parlor; that's all right. But when that girl's ma comes in and takes the young lady over her knee in the presence of said beau, we don't know how that is—but guess it's all right, too.

The Great Alboni.

Amateurs of vocal music had a famous treat at the concert for Dumaine's benefit at the Trocadero, writes a Paris correspondent. Alboni sang there "Stabat Mater." Those who went to hear her were agreeably surprised that the nightingale in her elephantine throat is in as fine voice as ever; all they hoped for was some traces of the Alboni of former times. She is thrice the girth in neck, bust, waist, and hips that she was before she retired from the stage. The black, ample silk dress harmonized with her massive figure, which, bulky though it was, did not look caricatural. Alboni advanced panting up the gangway from the green-room to the stage, on which she entered with her hands pressed to her heart. Her whisper to some of those near her was sonorous, and when she opened her mouth to sing the notes that rolled out were voluminous as those of a church-organ and sweet as honey. I should have liked to hear her give an unpublished melody of Gounod which imitates the easy inflow of the tide on a calm night. It would have gone well with her style and peculiar gifts. She is a great artist, trained in a great school, and endowed as no other woman is that any of us remember. Her delight at the reception she met with was in Olympian laughter as she returned to the green-room. The handsome young Alsatian captain of gendarmerie, whose wife she is, knew what he was about when so married her eleven years ago. He is a melomaniac, and her voice is almost exclusively consecrated to him. In summer he and she live in a roomy villa near St. Cloud, and in winter in a mansion that she built near St. Augustin's church. The captain adores her for her musical gifts, and is on the footing of jolly good fellowship with her.

Corea has been said to be a land of large hats, but this does not tell everything. One would hardly expect the following dimensions from this statement alone: At Phyoung-Yank, a large and historical town near the west coast, the hats worn by the poor women are baskets 3½ feet long, 2½ feet wide, and 2½ feet deep, which conceal their faces as effectually as the white cloak worn by women of a better class over their heads. The men wear a hat of the same shape, but somewhat smaller. It, however, requires the use of both hands to keep it in place.

WIT AND HUMOR.

An Ohio man was so badly frightened by a ghost that his hair, which was of a silky yellow, turned black. Several of his brothers are now on the lookout for the same ghost.—Burlington Free Press.

A "constant reader" wants to know how much ashes coal will assay to the ton. He says he bought sixteen tons of coal but he is sure he has shoveled nineteen tons of ashes out of his furnaces so far, and the winter is only half over.

Texan—"I trust sir, you don't mean to call me a liar?" Stranger—"And if I did call you a liar, what would you do about it?" "I'd do my duty under the law, sir." "And what's that?" "Hold an inquest over your remains, sir. I'm the coroner here."

Betsey, an old colored cock, was mooning around the kitchen one day, when her mistress asked her if she was ill. "No, ma'am, not zactly," said Betsey; "but de fac' is, I don't feel ambition enough to get out of my own way."—Harper's Bazar.

"Hello, Jim, old boy," said the conductor to one of his passengers, evidently another railroad man, "how's business with you up on the Northern Pacific?" "Mighty lively when I left—especially mining." "What kind?" "Mining for trains."—Chicago Herald.

There are differences even among Italian Princes. The least enterprising and shrewd among them come to America and grind hand organs. The sharp nobleman stays in his own sunny clime, bides his time and finally marries a rich American girl.—Pennsylvania Spectator.

The religious opposition to cremation is re-enforced by opposition from the life insurance companies. They claim that it will interfere with the successful contest of policies by destroying the evidence as to the cause of death.

"Captain Joe," the local chief of the Washoe Indians, says there is a squaw living in the outskirts of Virginia, Nev., who is nearly 150 years old. Her grandson, at the age of 90 was one of General Frémont's guides when he crossed the plains.

His Sarah Althea Hill.

Some few years ago an eccentric Frenchman died possessed of a million or so. He had no heirs here, but there were a score of nephews and nieces in France. When his will was opened it was found that the old man had provided liberally for all, and to Sallie Hinchley, a former well-known actress, who had lived here many years, he had left an annuity of $200 a month to be paid her so long as she lived. But Sallie pooh-poohed this provision. She began suit at once, and claimed to be the wife of the old man, and to have dower rights, and all that, and she made such a hubbub as to scare the French belles out of their wits, and they gladly compromised. Sallie took $80,000 in cash, in lieu of her annuity, and $100,000 in cash besides. She now lives in fine style here, and though no longer a young woman by any means, is attractive and leads a quiet and respectable life.—San Francisco Bulletin.

The I'm-to-be-Photographed Look.

It is the hardest thing in the world to get some folks into any kind of a natural position, or expression of countenance. They will put a kind of I'm-to-be-photographed look on their faces when they come into the gallery and it generally stays there. Then the way some women dress! They have an idea that the more colors they put on the better they look, and the result is that when they see their photographs and the curious effect produced by the colors, they'll blame the photographer, though we always tell them beforehand. Nearly all persons look better in a picture than in reality, except those having clear complexions. Some ladies, for instance, would be considered beautiful in side view of their features, while a front view is decidedly disappointing. Of course in photographing them, we take the side view. Some look better with a hat on and some in full out door costume. But there is one thing you may not know, and that is very few ladies look well photographed in white, yet the only pictures many have taken are in their graduation or wedding dresses.—Rochester Democrat-Chronicle.

DRY GOODS AND CARPETS. ESTABLISHED 1879.
SPRING, 1885.
The Busy, Bustling, Brisk, Bright and Battling Bee-hive. No Buncome (Bunkum), Blundering, Bravado Blustering, nor boiling over with politics at THE BEE-HIVE. A Bright and cheerful store with a Booming trade, a Bold front and a Boon to all who trade there. ALL classes invited to Buy their DRY GOODS & CARPETS at THE BEE-HIVE. The trade of ALL is solicited and ALL made equally welcome. No Babel of confusion. No Billingsgate. No Broiling over If you don't Buy; no Bungling, Badinage, Bullying, or Bamboozling; no Barbarous yarns, nor long-winded stories. No Burden to show goods, But Beneficial to trade there every time. No Buffoonery, nor Burlesque, But we get right down to solid Business at once at the BEE-HIVE. The largest stock in the county. Not "Just Going Out" of carpets—that fib has Been told so much by would-be competitors in Pontiac that no one believes it. It is too flat, stale and old a trick to repeat. Come where the stock is the largest, the newest and the freshest. Five competent, cheerful, willing, active, obliging and polite salesmen stand at your command ready and willing to wait upon all who call. No old and stale quotations on last century Bulletin Boards, But fresh announcements in the press of Oakland county which every one reads and profits by. No peeping through peep-show carpet exhibitors, but the actual rolls on the floor is what the public want and will have.
This ends our chapter of B's (Bees).
Yours Truly,
JOHN POUND.
PONTIAC, Mich., April 21, 1885.

BRUMMIT, AGAIN.
It is about a year now since I wrote an advertisement. Not because I have nothing to say, but because I am vain enough to think that the citizens of this county know that so long as I am in business I shall always make the BEST PHOTOGRAPHS for as low prices as they can be made for properly; and just here I would say something. I attended the Photographer's Convention at Cincinnati in August, and had the opportunity of seeing the finest collection of Photographs ever brought together in the world, and I am proud to say that my LARGE pictures compare favorably with the very best made, and are equal to pictures made in large cities for from $50 to $100 each. I wish particularly to speak about these pictures. I have a method of making life size pictures which does not appear to be known generally, and I can make a picture life size and put a handsome frame around it, for $15, which is a great deal less than it will cost a Photographer to make such a picture by the ordinary method. I see every little while agents from other cities soliciting orders for copies and they often succeed in getting a good many orders from people who, strange as it may seem, will give an order to a perfect stranger and pay half as much again as they can get better work for here at home. It is about as though I should send to Toledo to buy a crock of butter or a spring chicken, but such is life.
I have lately painted by the best background painter in the United States, six new and beautiful backgrounds, and I bought some new accessories at Cincinnati, and I really think that there is not a more complete gallery in Michigan.
Now about BABIES PICTURES. If there is a baby in this county that I can't make a picture of, if I have the chance, I am just aching to see that baby. The babies all like me and I like the babies, so bring them along and just let me show you how quick I can make a picture.
BRUMMITT, THE PHOTOGRAPHER.
