STATE NEWS.

Our Plain Lands.

Some two years ago a California enacted a law to print and sell school books to children at cost. The law was immediately put into effect, a printing office purchased, and text books, fresh from the state press are now being distributed. The result proves the wisdom and foresight of the legislature, and e'ects a saving of more than one-half the cost of school books, as the following comparison will show. Appleton's series of readers cost $2 90; Swinton's se ies, $3 10. Bancroft's series, $6 60; M Guffey's series, $2 50; a ste series, $1 05. There are 25,000 school ch ldren in the state.

The "big trees" of California will soon be extinct. Seventeen lumber companies, owning from 3,000 to 25,000 acres of re l wood forest each, are wagging the war of extermination with all the weapons known to the mo'ern logging camp. The demand for the wood is unlimited, and all the mills are kept at work to the limit of their capacity. The forests are large, but the force employed against them are swift and irresistible.

In Sioux City, the youngest of Iowa towns, and at the present time pretty near the most enterprising, they have what they call an "Epitaph Table." Everybody is invited that a member of it does for the city, to advan ei s growth, or to add to its civilization or charity, is treasured up by the people to be placed on his epitaph at death.

A citizen of Hoosdale, Mass., was drinking at a bar with three companions, when his wife came in joined the drinkers, and ordered drinks for all hands. It was the husband's boast about two more drinks of the stuff would have enabled him to see a sleep forty feet long in the act of swallowing a snake.—Norristown Herald.

A nine year old citizen of Newburyport is reported to have said to his mother, who told him that h's signing the temperance pledge didn't amount to anything: "Maybe not, but if dad had signed one when he was nine years old it might have amounted to something."

As Gen. Burnside's memory is to be honored with a fine equestrian statue Rhode Island people are remarking that Senator Anthony also should be the subject of a public monument. His grave is marked lo ely by a huge boulder bearing a plain bronze tablet.

Jackson Prison Report.

The annual report of the inspectors of the state prison at Jackson shows that it contains 775 prisoners, 15 more than at two years ago. They are employed as follows: Wilkington & Cooley, 181; Austin, Dunlmann & Wheaton, 150; Ely & Co., 151; creamery package company, 35; state work, 38; state account, 100; work of the prison, 206. Since March the prison has been self sustaining. The approp iations are: General fund, $15; to rebuild wagon shops and an addition to dining room, $25,000; for a new cell block, $75,000; to purchase land in front of the prison, $10,000; for new steam and pump boilers, $1,200. The sanitary condition of the prison is pronounced good, and the health of the prisoners. The report recommends that the female prisoners be cared for by the state at the asylum. The inspectors recommend that they shall be made to perform housework and attend some young female patients, and not to be sent to the trott at $1 per week.

A Disgrace to the State.

Charges have been made against Prison Inspector W. H. Ketcham, of Ionia, who was appointed two years ago, charging him with using his official position to assist them in gaining their release from prison by pardon. The doctor was called before the board and the charges were read to him, when he denied them. He was then given a pending investigation, which will take place in a short time. In the meantime, Dr. Williams has been appointed to act as physician. The inspectors voted to return the charges to the board.

Guilty of Murder.

In the trial of Oliver Bowerman, charged with the killing of Hugh O'Hara at Charlo is f summer, Judge Gage of Saginaw, gave the case to the jury at 4 o'clock last, who retired at 10 o'clock, and after being out for four hours returned a verdict of guilty of murder.

The murdered man and his brother, both of Ionia, had been at Charlotte the evening the victim being intoxicated and boisterous. About a mile from town they met Bowerman and two others, and Hugh O'Hara shouted at them when they got out of the buggy, and challenged one of them with him, and Young Bowerman knocked him down and kicked him in the temple from the effects of which death followed soon after.

Ex-Banker Wadsworth, of Ishpeming.

The state supreme court has just rendered the case of the people against H. F. Wadsworth who was the leading banker of Ishpeming when the bank broke in 1884 lost for $160,000. Of this sum $40,000 had been deposited the same day as taxes by some of the large mining corporations. He was deputy city treasurer and owed the city $6,000 of the money lost, and of which were quashed on legal technicalities, he was found guilty of embezzle. He carried the case to the supreme court and the verdict was reversed on a technical point. Wadsworth has recently become interested in mining property which promises to make him a wealthy man.

A Horrible Death.

The Anchor barrel company has a number of large vats in its works at Anchor ville on the Elder river, which are usually filled with scalding water, into which material is tumbled to soak for the making of barrels. Last Friday, a boy of 12 years, a workman, in going among the vats missed his footing and tumbled into one of them. He was up to his neck in the boiling water before assistance could reach him, and when his fellow workmen pulled him out his flesh was cooked to the bone. Well as he could be under the circumstances, he was dead at 10 o'clock the same night. His wife was with him when he died.

FARMER LUCK

The State Carried by the Republicans.

The Legislature Probably Republican.

The returns from the state election are so scattered, and some sections so meager, that a publication of figures in detail would be premature. But the state has been carried for Luce, and the entire republican ticket is elected by a majority ranging from 5,000 to 10,000. Returns already received show that Luce made gains on Alger's vote of two years ago. In the upper peninsula the republican majority is reduced, however, though returns from that section are so incomplete that exact figures cannot be given. The following ticket elected is as follows:

Governor—Cyrus G. Luce.

Lieut. Gov.—James H. Macdonald.

Secy of State—Hiram R. Pattison.

State Treasurer—George L. Maitz.

Auditor General—Henry H. Aplin.

Attorney General—Moses Wisner.

Com. of S. L. Office—Roscoe D. Dix.

Supt. of Pub. Instruction—Jos. Rice.

State Board of Education—S. S. Babcock.

The returns for congressman show that six republican and five democratic congressmen have been returned by the majorities indicated:

First district—Logan Chipman, dem., 500.

Second district—E. P. Allen, rep., 1,000.

Third district—James O'Donnell, rep., 2,500.

Fourth district—Julius C. Burrows, rep., 500.

Fifth district—M. H. Ford, dem., 300.

Sixth district—Mark S. Brewer, rep., 1,200.

Seventh district—Justin R. Whiting, dem.

Eighth district—T. E. Tarsney, dem., 400.

Ninth district—Byron M. Cutcheon, rep., 1,500.

Tenth district—Spencer O. Fisher, dem., 1,500.

Eleventh district—Seth C. Moffatt, rep., 10,000.

The Legislature.

The latest returns received show a republican majority in the senate and with the house of representatives, though the republicans will be in a majority, may make further changes necessary in the senate. The senate will hold over the later candidates are classed with the old parties by the aid of whose endorsements they were elected, as follows: Democrats, United States senator they will undoubtedly act with the democrats, and upon all other questions they will be neutrals. Those later members number three, viz: Brown, in Ionia, who was both with democratic affiliations; two: Haumann, in Saginaw, who was also with democratic affiliations, and five others in Bay county, who were with democrats and friendly with republican affiliations. Senator elect Campbell of the 24th district, is a democrat, and the 26th district Jones, indorsing Campbell, who is a greenbacker, will be counted as the latter class of members, with the old party that insured the election. It is thought that the republican majority on joint ballot is 16, following are the lists, the names of democrat-elect members elect being printed in caps:

Republicans 60; democrats 40.

In regard to the probable vote the returns are very deficient. From many localities no report has yet been received. At best this vote can only be approximated. It appears to be known to clearly indicate decided gains over 1884 and 1885.

The only prohibition votes of counties on governor so far reported by Detroit Tribune, Calhoun, 1,000; Ionia, 1,000; to 81 for Preston; Clinton, 470 to 403 for Preston; Grand Traverse, 105 to 128; Lenawee, 1,098 to 1,406; Kalamazoo, 1,000; Mackegon, 575 to 361; Otsego, 119 to 55; Washtenaw, 475 to 350.

General Election

The election throughout the country on the 2d inst. is prolific in surprises to both parties. Democrats have generally carried Each party suffered losses and made gains in unexpected places.

The entire democratic ticket in New York city is elected, with a majority for mayor of New York reaching 20,000. Henry George made a good run, but Hewitt's majority is 20,000 plurality.

In California the democrats gain one congressman. The legislature is in doubt.

Ohio has made very gratifying republican gains, the republicans claiming 15 of the congressional delegation and the governorship.

New Jersey elects a democratic governor by a plurality, but the republicans claim the legislature by a majority of one.

Kansas gives the republican candidate for governor a majority of 7,000 and the congressional delegation is republican.

In Virginia the republicans have made a gain of five.

Massachusetts's vote for governor gives the republican candidate a majority of 9,604, and the republicans elect the entire state ticket.

Iowa elects the republican ticket by about 15,000 majority.

In New Hampshire there is no election of governor, but the republicans have secured seven 14 republicans, 10 democrats, and the house is republican by from 50 to 80 majority.

The republicans make heavy gains in North Carolina.

The republican ticket is elected in Nebraska by about 10,000 majority.

In Connecticut the republicans have gained one congressman. There is no election of governor. The legislature is in doubt.

Pennsylvania gives a good republican majority, the plurality for governor being estimated at over 40,000.

Colorado is doubtful.

Minnesota is heard from, but the result is not yet published.

Wisconsin gives Gov. Jerry Rusk, republican, 25,000 majority, and the legislature is republican by 25 on joint ballot.

The chairman of the state republican committee of Illinois claims a majority of 30,000 on state ticket, and a large increase over the democratic state gain.

The democrats have carried the legislature of West Virginia by a small majority.

Colorado is doubtful. The republicans have a majority.

In Mississippi the matter is in doubt. Neither party will concede the election.

In Alabama democrats elect their governor and legislature.

Returns from New Orleans point to a solid democratic congressional delegation.

South Carolina sends a strong democratic delegation to congress.

Texas elects the entire democratic congressional delegation.

Washington Territory and Montana both send democratic delegates to congress.

Gold and Silver.

The director of the mint, Dr. James P. Kimball, has issued his report of the gold coinage for the year ending June 6,360, amounted to $34,077,380, being $10,000,000 more than last year. The silver coinage was $30,022,347, of which $22,838,000 were dollars. The report says that the value of the silver dollar has been steadily down ward since 1878, and during the past year the decline has been very marked. The value of gold and silver used in the arts and for other manufacture was $19,300. Gold bullion imported amounted to $4,073,000, and exported $27,355,000. Silver imported $4,151,435; exported, $10,200,606 of which $10,000,000 went to trade dollars. The estimated amount of gold coin in the United states is $708,000,000, and of silver coin is $378,784,223. The estimated stock of coin and bullion in the United States is estimated at $1,087,000,000. Gold has been increased. The United States produces two-fifths of the precious metals of the world.

Taxing National Banks.

In the United States circuit court in Cleveland, Judge Jackson and Judge Walker decided a series of suits, entered by 13 national banks of Cleveland, youngstown and Akron against the treasurer of Mahoning, Mahoning and Lorain counties, to prevent the collection of alleged excess of taxes. The banks claimed that the rate of taxation placed upon their capital stock was higher than that imposed on other investments. They also asked that the internal revenue tax should be made a set-off on the tax list against the value of the bank stock as assessed for the tax duplicate. The court sustained both claims made by the banks. The state and counties will lose many thousands of dollars. The treasurers will appeal to the United States supreme court.

The Smithsonian Institute.

Prof. Baird, secretary of the Smithsonian Institute, in his annual estimates for the museum, asks congress to appropriate $100,000 for a new building, making the action of a new building to flank the Smith sonian Institute building on the west, as the museum flanks it on the east. This sum will carry the completed front and one wing of the new building, and another nearly equal sum will probably be required to finish the building. The cost of the world's exposition in 1892, the project for which is now pending, will be taken in hand by a committee of congress, meets with approval the money devoted to the construction of the new building. It is said, will be a portion of so much toward the necessary out lay. The committee on the world's exposition the new structure is held to be an immediate and pressing necessity.

Should Have Sent Them Sooner.

Three thousand three hundred and seventy five dollars in counterfeit notes of the issue of 1878-9 in denominations of $50, $5, $10, $20 and $100 were recently sent to the United States treasury by A. M. Seaton, of Washington for redemption. Though yellow from age the notes are in good condition, but the first comptroller has decided that they are barred by time and cannot be redeemed.
