The Juryman From Texas.

In order to become a New York juryman a man has to be supernaturally stupid. If he shows as much intelligence in his countenance as an Egyptian mummy, he is excluded for having an opinion. To be accepted as a juror in New York, a man must have just sense enough to breathe, and that's all.

If the theory of a fish diet producing brains were correct, the man who has say "boo" to a goose, or stand the intellectual strain incident to writing war articles for the magazines.

If you want to search for dense ignorance in New York, go to the intelligence office or to the jury box. The average New York juryman has not got sense enough to talk in his sleep. He has a head like that of a man upon whome some doctor made some experiments. He probed the man's skull to ascertain the effects of electricity on the brain pulp. After puncturing the man's brain in seventeen different places the disgusted doctor gave up the job, saying that he could continue the experiments with better success on his wife's emory cushion.

For these reasons it occurred to me that the repeated attempts of Sheriff Davidson to jam me into the jury box amounted to an insinuation that I had recently escaped from a lunatic asylum and was going to vote the Greenback ticket in the spring.

However, at the appointed hour I was in the court-room with the other candidates. When those who had subterfuges or excuses were called on, I headed the procession to the judicial throne.

I am not sure what the judge's name was. He was an elderly, smooth-faced gentleman with aristocratic features and a kindly, yet dignified expression on his face. When he asked me what my subterfuge was, I told him that I was the editor of Texas Siftings. He glanced at me suspiciously over the top of his gold-mounted specs and asked:

"Actual editor?"

"Actual editor," I replied.

I inferred from this, that in New York everybody connected with a newspaper, including even the pressman and newsdealer, were in the habit of claiming editorial exemption.

"You are excused," said the judge finally, and once more I had escaped, as a bird, from the snares of the fowler.
—Alex. E. Sweet, in Texas Siftings.

The Good Imperishable.

Just as sure as this globe swings around the sun a man in this world makes the bed downy or thorny on which he lies in the next. Voltaires can blaspheme, Gibbonses write splendidly worded doubts and polished sarcasms, Paines and Olmsteads deny the facts which Justin Marty and others of the early fathers affirm; Spencer weave atheistic philosophy. Those will not do. The truth remains that good is imperishable, and life is and must be obedient to the eternal law of continuity.—John W. Overall, in New York Mercury.

THE GREAT PIONEER NEWSPAPER.

The proud distinction of being the oldest newspaper in the state of Michigan is enjoyed by The Detroit Free Press. Established more than fifty years ago, its career has been one of uninterrupted success.

The history of the Free Press is the history of Michigan. Published while this commonwealth was yet a territory, The Free Press was recognized as a power in the land at the time of her admission into the sisterhood of states. From that day to this the energies of the paper have always been directed to and identified with the advancement of the state's best interests; it has grown with its growth and shared in its prosperity.

It is no wonder then that The Free Press claims the right to add to the glory of being the oldest, the even more honorable title of being THE BEST paper—the best for the Merchant, Mechanic, Farmer, the best for the family, and when quantity and quality of matter is considered, beyond question THE CHEAPEST.

In the daily is published in compact readable form, in addition to its own special dispatches, all the Associated Press news, Quotations of the Produce, Stock and Money Markets, Congressional, Legislative and State News and all the news of the World, besides a splendid selection of current literary matter. The Free Press is issued every day in the year, a paper daily, is to 16 pages Sunday, and is delivered by local agents in all the cities and towns of the state that can be reached on the day of publication. The price is 15 cents a week. It is also sent by mail to any address for 60 cents a month or $7 a year.

The Weekly Free Press.

To those who for any reason cannot arrange to take the daily, is offered the Weekly edition, a double sheet paper, brim full of magazine-newspaper matter, crisp, attractive, interesting and instructive. ORIGINAL STORIES, both short and continued; TOPICS OF THE TIMES; THE HOUSEHOLD, contributed by women readers; LETTER BOX AND PUZZLES; POINTED EDITORIAL COMMENT; SPECIAL ARTICLES on thousands of subjects and a complete summary of the NEWS OF THE WEEK are among its attractions. Numbers among its regular contributors a larger number of the best known authors and writers than any other journal. Its circulation is enormous—exceeding ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND copies per week. If money, industry and enterprise can keep it so, it will continue to be regarded as one of the leading weekly newspapers of America. Price ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR.

Every family in Michigan ought to take The Free Free Press.
