FASTING THE HIGHWAY UNLAWFUL.

A few days ago a case was tried in the Circuit Court for the county of Oakland, in which the plaintiff sought public individuals to allow cattle to run at large upon the highway for the purpose of fastening, was in issue. The result of the case, defining the rights of citizens in many other localities, quite as much as in the town where the suit arose, and therefore the abstract of the case is here given for the benefit of all in like circumstances.

From the testimony it appeared that James Axell, owns a farm on section 11 in Royal Oak, and that Joseph Lange lives on section 10, Lange, for several years, pastured his horses, cattle and sheep upon the highway, and they almost daily grazed upon the highway in front of the premises of Axell, where the grass was generally more abundant than elsewhere. It was shown that Axell occasionally, break up the highway, and Axell objected to having the cattle upon the highway, and requested Axell to stop them, Lange continued to turn his cattle upon the highway as usual. Finally, Axell brought a writ of injunction to restrain Lange from doing so, and to recover damages, and to pay the costs of the suit. The case was argued by Lange to pasture upon the highway. The damage done to the highway was the occasional trespassing of the cattle, but was proved to be some fifteen dollars.

It is held in Axell v. Lange that it is unlawful to pasture cattle upon the highway, and that the owner of the highway is entitled to recover damages for the same. The case is cited in many other localities, and is a very important one.

OUPI'S VICTORY.

THE PLEASANT SOCIAL EVENT OF THE SEASON. For some time it has been rumored in the local circles that there was to be a wedding in our midst before long, and on Tuesday of this week the report was verified. On March 22, 1892, Mr. Geo. Thompson, book keeper of the firm of James E. Davis & Co., of Detroit, was married to Miss Kittle Bartlett of this place. Rev. A. R. Bartlett, father of the bride, officiating. The ceremony was performed in the M. E. church, which was densely packed with the elite of this place and many invited guests from Detroit. At about 12 o'clock the wedding party entered the church and wended its way up the long aisle to the altar. There were two bridesmaids, Miss Ellen Bartlett, twin sister of the bride, and Miss Hecker, of Detroit. The groom was dressed in black broadcloth, and wore the usual white gloves. The bride was arrayed in a neat blue silk, with dark trimming and a hat trimmed in blue silk and white flowers.

The reception was very impressive and beautiful, being delivered by Mr. Bartlett in a very solemn manner. After the marriage the party, were taken to the residence of the bride's parents, where a grand reception was held. The young couple left for Detroit on the 10:40 train where they have a comfortable and elegantly furnished house ready to receive them. We join their hosts of friends both in this place and elsewhere, in wishing them a long and prosperous voyage over life's tempestuous ocean.

It looks as if March intends to hold her own. A pleasant surprise is in anticipation at the Orchard Lake Hotel. One Wednesday night recently, at midnight, a double team and wagon containing a party of six persons, double yarded gate nearly demolishing it in an adjoining yard were seen one of the wretched ones described; it being a heavy car, and a long one, seemed to back off and walk slowly on. No sound of human voice was heard. In the darkness of the night all the party were in a state of alarm, and the driver, who was apparently, utterly dead-drunk.
