The Plain Truth

Is that Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured thousands of people who suffered severely with rheumatism. It neutralizes the lactic acid in the blood, which causes these terrible pains and aches, and also vitalizes and purifies the blood, thus preventing the recurrence of the disease. These facts warrant us in urging you, if you suffer with rheumatism, to give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial.

"I had rheumatism so that when I sat or laid down I could hardly get up. Hood's Sarsaparilla has almost cured me." E. Cannon, Galion, O.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

The Phonograph Between Lovers.

Lovers will soon carry on correspondence by phonograph, which, with a gross of wax cylinders and little boxes for mailing them, will become a conventional but useful accompaniment to the engagement ring. "My darling," (then written,) "am cold, does not adequately express the fever's fervor. But when reproduced with the phonograph's mathematical exactness, there should be very passionate words, or at any rate, an index of the warmth of the speaker's passion.—Worcester Spy.

Marriages of the Prince of Wales.

Five hundred years have elapsed since England beheld the first marriage of a prince of Wales. Indeed, there only been four marriages in England, and one abroad. The preliminaries of marriage have often been made, but these were in such cases carried out after the prince's accession to the throne.—Liverpool Mercury.

When women vote it is to be hoped that they won't be allowed to bet bonnets on the election. "Otherwise their husbands would certainly be ruined when the time to pay up came.

It is said that when a girl gets to be thirty-five she is fond of being called Daisy if that happens to be her first name. At sixteen she insists on being called Miss Smith.

"I am weary of living," moaned poor Mrs. Hiach,
"For I'm daily worn out with the ache in my back;
My nerves are a chain
Of weakness and pain,
And my poor head is aching as if it would crack."

"Now, don't be discouraged," cried good Mrs. Withe.
"It is never so dark but there's promise of light;
I can tell you, in brief,
What will give you relief
Pierce's Favorite Prescription will soon set you right."

It is the only remedy for woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case or money will be refunded. See guarantee on bottle wrapper. Large bottles (100 doses) $1. Six for $5.

"Let's coalesce, and have less coal," said the coal trust.

Can a Man Swallow a Cannon-Ball?

Well, "that depends. He can if his throat is large enough and the cannon-ball not too large. The question really seems worthy of some consideration in view of the size of some of the pills that are prescribed for suffering humanity. Why not throw them to the dogs, and take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets? Small, sugar coated, purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, in grains, and always fresh.

A man is known by the condition of the sidewalks he keeps.

Don't You Know

that you cannot afford to neglect that catarrh? Don't you know that it may lead to consumption, to insanity, to death? Don't you know that it can be easily cured? Don't you know that while the thousand and one nostrums you have tried have all utterly failed that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is a certain cure? It has stood the test of years, and there are hundreds of thousands of grateful men and women in all parts of the country who can testify to its efficacy. Druggists.

There promises to be a great deal of back talk in the politics of 1896.

Some Foolish People

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away." Yes, it will, and it wears them away. Could they be induced to try the successful medicine, Kemp's Balsam, which is sold on a positive guarantee to cure, they would immediately see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial size free At all druggists.

An enamelled vase found on some labor ers near Oil City, and the verdict of the jury was: "Died of gravel."

Dropsy.

We call the attention of those suffering with dropsy to the fair proposition of Dr. H. H. Green & Sons in their advertisement on this page. Try them; it costs you nothing to do so

If there is anything in a name, Sioux City should be good place for lung trouble.

If the Sufferers from Consumption, Scrofula and General Debility, will try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, they will find immediate relief and a permanent benefit. Dr. H. V. Stott, Elmwood, Cal., writes: "I have used Scott's Emulsion with great advantage in cases of Pulmonary Consumption and Wasting Diseases. It is very palatable.

A pretty girl don't object to reflections on herself when they come from a looking glass.

"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are excellent for the relief of Hoarseness or Sore Throat. They are exceedingly effective. —Christian World, London, England.

The manufacturers of perforated chair seats have combined. The object can be seen through.

The fourth marriage anniversary is now spoken of as the clover wedding. The term is probably the suggestion of some grass widower.

The old question—where shall I get my seed this year—presents itself again to thousands of our readers at this season of the year. If you will turn to our advertising columns and read the announcement of John A. Salzer, La Crosse, Wis., who makes a specialty of Northern Grown Seeds, Trees and Plants, you will find it full of life, and will increase every yield.

There are a good many cabinet makers but the only mechanical work they can do is the boring.

Burns and Scalds are instantly rendered painless and invariably cured without a scar, by the use of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the skin remedy. 25 and 50 cents, at druggists or by mail. Cole & Co., Black River Falls, Wis.

Corn is a raise and a dance is a maze, which is pretty conclusive proof that there is a bond between dancing and corns.

A Radical Cure for Epileptic Fits.

To THE EDITOR—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease which I warrant to cure the worst cases. So strong is my faith in the virtues of this medicine that I will send free a sample bottle and valuable treatise to any sufferer who will send me his P. O. and Express address. My remedy has cured thousands of hopeless cases. H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., New York.

With a view, possibly, to overshadowing recent Whitechapel horrors, Mrs. Langtry will attempt to play "Lady Macbeth."

Hood's Thief

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions, and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

West & Truax, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Walding, Kinnan & Marvin, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

E. H. Van Hoosen, Cashier Toledo National Bank, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

FOR ALL THAT.

FLORENCE A. JONES.

Poor fellow—It is a dull home for him.
I wonder if he has been fortunate enough to get his story taken?"
"If you please, sir," exclaimed a middle-aged woman, suddenly entering the room, "hadn't I better bring up your supper?
There it is, all a-getin' spoilt; you can keep a-sitter's off for 'im in the hoven.
Do 'ave a little 'mouthful of somethin', sheer's a-dear! Hadn't ought for you in' so ong without nothink."
"No, thank you, Lil-a-beth," replied
Mr. Atwood, smiling. "It's kind of you to think of me; but really I am not in the least hungry. I would far sooner wait until your master comes home. I'm won't be long now."
"Very well, 'im!" remarked Eli-a-beth aloud. Then she added in her heart, "I went back to the kitchen, "Drat 'im and 'is ways, that's wot I say! Always a-carrin' on with 'im! Always a-sittin' up for friends, and'er a-starvin of 'erself and workin' of 'er finger-ends off to keep them bless-ed babies! It's a shame, that's wot is and for two pins I'd up and tell 'im
so! But no; 'e'd give me my month. I suppose and 'ere I 'ave a-'ad 'im a-sittin' since swaddlin'-clothes, and 'er cherubs is wot
'Lizbuth 'Awk-ins could n-ever bring 'er
'arm to face."

And Elizabeth Hawkins, having thus far relieved her mind, sat down with her feet upon the kitchen fender and had a good cry.

When she had given full way to her emotions she got up and walked into the scullery, and having bathed her face so crely with the wet corner of a rough towel, she began to feel herself a-nin.

"Now I feel better 'im a-sittin' up,"
"There ain't no thing in this world, to my
in nd, as does one more good when feelin'
low and upset than a cry. Leastways let her see a sign of it on me—not me—bess-ee 'eart no! She's plenty to try 'er without that! Wot with 'im a-sittin' up a-speculin' of 'er, A lamb, that's what
she is—a blessed lamb but for im—im,
'im! Wot 'ave I 'ad to do with 'im, I there e comes up the garden path, with his 'andsome face and his 'eardless inside,
just as bold as brass, and 'ow-ever late night—'ansom cabs and 'er a-sittin' of
'er self of the worry for 'im, eats and drinks and 'ad 'er 'ead high in 'er 'eart! I believe Yes, sir; supper's quite ready, sir; I'll bring it up in a minute, sir.

Elizabeth Hawkins was in response to a mandy voice shouting down the stairs
to him to inform her there was anything to eat
in the house.

It was characteristic of George Atwood
that his first thoughts upon his return home were not for his wife who had spent the day in slavish toil for his comfort and comfort, nor for his children, as whether or they were well or ailing.

Mrs. Atwood had married Blanche has got it to eat." was the sole idea that occurred to him as he opened the front door
and found the table in the dining-room set for one. Blanche had not anything to eat herself all day was not likely to trouble
him much.

Mrs. Atwood had not heard him come in but, when he called out from the top of the stairs to Eli-abeth, she sprang quickly without any low prefatory cry upon her face, and hurried out towards come him.

"Dear George," she cried, "how tired and hungry you must be! I'm so sorry for you!" Blanche has had