IS A CLERGYMAN SUBJECT TO THE ALIEN LABOR LAW?

The Events of a Week in Our Own State.

A Unique Case.

SAULT STE. MARIE, June 3.—Rev. Mr. Green, pastor of the Ecclesia Episcopal church, will probably be tried under the alien contract labor law. He was a pastor at the Cass lake Indian church, and while serving there was contracted with to supply the Escanaba pulpit. He claims that he was ignorant of the law, but that will not probably satisfy District Attorney L. D. Palmer of Grand Rapids, who is investigating the matter. There is no doubt that Mr. Green was unconscious of any law-breaking, but whether the court will take cognizance of this fact is another question. The local business men are not quite anxious as it was, many of their clerks are Canadian people, the alien contract law makes it prohibitive to hire or import help, hard to send from the United States to any foreign country for help of any kind, with out going through a prescribed method, and pay a certain sum for the privilege. The penalties are graded so as the same as for smuggling and may be made very severe. If the violation of the law is held to be a fine of $1,000 may be imposed. In all it see the persons brought in engaged to assist Rev. Mr. Green of the Episcopal preacher will be unique.
