THE NEWS OF TWO PENINSULAS IN CONDENSED FORM.

Judge Morse Sends Over, Winans His Resignation From the Supreme Bench —Wyandotte Pastor in Trouble.

Judge Morse Resigns.

The letter from the office of Chief Justice Morse, which has been received by Governor Winans is as follows:

Hon. Cyrus G. Luce, Lansing, Mich.:
Dear Sir: I herewith tender my resignation of the office of justice of the supreme court to take effect July 5, 1892. I intended when I accepted the nomination for governor on the Democratic ticket to resign my judgeship several days and so announced, but, upon consultation with my associates upon the bench, I am satisfied that the business will be expedited by my remaining in office until after the first day of the next term.

Very respectfully,
ALGAR B. MORSE.

Governor Winans says that this means an election this fall, as the resignation has been tendered 60 days previous to the next general election, although it does not take effect within that time. His appointee will continue in office until the person then elected qualifies, which will doubtless be Jan. 1. The governor still maintains a discreet silence as to who the appointee will be.

A HARD HEARTED PASTOR.

Would Not Administer the Last Rites to a Dying Parishioner.

Rev. Mr. Berenthal, pastor of the German Lutheran church at Wyandotte has stirred up a row which will only end in his retirement. One of his flock became very sick and was bedridden and sent for the minister to confess him in his last hours. Lahman belonged to the Arbeiter and A. O. U. W. societies, and held $2,500 insurance in them. The preacher refused to have anything to do with the dying man unless he would withdraw from the lodges. Lahman refused to cheat his family out of $2,500, and Rev. Mr. Friar of Taylor Center was called and responded. Lahman died and was buried, Rev. Sharr conducting the services. Members of the lodges in question attended in force. They are largely attached to Berenthal's church, but will hereafter refuse to attend services there or contribute to his support.

It was a Cruel Hoax.

The report that the famous yacht Wapiti had been wrecked in Georgian Bay and a large party, including H. W. Sibley, the well known Detroit millionaire, drowned, proves to be a cruel canard. In reply to a dispatch sent to Collingwood, Ont., Isaac Bearinger, of Saginaw, owner of the yacht and partner of Mr. Sibley in his lumbering operations received the following:

"Your yacht is safely in harbor here. Mr. Sibley and party are going to Montreal for a side trip. All are well and enjoying the trip."

Captain Eldridge of the yacht Wapiti at Collingwood, says that Shomin, the cook of the boat was drugged by him for drunkenness and sent out the report of the yacht's loss out of revenge. Steps have been taken to prosecute Shomin.

Pioneers' Bones for Ballast.

No little excitement was occasioned in Branch county by the discovery that a large tract of land just purchased within the city limits of Coldwater by the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railroad, to be used as a gravel-pit, contains the old Masonville graveyard in which repose the bones of over 100 pioneers of the city and vicinity. Many of their descendants are still living there. The disposal of the remains of Branch county pioneers being used for railroad ballast is, to say the least, unpleasant.

Gored to Death by a Bull.

Reuben Pyne, one of the oldest residents of the section about Manton, has been gored to death by a furious bull. He had just bought a herd of cattle and was taking them home, when the animal made a lunge at him. He was pitched into the ditches at the side of the road. The bull followed and inflicted frightful wounds, piercing the man with his horns. People who heard his cries found him dying. The bull was still anxious for fight, but was shot before anyone else was hurt.

Young Pirates Steal a Schooner.

Two young pirates attempted to sail off with a fishing schooner from Manistique and were only caught after a hard race with the tug Crosby. They had previously stolen a compass, an assortment of clothes and expected to do business under a black flag, like their yellow covered books said men often do. These authorities were given to the waters when they found that capture was inevitable. They were taken before justice Pierce and bound over to the circuit court.

The New Highway Commission.

William L. Webber, of Saginaw, Reuben Goodrich, of Traverse City, and James H. Brunson, of Kalamazoo, have been appointed by Gov. Winans members of the commission authorized at the recent extra session of the legislature to investigate and report at the next legislature a scheme looking to the improvement of the highways of the state, and also to report as to the practicability of using convict labor in connection with such improvement.

The 90 saloons at Escanaba pay yearly $30,000 into the city treasury.

Forest fires are destroying timber in Windsor and Berne townships in Huron county.

The fund for the improvement of the lake front at Muskegon has reached the sum of $106,000.

Charles Elder, of Mt. Morris, is out a barn, his season's crop of grain and two horses—fire.

Moses Jay, at Medina, has a fine fish pond, but no fish. Thieves cleared it with nets a few nights ago.

Capitalists are planning to connect Coldwater and Union City by a motor line. They are 12 miles apart.

The Marquette prison map be made into an insane asylum. The next legislature will consider the proposition.

A feature of Jacksonville labor day parade will be the young lady cadets, 18 misses carrying Greenhalging rifles.

A LIVELY BLAZE.

Over $100,000 Worth of Lumber Burns Near Petoskey.

The saw mill, fire kilns and lumber yards of the Northern Michigan lumber company, at Oden, seven miles north of Petoskey, are in ashes. The fire caught in the dry kilns and rapidly spread to the lumber yards and remainder of the plant. There were 100 feet of hardwood lumber in the yards. The loss was complete and is not less than $100,000 with small insurance. Three hundred men are thrown out of employment. The plant is not likely to be rebuilt. The principal stockholders are Mr. H. H. Hopkins, of Saginaw, Mr. G. D. Crouse, W. J. Wabuchank, of Manistee, and S. B. Lamereaux, of Petoskey, formerly of Chicago.

Pig Iron Industry is Dead.

The Excelsior furnace at Ishpeming has gone out of blast, leaving the furnaces 75 men out of employment. The capacity of the Excelsior was 40 tons of charcoal pig iron per day. This furnace is the last of the five Marquette county furnaces to cease operations for the first time since 1865. Not a point of pig iron is being made in that county. The furnaces have closed down indefinitely and it is doubtful if they will resume until the iron industry becomes brighter.

Sought Surcease of Her Sorrow.

Frankie Morrison, aged 20 days in the Saginaw city jail for drunkenness, attempted to commit suicide by hanging herself to an iron bed by means of a piece of ribbon. Chief Kain heard her and by prompt action released her with some difficulty. She was brought to her senses, and it is now thought she will recover.

Young Webb is supposed to belong to an organized gang, two alleged members of which have been arrested and others will also be cared for by the sheriff.

No Place in Ireland.

M. D. Slaughter, William Lyman, O'Neil Ryan and Capt. George Sweeney, the peace commissioners sent to Ireland by the Irish National League of America to try to get the land warring factions of the Irish parliamentary party, have returned. According to their statement they wrote to Messrs. Redmond and Harrington of the Parnellite faction and Messrs. McCarthy, Davitt, Healey, Sexton, Dillon and others of the McCarthy wing of the party, proposing that each faction appoint a committee to confer with the commissioners. Mr. Redmond wrote on behalf of the Parnellites that they had appointed a conference committee, but the McCarthyites refused to name a similar committee. For this reason the conference could not be held and the commissioners were not able to do anything to unite the factions.

AROUND THE COUNTRY.

INTERESTING INCIDENTS TAKEN FROM THE WIRES.

The Order of the Iron Hall Week and the Head Man Skips.—De Fonseca, of Brazil, is Dead.

The Iron Hall Wreck.

Judge Taylor of the superior court at Indianapolis, Ind., appointed James F. Fally, a prominent capitalist of this city, receiver of the Order of the Iron Hall. His bond was fixed at $1,000,000 and he will have no trouble securing bondsmen. The trial court rather astonishing. The counsel for the defense wanted to argue the case, but Judge Taylor informed them that no amount of argument could convince him that a receiver was not necessary for the order. In all his twenty-five years experience in the practice of law he says he never heard of an institution where business affairs were so loosely taken care of. The receiver will assumed charge at once.

Supreme Justice Somerby disappeared from Indianapolis soon after the receiver for the Iron Hall was appointed and has not been seen since. It is believed he took a departure for a suburb, where he boarded a train for a destination unknown to interested persons.

Somerby undoubtedly feared arrest and prosecution for misappropriating the funds of the Iron Hall. That was the reason he could possibly have had for leaving the city in so mysterious a manner. Arrest had been threatened, and Somerby hearing of the threats evidently did not feel like running the risk of remaining with the prisoner behind him in the face. The plaintiffs in the late suit had refused to institute criminal proceedings against him, it is possible Davis and Walker would have done it. They are very sore at Mr. Somerby. Davis claiming he has done everything in his power to blacken the hitherto untarnished character and reputation of his lieutenant.

Somerby's sorrel nag, Dan Patch, taken away from the Iron Hall lodge there. He wanted to badly.

GERTIE CARMO KILLED.

The Daring Lady Balloonist Killed in the Detroit Exposition.

Gertie Carmo, the petite blonde who has won fame as the most daring female aeronaut of the country, will make her last ascension.

The Detroit Exposition management had contracted with her to make ascensions during the week of the fair for suitable days. The first day an attempt was made, but proved a failure; the second day was too windy on the ground to have ventured upon the trip up, let the consequences be what they would. The afternoon was disclosed a fine, soggy, mild day for hours. At 6:30 the intrepid little woman gave orders to inflate the vast canvas bag and she prepared for the dangerous journey.

It was cloudy and dark, everything seemed dismal and gloomy and the wind blew hard as the crowd of 5,000 gathered around the balloon during the preliminaries. Miss Carmo stepped from her dressing in a suit made after the fashion of a bathing costume, with black tights underneath. The chief policeman on the grounds tried to dissuade her from the foolhardy attempt, but her mind was made up and she would risk her life preserver was strapped about her waist to aid her in case she fell into the lake. The bag was finally filled with hot air was tugging and straining at its ropes when Miss Carmo gave the command to "let it go."

With a bound the thing went up and in an instant was caught by a strong wind.

The balloon was whirled away over the tall building with great ease. The crowd saw the danger, for the wind blew directly toward the lake and the high central tower of the main building with frightful force. Then the crash came and it seemed that she would be dashed to pieces, but with great tenacity she clung to the trapeze bar and the great link of inflated air was rose again, but an instant later its passenger was seen to loose her grasp and fall upon the green grass plot in front of the building. It was a drop of fully 300 feet.

The spectators could scarcely realize what had happened as the whole occurrence occupied no more than a minute, but the crowd soon gathered around the poor form. Blood was flowing from her nostrils. After a few gasps her spirit fled and the lifeless body lay in a pool of blood. The once glorious young lady was conveyed to the hospital near by. The skull was fractured, both ankles broken, the right thigh broken besides other injuries.

Gertie Carmo, or more properly Gertie Cassmann was a native of Germany, aged 22 years. She had been all her time of daring work for about five years. Her home was in Detroit with a mother living. Her father was the author of poor Jack Hogan who was killed at the same grounds last year, when she won a reputation for her great daring.

CAN CURE CHOLERA

A New York Physician in Paris Claims to Have a Sure Remedy.

Medical men in New York city are greatly interested in a new treatment of cholera discovered at the Pasteur Institute in Paris, and in case the epidemic continues to spread the efficacy of the treatment will be promptly and thoroughly tested by New York experts. Of this treatment, which is analogous to that employed by Pasteur in smallpox and by Pasteur in hydrophobia, Dr. Haffkine, who has been working at the Pasteur institute for some years, claims to be the discoverer. He is confident that the inoculatory method will do for cholera what it has already done for smallpox and hydrophobia. He has used cholera virus upon several animals with the result that some time after they died, while other animals subjected to the virus and not inoculated died.

Dr. Haffkine has injected into himself some attenuated virus of cholera and noted that the resultant symptoms were slight, consisting of the loss of nature, pains in the head, dryness in the mouth and a swelling of the skin and ganglia at the spot where the inoculation took place. There was no evidently intestinal derangement and the normal condition of health was reached within 48 hours. He next experimented upon himself with active virus with the same results, and he concluded that the virus of cholera could be made upon human being with perfect safety, and, with the assurance that six days after the vaccination the patient would be proof against all attacks of cholera. The process is very simple.

Vaccine is injected into each animal twice, after which it is pronounced cholera proof.

An Infidel's Death.

During a thunder storm at Denver, Gottlieb Myers, an infidel, stood on a street corner, with several friends commenting upon the electric currents. Looking skyward he exclaimed, "There is no God. This fear is all folly."
