KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embodied in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting for the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in fifty cent bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute offered.

"August Flower"

"From Post Master here and keep a Store. I have kept August Flower for sale for some time. I think it is a splendid medicine." R. A. Bond, P. M., Pavilion Centre, N.Y.

The stomach is the reservoir. If it fails, everything fails. The liver, the kidneys, the lungs, the heart, the head, the blood, the nerves all go wrong. If you feel wrong look to the stomach first. Put that right at once by using August Flower. It secures a good appetite and a good digestion.

CATARRH IN CHILDREN

For over two years my little girl's life was made miserable by a case of Catarrh. The discharge from her nose was large, constant and very offensive. Her breath became infamed, the lids swollen and very painful. After trying various remedies, I gave her S.S.S. which cured her. It seemed to aggravate the disease, but the symptoms soon abated, and in a short time she was cured.

Weak Digestion

strange as it may seem, is caused from a lack of fat, of which it is never exactly digested—fat. The greatest fact in connection with appears at this point—it is partly digested, and the most weakened digestion is quickly strengthened by it.

Scott's Emulsion

The only possible help in Consumption is the arrest of waste and renewal of new, healthy tissue. Scott's Emulsion has done wonders in Consumption just this way.

REAPING.

How life I forget the good
Year so rich in joy and mirth
And dwell upon the thistles grief
You strewed upon my path!

How is it forgot how kind
You were for years and years,
And only think how cruel the last,
You gave me shame and tears?

How is it I forget the faith
Was mine—my every one,
And murmur to my sleepless grief
That it was yours alone?

This is my punishment. Love's rose
Has fallen by the way
Pin in the thorns, and with remains,
My heart bleeds night and day.

CHAPTER II.—CONTINUED.

It is said that millions of cockroaches are actually robbed and sold under other names.

The fruit crop of this country mostly dropped at home is valued at $100,000,000 a year.

It was then Lucy Chauncey was 16 years old, a slender, graceful girl, very pretty, and with a face that was a mirror of her soul. Her eyes were large and of a deep blue, her hair was a dark brown, her mouth was sweet and her chin was dimpled. Her voice was low and musical, and her laugh was like the tinkling of a silver bell. Her father was a man of wealth, and she was his only child. Her mother was a woman of the world, who had married her for her money, and who had lived with her husband for years in the most bitter hatred, and who had left him to live in Paris, where she was the center of a circle of men who were as fast as she was herself. Her father was a man who had been a soldier in the war, and who had come home with a shattered constitution and a pension, and who had married Lucy's mother in the belief that she was a woman who would make him a good wife and who would be a good mother to his child. He was a man who had been a student in his youth, and who had read much and had thought much, and who had come to the conclusion that the world was not worth living in, and that the best he could do was to live his life as quietly as possible, and let others live theirs as they pleased. He was a man who had been a Democrat all his life, and who had voted the Democratic ticket at every election, but who was a Democrat in name only, and who was in his heart a Republican, and who had voted the Republican ticket in secret for years. He was a man who had married a woman he had loved with all his heart, and who had found that he had married a woman who was a fiend incarnate, and who had lived with her for years in the hope that she would die, and who had lived with her because he was too honest to kill himself or to run away from her, and who had lived with her because he was too honest to do anything else, and who had lived with her because he was too honest to live with any other woman, and who had lived with her because he was too honest to live without the woman he had married, and who had lived with her because he was too honest to do anything but live with her, and who had lived with her because he was too honest to live without her, and who had lived with her because he was too honest to live without the woman he had married, and who had lived with her because he was too honest to live without the woman he had married, and who had lived with her because he was too honest to live without the woman he had married
