Keep Yourself Fit

You can't afford to be laid up with sore, aching kidneys in these days of high prices. Some occupations bring kidney troubles; almost any work makes weak kidneys worse. If you feel tired all the time, and suffer with lame back, sharp pains, dizzy spells, headaches and disordered kidney action, use Doan's Kidney Pills. It may save an attack of rheumatism, dropsy, or Bright's disease. Doan's have helped thousands back to health.

A Michigan Case

Sam Willsie, stationary engineer, 495 Pleasant St., Ionia, Mich., says: "I suffered four or five years from sharp pains across my kidneys and right side. Nothing did me any good until I took Doan's Kidney Pills. They cleared up the kidney secretions; the pain left and I passed a gravel stone. When ever I have felt in need of a kidney medicine since, Doan's Kidney Pills have always proven beneficial."

LENROOT VICTOR IN WISCONSIN RACE

BERGER, SOCIALIST CANDIDATE, BADLY BEATEN, DAVIES RUNS CLOSE SECOND.

VOTING IN MICHIGAN LIGHT

Hardly Half of Normal Vote Is Cast Throughout State in Towns Where Elections Were Held.

Milwaukee, Wis.—On the face of newspaper returns to Wednesday morning, Congressman Irvine L. Lenroot, Republican, Tuesday was elected to the United States senate by a plurality of approximately 20,000 over Joseph E. Davies, Democrat, and choice of President Wilson for the office.

On the basis of Republican and Democratic assertion the disloyal vote would go to Victor L. Berger, the Socialist candidate, now under indictment for alleged seditious utterances, Wisconsin has voted herself loyal by three or four to one.

One thing returns proved without question and that was the Socialists, supporting Victor L. Berger, who run on a platform calling for the immediate abandonment of the war had made decided gains over previous elections.

It is possible the votes of Wisconsin citizens in the army now quartered in the middle west cantonments may have a bearing on the result. The soldier votes were sealed and forwarded to Madison where they were to be counted.

The Socialist hope that the primary vote cast for Thompson, the La Follette candidate, would swing en masse to Berger is not borne out by returns from the state outside of this city.

Light Voting in Michigan.

Lansing—Light viting in all places in Michigan where elections were held Monday was revealed by the returns Tuesday. In some places hardly half of a normal vote was cast, as in Kalamazoo and Lansing, despite bitter local contests.

Lansing defeated the commission manager plan and re-elected Mrs. Ella Alldinger to the school board. She is a militant suffragist and one of the White House picketers.

Kalamazoo held its first election under the proportional representation system, and elected three Socialists and four Municipal Voters league candidates to its city commission.

Battle Creek decisively defeated the labor ticket whose victory would have given the unions control of the city government.

Shiawassee county voters again defeated a proposition to repay to the Citizens' Savings bank a $20,000 loan borrowed years ago for the construction of the courthouse at Corrunna.

Three Rivers voted for the commission form of government.

Ann Arbor approved a $200,000 bond issue to improve the city water supply on the Steere farm, four miles south of town.

In Manistee William Pherson was elected commissioner by 184 over Charles E. Hoffman, who was supported by anti-administration and alleged pro-German elements.

HURLEY DEMANDS ACCOUNTING

Wires Shipbuilders to Explain Delay in Production.

Washington—American shipbuilders have been called on to explain why their output for March fell behind schedule, Chairman Hurley, of the shipping board, and General Manager Piez, of the Emergency Fleet corporation, telegraphed managements in all the yards in the United States saying they were "keenly disappointed" in the tonnage delivered and placing responsibility of turning out ships squarely on the men in control of actual building operations.

"Keynote of present situation is management—leadership," the telegram said. "Money, material and men have been supplied without stint by the nation. The American people want ships, not excuses."

Suggestions were requested and the officials said they wanted to know if the fault lay with the Emergency Fleet corporation.

"Please don't over-estimate," the telegram urged after asking for prospects during April.

It was said the March estimate of 197,075 tons had been made on the promises of shipbuilders, who delivered only 166,700 tons.

SPIES BURN WALDRON MILL

Hillsdale County Town Threatened By Fire Stared By Incendiaries.

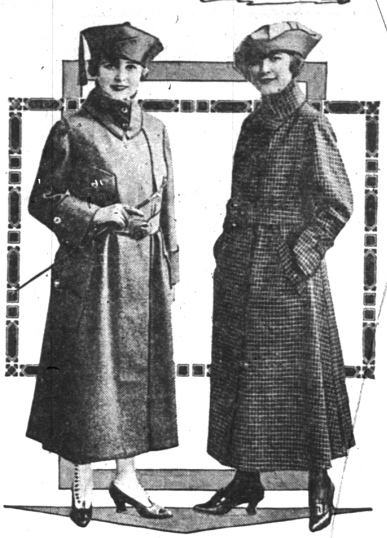
Adrian, Mich.—Fire which early Monday destroyed $25,000 in property and threatened the village of Waldron, Hillsdale county, is believed to have been caused by incendiaries.

The Avis Milling company's building, which burned, contained 800 bushels of wheat, 75 barrels of flour, was to have been shipped Monday to fill a federal order. Several other buildings also burned.

France Calls Class of 1919.

Paris—Soldiers of the class of 1919 are to be called to the colors at an early date which is to be fixed by the ministry of war. This was decided on by a vote of the chamber of deputies. It is known the ministry of war has decreed the recruits shall report April 15. The chamber voted 490 to 7 in favor of a law demanding that the date of the calling of the class be advanced. M. Raffin-Dugens, Socialist, in opposing the bill, violently attacked the war policy of the government.

What Well Dressed Women Will Wear



FOR MOTOR AND GENERAL WEAR

Coats for general wear—it almost goes without saying—should be weatherproof; but weatherproof garments have to be that and much more to meet the approval of the sophisticated woman of today. She requires crisp style and substantial quality in them and cheerful colors.

Two rainproof coats that declare themselves ready to meet the most critical eye are pictured above. The only departure they make from the rules that govern in the season's coat styles, appear in the matter of length. Nearly all coats are several inches shorter than the frock worn under them, but the rainproof coat is privileged to be an inch or so longer.

The coat at the left is a smart example of the military style and nothing will be quite so appropriate for a coat for all weathers. It has big patch pockets on body and skirt, a convertable collar and narrow, loose belt of the fabric. It fastens with a fly, to the left of the front and is equal to protecting the gown under it perfectly. It is of a fabric resembling covert cloth, in every way to be recommended.

The story of the coat at the right is told so completely in the picture that there is almost nothing to say about it. It also is made in double-breasted style fastening to the left with bone buttons and is a good style for any of the usual waterproofed wool materials like serge, twill, covert cloth, etc. To add to our comfort milliners have added rainproof materials to their stocks and even the most fragile fabrics are made impervious to moisture. But to wear with rainproof coats, small tailored hats made of millinery patent leather or of satin or lacquered braids look their capable part. A satin hat with silk cord and tassel is shown with the military coat in the picture and in style and utility they are two of a kind.

There are sweaters—and sweaters. In greater variety of design and texture and color than ever before and in almost universal demand. Silk, fiber silk and wool are the yarns used for the handsome machine-knitted garments that manufacturers make so nearly like hand-knitted ones that it is not always easy to distinguish between them. There is more provision in the machine-knitted sweaters, all the stitches exactly alike, but many of them are finished with hand knitting.

Leaving out the sweaters and sweater coats of silk and silk fiber which are worn with sport skirts or otherwise, that are an essential of the smart woman's wardrobe, there are many styles in the very practical sweaters for real sports wear. Two of these are shown in the illustration—one for the "flapper"—at the right and one for the grownup. These are both of wool, closely knitted and are classed as fitted slip-overs. The sweater for the little girl has collar and cuffs of angora wool and is a good general utility model, while the other proclaims itself an ideal garment for all sorts of sports.

A very clever model in a loosely knitted, heavy coat sweater, designed to provide warmth when it is needed, has a small square cape collar that may be turned up over the head and buttoned so that it forms a hood. It also buttons up close about the throat and has two comfortable-looking pockets. The sports woman who has it among her belongings will be fortified against any weather emergency.

The loosely fitting, sleeveless, silk slip-over is coming in for much consideration as a novelty for midsummer wear. It is shown in vivid tones of green, in rose and in blue shades. It is not so altogether practical as the regulation sweater coat, buttoned at the front and provided with sleeves, but it is amazingly smart. Among the sweater coats there are loosely knit models with plaited skirts and knitted sashes, finished with fringe that are very handsome for mature women.

One and Two-Piece Pajamas.

Nowodays the question seems to be not whether one wears pajamas at night, but whether one wears the one-piece or two-piece variety. The pajama is necessitated by the harem negligee, which must needs slip on over a bifurcated garment. The two-piece pajama is more mannish, to be sure, but the absence of strings about the waist makes the one-piece more comfortable. Really there is nothing very mannish about any sort of pajamas of the version in which they are now worn by feminine kind. V-neck, short sleeves, bright color, dainty pockets and ruffles about the ankles and sometimes about the waist rob them of severity.

For Quick Ironing.

Sprinkle clothes lightly, wrap in Turkish towel and place on top of hot radiator, the heat from which will cause the moistened clothes to steam and prevents wrinkling. In 15 minutes clothes will be ready and usually easy to iron.

YOUR LOYALTY TO COUNTRY'S CAUSE

ARE YOU MAKING SACRIFICES EQUIVALENT TO THOSE OF OUR SOLDIERS?

ALL CAN FIND WAY TO HELP

Make No Ridiculous Reservations; Hold Back Nothing; Share Your Money, Your Food and Your Clothing to Aid the Great War.

(By VIRGINIA TERHUNE VAN DE WATER of the Vigilantes.)

A good woman was discussing the rules of the food administration.

"I am doing a lot for my country," she said, "but there are certain trifles that I do not intend to give up. Such as white bread and bacon."

"No," she said in response to my astonished look, "I mean to have white bread when I want it. Why should I eat corn bread and other substitutes? I like white bread just as much as the soldiers and sailors do. And, anyway, what difference can it make if I use a little white flour and a few slices of bacon every day? I am only one person."

Only one of millions! Suppose they all took that attitude!

"I am no slacker," she added. "I work at the Red Cross four afternoons of each week, and I have made dozens of knitted things for the soldiers. But I draw the line at bacon and white bread and rolls."

Is this patriotism? I remembered the text: "These things ought ye to have done, and not to have left the other undone."

Another good woman was talking of the next Liberty Loan drive.

"Well," she declared, "they need not come to me for help! I am a business woman, and I have lost money on heatless Mondays, and since the government has made me do that I do not propose to help with their Liberty loan. I love my country, and I am a Red Cross worker, and all that—but there is a limit."

Should Be No Limit.

A limit! Is there any limit to what she would do if her nearest and dearest were fighting for his life? Would she stop to argue that she had given the suffered expensive woolen underwear, but that she drew the line at the renunciation of certain comforts so that he might have them? Would she be considered a good wife or mother or daughter if she held this attitude towards husband, child or parent?

Let us stop all these ridiculous reservations, these talks of what we will do and won't do. Let us hold back nothing. Do the women who are sending their sons abroad hold back anything? Do these sons grudge risking their beautiful youth, their lives, for their country? Yet some people hesitate at white bread and bacon, and refuse to buy Liberty bonds!

The last-named hesitation is not only unpatriotic, but it is absurd. Later we will know the meaning of the expression, "What I give I have." The money we invest in Liberty bonds will be ours when other money that we now have is gone.

All such talk as I have quoted is wickedly unpatriotic. Let us give as our sons give—ungrudgingly, proudly, because we are counted worthy to make sacrifices for the greatest crusade against evil that the world has ever known.

Make It An Honorable Service.

What would the Son of Righteousness say to our hesitation about trifling luxuries? He died for his cause. We women are not called upon to do that. (Some of us may wish that we were.) But we are called to sacrifice our selfishness for it.

I am not making light of the wonderful work done by those women who toil at Red Cross stations; I am not forgetting the noble and vast army of wives, mothers, sisters and sweethearts who stop at nothing in their desire to help end the war honorably.

But I hope that such sentences as I have quoted go no further than the tip of the tongue. If they do, shame to the speakers. And shame to us who let such speech pass unreproved.

"His very living—such was Christ's giving."

We women "have not yet resisted unto blood." But some of our men have; and—God help us!—many more may have to. Can we then endure the ignominy of remembering that even in our inner hearts we have paused to consider what delicacies we may use? Shall we not—in the language of our dear fighting boys—"cut out" all doubtful articles? And let us make of the trifling duty an honorable service. The cause ennobles all that it touches.

True Respectability.

Having the courage to live within one's means is respectability.

Build Character Firmly.

The character which you are constructing is not your own. It is the building material out of which other generations will quarry stones for the temple of life. See to it, therefore, that it be granite and not shale.

Win the War by Preparing the Land

Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops

Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Wherever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than April 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.
