GOOD ROADS

ROADS PAY FOR THEMSELVES

Hard-Surfaced Highways Effect Big Saving in Maintenance and Gasoline Costs.

Tests made in many states to determine the actual cost of paved roads have shown that hard-surfaced highways effect such big savings in maintenance and gasoline costs that they pay for themselves in from 10 to 15 years.

The estimates were reached only after careful checking of first cost as against traffic, comparative maintenance on other type roads, and exact experiments of the resistance on different road surfaces to motor vehicles from which the saving in gasoline is evolved.

Improved Roads Save Gasoline Bills.

Fred R. White, chief engineer of the Iowa state highway commission, in a statement issued recently said: "Highway traffic has outgrown the road. This is not the fault of the county engineer, supervisor or highway commission. It will do no good to fire the engineer, supervisors or highway commission. New men will be just as ignorant and still have the same problems to solve.

"Iowa, in highway matters, is in the position of the boy who has outgrown his clothes. It isn't his fault. It will do no good to scold or abuse him. The remedy is to get him a new and larger suit and also make allowance for his continued growth."

GOOD ROADS LENGTHEN LIFE

Prior to Construction of Improved Highways Farmers Led Comparatively Isolated Lives.

Anything which contributes to the physical or mental well-being of the individual tends to prevent disease, to reduce disability and to lengthen life. Prior to the development of the automobile and the building of our good roads, most of the inhabitants of our rural districts led comparatively isolated lives. The difficulty met in getting about the country, and the strenuousness of farm work, kept most of the farmers, their families, and their employees, tied down to the farm the greater part of the year. As a result of the monotony and constant toil, men and women exhausted their strength and energy early, became prematurely old and were often incapacitated through lack of proper recreation and relaxation.

ROADS IN NATIONAL FORESTS

Government Has Appropriated $34,542,062 for Building Highways and Trails.

A total of $34,542,062 has been appropriated by the government to the states for roads and trails within or adjacent to the national forests. Total expenditures of federal and cooperative funds amounting to $22,216,724 have already been disbursed. To date, 4,780 miles of roads and 6,711 miles of trail have been constructed and 8,744 miles of road and trail have been repaired and improved, says the forest service, United States Department of Agriculture.

GOOD ROADS BUILT IN 1922

Total of 28,000 Miles Constructed Last Year—Half of It With Federal Aid.

A total of 28,000 miles of good roads was built in the United States last year, or a distance equal to ten times the width of the country. Half of this mileage has been built by the state governments in conjunction with federal aid. The remaining 14,000 miles were constructed independently of federal assistance.

Pay for Service Rendered.

If the public surfaces a road and saves the owner of the rolling stock a large percentage of the cost of operating his car, the owner should be required to pay back a fair share of the savings. This should not be called a tax, it would be a charge for service rendered.

Concrete Paving Prices.

Concrete paving prices during 1922 have been averaging on contracts for 125 miles of 18-foot pavement, approximately $26,400 a mile.

Harding on Highways.

According to the opinion of President Harding, costly highways ought to be made to serve as feeders rather than competitors of the railroad.

Saving Pays for Gravel.

Traffic on a dirt road exceeding 110 tons per day in general, will pay for gravel in ten years by the saving.

Increase in Tonnage.

Where the loads were two tons we must now carry ten to fourteen tons.

For Semi-Formal Costumes; in Decorative Accessories

IF CHARMING dress adds to one's summer pleasures, then we all have in anticipation a season of exceeding joy, for clothes as planned for the coming sunshine months are adorable. One of the pretty forecasted fashions is the white crepe-plaited skirt with jacquette of bright-printed silk.

One can get a foretaste of this coming vogue by studying the picture presented herewith. Where is the feminine mind that can ignore such an appealing style? It will not be long before most of us will be wearing silken plaited skirts with a jacquette made along similar lines to the one in this picture.

A FORETASTE OF THE COMING VOGUE

Batik crepe jacquettes figure conspicuously among the newest ideas. Sometimes these have the hip band and collar of a solid material.

There is considerable braiding in many of the jacquette models. That is, the body may be of figured silk, while the hip band, collar and sleeve bandings are a solid shade heavily braided in a color which answers to a chosen shade appearing in the silk.

WHERE RIBBONS PLAY CHARMING ROLES

Following the vogue of the colorful jacquette is the model made of imported tapestry fabric. The styling of this type does not differ from those of more usual material, but there is an air of distinction owing to the exclusiveness of the fabric. Among other jacquette suggestions is a model of white Russ crepe collared and cuffed with bright red braided in black.

After all, it is not the dress which counts so much as the accessories. The possessor of a simple crepe frock, provided she owns a collection of decorative accessories, oftimes appears better dressed and presents a more pleasing variation than she who boasts a wardrobe which numbers many expensive and elaborate costumes.

At present fanciful girdles and corsages are the dominating feature throughout the realm of dress. In these intriguing fantasies one has the satisfaction of indulging one's imagination to the utmost.

Two interesting corsage ornaments are illustrated here. The one to the right is made of loops of ribbon, including silver, gray, French blue and rose, in connection with three colored beads which look like seashells. Streamers of the variegated ribbon are attached.

The flower-like girdle to the left suggests large ribbon daisies and, artificial flower centers carry out the idea. Streamers so essential, according to the designer's theory, are of ribbon, identical to that of which the flowers are made. The daisies are of velvet ribbon, carried out in tones of yellow, which shade to brown, the gradation achieved by hand tinting.

A charming floral corsage is designed of purple and orchid narrow ribbon, shirred to imitate violets. These are crushed into a large rosette with myriads of narrow green streamers fluttering to the hem of the skirt.

Two Styles Combine.

The Spanish and the early Victorian are mingled in the latest type of evening gowns. As usual with gowns of the present, a youthful figure is needed for the wearing of this type. The bodice is straight and snug and slides off the shoulders in Victorian fashion. The skirt is of the wide, Spanish type.

Curved Comb of Gold.

A curved comb of tortoise shell or gold is used—and needed—to support the up-to-date coiffure. The hair is smoothed back from the forehead and brought down over the ears in a cluster of ringlets. On the crown of the head it is drawn high into a loose knot of curls, which is supported by the comb.

Flower Brims.

Small flowers are used effectively on spring hats. Small brims, composed entirely of flowers, are used with crowns of coarse straw. Usually they are in one color, but shade from light to dark tones.

WHEN NOBILITY BREWED BEER

English "Upper Classes" Proved Not to Have Been Dependent on Commercial Product.

Relics of "ye olden days" show that beer was brewed on their own estates by the nobility in very ancient days. On the site at present occupied by Hay Hill once stood a farmhouse belonging to the Berkley estate, which comprised the land upon which Devonshire house stands. Recent clearing away of debris in the fine old gardens has brought to light the old vaults belonging to the original farmhouse, which dated back from the late Tudor period. When Berkley street was cut through in 1811 the old farmhouse was pulled down, but only to the street level, so that the original vaults have been found preserved below the street. The brewing house has been cleared of debris. Brickwork believed to go back beyond 1600 has been found, and it is believed that the two mash tuns bearing the lettering "D.D." now on view in the vaults of Devonshire house, were brought from the original brewery.—London Mail.

One Live Topic

They were thrown into each other's society in a country house, without common interests or the least attraction for each other.

Finally, after casting about for a fertile subject of conversation, only to fall in every attempt, he said, desperately: "Will you marry me?"

She considered long and deeply.

"I think I'll say yes," she replied at last. "It will give us so much more to talk about while we're here."—Los Angeles Times.

IT CURED A BAD COLD AND GAVE ME APPETITE

SIMPLE HOME TONIC, CHEAP; WORKS QUICK

"You can put me down as a booster for Hypo-tol because I know it does all that they claim. Three bottles fixed my stomach up fine and gave me a big appetite. It cured my cold up clean as a whistle," enthusiastically declares Fred Summerville, 125 16th St., Detroit.

"I surely feels good to be well and hearty this time of year. While weak, sickly, pale people are dragging around sniffling, sneezing, coughing and complaining of the weather—it is great to sleep sound, eat hearty, feel good. You eat big meals. Your blood gets rich and red and full of warmth so you don't shiver with cold. The whole system tones up easy enough if you use the right tonic. Nowadays there is no excuse for folks dragging around half-sick. It is risky, too. Grandma's old-fashioned tonic cost a dollar years ago and it was a nasty tasting mixture but now when folks make twice as much per day—here is a modern, more powerful, nice tasting tonic that only costs a dollar and does the work days and weeks sooner. Leading druggists everywhere now recommend Fayle's Hypo-tol bearing name of the famous Fayle Laboratories of Wheeling, W. Va., which is a guarantee of finest quality and purity in medicine. Drop in at the drug store for a bottle of Hypo-tol today.—Advertisement.

Machine Chucks.

A six-spindle chucking machine that is equivalent to an automatic screw machine for short pieces, for it handles five pieces of work with twenty-one cutting tools in operation at one time, is particularly useful for work that requires a number of separate and distinct operations. The machine, according to an illustrated article in Popular Mechanics, has six spindles, five of which are in an operating position, while the sixth is in an unloading and loading position. At the end of one cycle of operations, when a finished piece arrives this position, the machine automatically stops for replacing the finished with the unfinished piece.

Mothers Advise Their Daughters to Rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Keep Them in Health

A Mother's Advice Prevents Operation

Corona, N. Y.—"I had a terrible pain in my left side and had to go to bed every so often. Doctors had told me I must be operated on, but I did not believe in the knife and would rather suffer than go through it. My mother also did not believe in it and she made me take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because it had helped her. It has also helped me for I am better and able to do all my work. I recommend your medicine and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. Buscil, Jr., 18 S. Railroad Avenue, Corona, N. Y.

A Sickly Child

Mahoningtown, Pa.—"I would like to say a few words about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About a year ago I thought it would be necessary for me to take my daughter out of school. She was losing weight, was nervous, and when she would come home from school she would drop into a chair and cry, and say, 'Mamma, I don't believe I can go to school another day!' I gave her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now she is a healthy, happy, hearty, strong girl and weighs 120 pounds. She has no difficulty in doing her gym work, and she works at home every night and morning, too. I am a mother who can certainly praise your medicine, and if it will be of any benefit you may use this letter as a reference."—Mrs. Gideon E. Wirnacker, 621 W. Madison Ave., Mahoningtown, Pa.

Every girl wants to be healthy and strong, and every mother wants her daughter to do well in school and to enjoy herself at all times.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for young girls just entering womanhood. Mothers may depend upon it. Remember it is prepared from roots and herbs, contains nothing that can injure, and tends to tone up and strengthen the organs concerned, so that they will work in a healthy and normal manner.

For nearly fifty years it has been used by women of all ages, and these women know its great value.

Let it help your daughter and yourself.

Find What CANADA has to offer YOU!

If your dream of success seems like a hopeless ambition, if you are discouraged trying to get ahead on high priced land, if your present location fails to give you opportunity, there is a new deal for you, a new chance in the fertile, virgin farms of Western Canada, where wheat produces 20 to 40 bushels to the acre, where the 1922 crop was biggest in history, where oats, barley and hay and fodder crops are the basis of a great dairy industry, and a man's work brings him success and prosperity.

Low Priced Land—the Last Great West

In Western Canada you still can buy virgin prairie land at $15 to $20 per acre, on long terms if desired, near to town, railroads, etc.—land such as has for many years produced the world's prize winning wheat, oats, barley, flax, rye, alfalfa. Canada had no "war time" land boom, prices are not—Related—you get in on the ground floor.

Taxes Favor the Farmer as Values Increase

The tax laws of Western Canada encourage the producing farmer. The tax on land is reduced when it is brought under cultivation—while on your buildings, machinery, improvements, personal property, automobile, there is no tax at all. A single crop is often worth more, acre for acre, than the cost of the land.

Rent Now—Buy Later Pay Out of Profits

Canada welcomes the industrious settler. What you have now isn't so important, your capital is yourself, and you cannot sell your present holdings to advantage, rent a fertile Canadian farm and "try it out" for a season or two. Make a good living, increase your capital and buy later. Farms may be rented from successful settlers on easy terms, in some cases with options of purchase.

Buy on Exceptional Terms—32 Years to Pay

For the benefit of those wishing to buy land a national non-profit sharing organization—the Canada Colonization Association—has recently established with headquarters at St. Paul and United States office at St. Paul. This Association offers selected land convenient to railways—much of it at $15 to $20 per acre—on very small cash payment, no further payment until third year; balance extended over thirty years, but purchaser may pay up and obtain title at any time if desired. Interest six percent per annum on deferred payments.
