TO THE CUSTOMERS OF THE DETROIT EDISON COMPANY

This is the third of these letters about your electric service:

Hard times cut queer capers with our business of furnishing electricity. Our sales are 'way under the good years, and what we do sell nowadays means a lot of grief in the matter of collections. With many thousand customers paying their bills in installments and many unable to pay at all, the work of our Collection Department, Cash Department, and Sales Department has grown to fantastic proportions. People are moving more often and there are more records to be kept. Partial payments mean more bookkeeping and thousands of duplicate bills to be furnished. All this throws extra work, extra expense, and extra responsibility upon us—while the money coming in has been steadily less.

Our business has to be done on credit. It cannot be done cash and carry. We are entitled to ask for guarantees or deposits to secure payment of our bills. We seldom do so when a customer is well spoken of. Just now with 525,000 accounts we have only 28,200 deposits and very few guarantees! Most people pay us. Some don't. We are entitled to cut off service if people don't pay promptly. But these days there are too many people out of luck, and we have 106,600 customers for whose payments we are waiting. They pay a little at a time, when they can. But there are also those who don't pay. The chronic debt dodgers are not so many but each of them is a lot of trouble. They do not pay until their light is to be cut off. They make promises they do not keep and never meant to keep. We would get peeved at them if we were not a soulless corporation. Any of you would feel imposed upon if you found your debtor, who had promised to pay, giving a party to his friends—and giving you a stand-off.

Now about bad debts. You all have them. So do we. In an ordinary year they don't amount to much—they are only bankrupts or people leaving town without paying. But look how they have been growing! In 1928, our losses on bad debts amounted to $207,400; in 1929, $163,900; in 1930, $369,400; in 1931, $495,100; in 1932, $601,100. We don't know what they will be in 1933 and our guess is not a source of happiness.

The next letter in this series will appear in this paper next week.
