First Permanent Blackout in Canada

MONCTON, N. B., Nov.—The first permanent blackout in Canada is now in effect along the main line of the Canadian National Railways between Mont Joli and Isle Verte, Que., 67 miles along the St. Lawrence river, and on the Gaspe sub-division between Matapedia and Douglastown, Canadian National trains operating through this area at night have all window blinds drawn in coaches, sleeping and dining cars and all vestibule lights extinguished. Baggage, express and mail cars are also blacked out and in the case of locomotives, all exterior lights with the exception of marker lamps are extinguished while headlights are dimmed.

HONEY BEES GET SUGAR

Michigan's honey bees get a share in the sugar rationing. According to R. H. Kelty, extension specialist in beekeeping at Michigan State College, rationing authorities will release as much as 10 pounds per colony if such food is needed to keep bees alive through the winter. Bees are needed to insure pollenizing of fruit blossoms in 1943 for a good fruit crop.

SOCIAL SECURITY RATE

Employees who are covered by the Social Security Act will continue to have one percent of their wages deducted for old-age and survivors insurance after January 1, 1943, it was announced today by Albert W. Boehringer, manager of the Pontiac field office of the Social Security Board. This rate, which has been in effect since social security went into effect January 1, 1937, will continue throughout the calendar year 1943.

A new "war job" of the conservation department's institute for fisheries research is a series of tests to determine the dilution necessary to make the waters from a process of making synthetic rubber harmless to fish life.

SAVING PAINT BRUSHES

It's good economy to conserve and salvage old paint brushes, according to recommendations from the agricultural engineering department at Michigan State College. First step, if the bristles are not broken, is to soak out old paint with brush cleaner or if not too hard, with gasoline or turpentine. After the old paint is softened, it should be scraped off with a putty knife and brushes washed in warm but mild laundry suds. Bristles should be straightened out before completely dry and the reconditioned brush wrapped loosely in heavy paper until further use.

After examination of more than 2,000 kingfishers, conservation department fisheries research men report that on trout streams about 30 per cent of the food of these birds is trout, and on lakes about 22 per cent of their food is game and panfish. More than half of the food of these birds taken at fish hatcheries was composed of the fishes being reared there.
