

HOUSEHOLD.

Cooking Recipes.

Roast Ham - A loaf of Pennsylvania dish...

Potato Balls - Take six potatoes, boil them, pass them through a sieve...

Vegetable Soup - Take equal quantities of carrots, turnips, onions...

Apple Custard - Take a quart of boiled apples and mash them as fine as possible...

Marie Cake - White part - Three parts of sugar, one of butter, one of milk...

Cream Sponge Cake - Ten eggs, one cup of pulverized sugar, half a pound of sifted flour...

Jelly - Four tablespoonsful of water, juice of half a lemon...

Loat Cake - Three cups of light dough, one cup of butter, two of sugar...

Cup Cake - Five eggs, three cups of sugar, one of butter...

A Labor of Love.

The Comte de Chambord has always been noted for amiability and kindness of heart...

a whole week will you give me something?

"Will you give me fifty loaves?" "That is a great deal of money," said the King...

An "O" for an "E."

At an editorial convention the conversation turned on typographical errors.

Oil-Cry Derick - An editorial convention the conversation turned on typographical errors.

"Did you see him for damages?" asked the crowd. "Not at all," said Peters. "I had got more damages than I wanted already."

A Deserted City.

It is not often that an American town is doomed to declination, but Virginia City, Nevada, affords one instance at least.

PEASANT'S PLEASANTRIES.

Peasants. The writer especially appeals to the civilized world in behalf of women in prison whose situation he says is far worse than the men.

John Brown's Faith. The following letter written by John Brown, from the Charleston jail, a week before his execution...

My dear and honored kinman, Your very sorrowful, kind and faithful letter of the 20th inst. has now before me...

I discover that you labor under a mistaken impression as to some important facts, which my peculiar circumstances will not allow me to state...

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

plaint. The writer especially appeals to the civilized world in behalf of women in prison whose situation he says is far worse than the men.

John Brown's Faith. The following letter written by John Brown, from the Charleston jail, a week before his execution...

My dear and honored kinman, Your very sorrowful, kind and faithful letter of the 20th inst. has now before me...

I discover that you labor under a mistaken impression as to some important facts, which my peculiar circumstances will not allow me to state...

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

I find myself in a peculiar position, and I must say that I am neither conscious of being "underrated" or "mad."

Teach the Boys to Use Tools.

Encourage the boys in the use of carpenter's tools. I never was more impressed with the necessity for this than when, a short time ago, a young farmer purchased a neglected piece of property...

Of course boys will dull and sometimes break them, but if carefully taught their use, and if acts of carelessness are followed by a season of deprivation, they soon learn that it pays to be thoughtful.

One who has some knowledge of carpenter's tools is more fitted to direct workmen, and give plans when he wishes a building put up or repairs made.

Then there are a thousand and one little things about the house which would save much weariness and many peevish complaints for which one hardly likes to call the carpenter, and that the father or mother, by a little study, if he could saw off a board straight or drive a nail without pounding his thumb and losing his temper.

Then there is real pleasure in accepting a token of love fashioned by one's own hands that give value to the work.

Provide a waria workshop, as nice as can be afforded, but at least with a stove, a chimney and a whole roof, and give the boys permission to saw and plane as they like.

There are unfavorable reports from Wyoming Territory relative to the operation of female suffrage. Generally it has been represented that the influence of the gentler sex in politics out there is quite effective in the direction of good order and reform.

He thinks Wyoming's experiment of fourteen years has resulted in an increase of corruption and immorality, for the reason that the votes of the degraded classes more than counterbalance the votes of good women.

There is no doubt that the influence of the gentler sex in politics out there is quite effective in the direction of good order and reform.

There is no doubt that the influence of the gentler sex in politics out there is quite effective in the direction of good order and reform.

There is no doubt that the influence of the gentler sex in politics out there is quite effective in the direction of good order and reform.

There is no doubt that the influence of the gentler sex in politics out there is quite effective in the direction of good order and reform.

There is no doubt that the influence of the gentler sex in politics out there is quite effective in the direction of good order and reform.

There is no doubt that the influence of the gentler sex in politics out there is quite effective in the direction of good order and reform.

There is no doubt that the influence of the gentler sex in politics out there is quite effective in the direction of good order and reform.

There is no doubt that the influence of the gentler sex in politics out there is quite effective in the direction of good order and reform.

There is no doubt that the influence of the gentler sex in politics out there is quite effective in the direction of good order and reform.

There is no doubt that the influence of the gentler sex in politics out there is quite effective in the direction of good order and reform.