A boy from the Log Cabin district paralyzed Mitchell in the store yesterday by laying down 17c and asking for that dandy tale book, "Three Buckets of Blood or the Monkey's Revenge," sequel to "Romanzo the Onion Eater or the Wild Ass of the Prairies." The shock almost killed father.

Where was the first flag raised in our county? The women of Monroe county have marked the place where the American flag was first raised in their county. Where was it first raised in Oakland county? Will our exchanges in the county take up this matter? If the place can be located, there is no doubt but that our Oakland County Federation of Woman's clubs will see that it be properly marked.

Reports from several of the lakes of Oakland county where fish are known to exist in quantities, state that deputy game and fish wardens have been especially watchful of late and that those who attempted to spear fish had to be exceedingly alert. The other day at Long Lake a party of men are said to have been spearing fish when the wardens appeared in sight. The officers gave chase but the illegal fishers managed to give them the slip without difficulty, escaping with the fish.

We are pleased to announce that Guy Watkins has the Shetland pony franchise at Belle Isle and Bois Blanc Island for the coming season and ponies and carriages were never before so pretty and fine. This is a business that Mr. Watkins is right at home in and we predict for him a money making enterprise. Mr. Watkins sold for the Watkins Pony Farm recently a two-year-old pony for $225. There is a big increase in the price of ponies for the reason that they are being used in mining coal, etc., and crowding out the mules, ponies being much quicker and better for the work. Alas! Poor Ponies.

What do you think we heard the other day? Comrade Bigelow came into the office Tuesday morning with an old pair of brogans freshly oiled, right from Wm. Manser's bootery. "There!" says the old sojer, "is a pair of boots 23 years old, made by Wm. Manser, and I can prove their age. Who can beat it?" He said this in an agressive tone of voice. Then up spoke Mrs. E. R. Smith kind of unctious like: "Well, there is a pair of shoes I've worn for 19 years every day." Brother Bigelow gave up, but before he gave up, said he only wore his once a year while making garden and the season was now on. Both lady and gentleman belong to St. James.

The Ladies' Literary club was reminded of the Japanese "Feast of the Cherry Blossoms," last Monday as their place of meeting was decorated with these blossoms. A paper on "Lake Biwa" was followed by a very pleasing and promising report of the presentation of the club's petition to the D. U. R. for a waiting room. A short parliamentary drill followed. The programs for the ensuing year were on sale. These year books are in the Eccentric's best style, printed on fine paper, with dark green covers, tied with pink ribbon. The motto is, "In essentials, unity, in small things, liberty, in all things, charity." Course of study, Scotland and Ireland. Colors, pink and green.

Regular convocation of Birmingham Chapter, No. 93, R. A. M., on Monday evening next, May 15.

Seems as if anyone who wanted to buy a nice little place for a quiet, pleasant home, where they could raise chickens and have a good time with all the conveniences and at a small outlay of cash, would consider this new chance which we have to offer in the real estate department this week. Just outside of the corporate limits of Orion village (the Chatauqua of Michigan), taxes average about $7.00 a year; 7-room house, stone foundation, cellar basement, steam heat, electric light, telephone, cistern in cellar, well 78 feet deep, excellent, never-failing water, 20x22 ft. barn and carriage room, room for two big loads of hay, large henhouse well adapted for winter layers, half an acre under poultry netting. Whole place contains about 4 acres, in good, quiet neighborhood, half an acre of strawberries, 200 eight year old vineyard of Worden, Concord, Delaware and Niagara grapes, 7 apple trees, 6 pear trees (Flemish Beauties and Bartletts), nice little truck and poultry farm, owner has refused $2,000 for it before the steam heat was put in. He has bought another and larger farm and will sell this place for $1,600 cash, if sold at once. Ask Whitehead about it at the Exchange Bank, Birmingham, Mich.

There is a remedy over sixty years old—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Of course you have heard of it, probably have used it. Once in the family, it stays; the one household remedy for coughs and hard colds on the chest. Ask your doctor about it.

"I have had pneumonia three times, and Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has brought me safely through each time. I have just recovered from my last attack, aged sixty-seven. No wonder I praise it." — E. V. Higgins, Stevens Point, Wis.

WOOSTERS AGENT

Visits Town, the Guest of D. M. Johnston----Formaldehyde Goes up in Price.

As ambassadors or fore-runners to his royal highness, the Rt. Rev. S. W. Wiley of New Brunswick, who was in town Tuesday, Messrs. Dr. D. M. Johnston, E. A. O'Neal, Dr. N. T. Shaw, and Andrew Carnegie Anderson ushered into our sanctum sanctorium the tallest, blackest and most soiled colored person (a missionary) we ever saw, and such a flavor, aroma, or whatever its names is, accompanied the reverend gentleman all the while.

He sold a tract for ten cents, sang 25 verses, all alike, in a drone, bagpipe voice, and then his gleeful managers passed along to call on Whitey.

By main force the timid banker was made to remain in his office, shake hands with his ane cent brother and dig up 10c. And how he kicked when Ham began to sing. Whitey smashed out the back windows during the short interview and has been fuming and fumigating his office ever since. Formaldehyde took a jump of 10c before his royal highness had been in town two hours.

The gentleman of color arrived in town with a letter of introduction from Jim Wooster, the popular landlord at Clapkston, to Dr. D. M. Johnston and a few such. We bet Jim will get it back some day with interest.

MUFFS WORN FOR AGES.

Evolution of Dress Article Through Centuries Shows Its Origin.

In many of the portraits of the sixteenth century one often sees a strip of rich soft fur wound around the wrist of a noble dame. This was used to cover the neck or fulfill the function of a muff, and to it was often attached a small animal's head or a skull, cunningly wrought in metal and adorned with precious stones.

As was the case with so many articles of dress, the muff was first the exclusive property of the nobility, and was carried by the commonest women of Venice, as well as by the women of the highest rank.

The first Venetian muffs were small, made of a single piece of velvet, brocade or silk, lined with fur, the opening enriched with gold or silver buttons set with precious stones. By 1662 the muff seems to have been recognized as the necessary adjunct of the wardrobe of a woman of fashion.

JACK-THE-CUTTER

Is Operating on Wire Fences on "Battlefield Farm" Down in Southfield Township.

There has been doings down in Southfield township lately that fails to cast any honor or glory on the perpetrator, in fact it is only an act of vandalism and a heavy punishment will no doubt be meted out to the miscreant should he persist in his wanton destruction of property. The "doings" consists of the cutting and destroying of over $50.00 worth of wire fence on "Battlefield Farm," the property of Mrs. Dora Johnston.

Crafty Woman.

"Hum!" mused the sapient housewife, "I do wish John would get us a new mantel clock in place of this old one, that has been here for ten years. I wonder how I can get him to buy another?" Turning the problem over in her mind, she at last hit upon a solution. "Good!" she exclaimed. "Why haven't I thought of it long before this? I'll drop something into the wheels and then get him to try to fix the works to-night. In ten minutes he'll have it ruined beyond repair."—Judge.

Woman's Charms Listed in Book.

The Cingalese, Dr. Harvey says, have decided views on woman's charms; they have written a book on this subject. They refuse to call a woman beautiful unless she has the following characteristics: Her hair must be voluminous like the tail of a peacock, long, reaching to the knees and terminating in beautiful curls. Her nose must be like the bill of the hawk and her lips bright and red like coral; her neck must be large and round—and her waist narrower and tapering."

Terrific Race With Death.

"Death was fast approaching," writes Ralph F. Fernandez, of Tampa, Fla., describing his fearful race with death, "as a result of liver trouble and heart disease, which had robbed me of sleep and of all interest in life. I had tried many doctors and several medicines, but got no benefit until I began to use Electric Bitters. So wonderful was their effect, that in three days I felt like a new man, and today I am cured of all my troubles." Guaranteed at Whitehead & Mitchell's and Cobb & Cobb's drug stores; price 50c.

CLEARS UP THE COMPLEXION.

Whitehead & Mitchell and Cobb & Cobb Say Laxakola Tonic Tablets Work Wonders for the Skin.

It is hard to tell just why these little tablets have become so popular with Birmingham ladies but considering the short time they have been advertised, the demand for them has been cause for wonder.

They are no different in appearance from other laxative tablets, but they really must possess unusual merit for from our own personal observation we know that they always do just what is expected of them.

Their action upon the skin and complexion is remarkable for the principal ingredient in them is extract of dandelion, and your own doctor will tell you that dandelion is one of the greatest skin alteratives known to the profession

If your bowels are inactive, your skin sallow, your tongue coated, your breath foul, and if you are troubled with pimples, billious spells and sick headache, a 25-cent package of Laxakola Tonic Tablets will clear up your complexion, tone up your liver, encourage the action of your bowels and make you sweet, clean and healthy, inside and out, or these druggists will gladly pay back your money.

SCIENTIFIC & INDUSTRIAL

M. Crabbe, of Paris, has invented a vest of paper which will enable tourists to stand the rigors of the extraordinary winter while going about the country in their automobiles.

At Doornkloof, in the Witwatersrand gold field of the Transvaal, a bore hole has been drilled down 5500 feet, thus making one of the few perforations of the earth's outer crust which exceed a mile.

Softening of the brain, brought about by lack of mental exercise, causes the death of one-third of the rural laborers of England, was the remarkable statement made in a court in London by Dr. Duke.

Cremation makes remarkably slow progress in England, partly because of the decision of the court in 1884, that, unless express instructions had been left by the deceased, an executor could not cremate the remains.

The largest electrical sign in the world is on the North River, in New York Harbor, the individual letters being sixty-eight feet high, yet its operation for five hours a day only costs $3 for power. The lamps of which it is composed are of four-candle power.

A German physician has discovered that the air of the Egyptian desert is about as free from bacterial life as the polar regions on the high seas. Tubercle bacilli are killed when exposed six hours in the sunlight. He considers the desert especially suitable for rheumatics and patients suffering from kidney diseases and tuberculosis.

It is stated that Emile Wenz, of Reims, France, has recently applied kite photography with success to geological pictures, and it is predicted that the field geologist of the future will find a kite and its camera essential to his outfit. M. Wenz succeeded in taking good photographs from a height of 650 feet, and found them very valuable in the production of maps.

Electric waves measured by Hertz—and named after him—were found by the great scientist to be 150 feet from the top of one wave to the top of the next. The waves used by Marconi in telegraphing across the Atlantic are much longer. They are said to be 600 feet or more. They travel at the same speed as light, 184,000 miles a second. But the light wave measures only a few millionths of an inch.

An English watchmaker has just finished making a tiny watch in the form of a shirt stud.

A Creeping Death.

Blood poison creeps up towards the heart, causing death. J. E. Stearns, Belle Plaine, Minn., writes that a friend dreadfully injured his hand, which swelled up like blood poisoning. Bucklen's Arnica Salve drew out the poison, healed the wound, and saved his life. Best in the world for burns and sores. 25c at Whitehead & Mitchell's and Cobb & Cobb's drug stores.

HUMOR of the DAY

Maternal Curiosity.

"Tommy," asked Mrs. Tucker, "I don't see Mrs. Carston's old cat in our back yard any more. What has become of it?"

"I don't know where it is now," said Tommy. "Last time I saw that cat it was goin' towards Michigan."

"Toward Michigan? On a train?"

"Nome. 'Crost the lake."

"In a boat?"

"Nome. It kind o' jumped into the water."

"Where?"

"Off the fishin' pier."

"You don't mean to say it was trying to swim in the lake?"

"Nome. I guess it couldn't have swum much, anyway, cause there was a rock tied—say, it seems to me you're gettin' awful curious about that old cat, all at once!"

A Game of Cards.

Reginald—Say, did yer come to do card party to-night?

Cholly—Yes. Why?

Reginald—Well, sis said if she plays her cards right she kin land yez to-night.

A Little of Both.

He was a poor young clerk, only earning $12 per week, and when the struggling lady told him that the book was $1.25 he didn't feel that he could afford a copy. Still he didn't like to hurt her feelings, so he intimated that he'd take a copy if she could change a $10 bill.

There was no trouble about that. The little black satchel she snapped open didn't contain less than $450 in small currency. The $12 clerk is still wondering if he is an easy mark or a philanthropist.—Louisville Courier Journal.

She Had No Scruples.

He had brought home a package of brick cheese and had rubbed a $10 bill over it just before he entered the house.

But when he arose in the morning the money had been abstracted from his vest pocket.

"I didn't think you'd take that bill," he said to his wife with a reproachful look.

"And why not?"

"Because it is tainted money."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Looked Like It.

The man dropped a slug into the slot.

The machine was one of the kind that occasionally returns the coin instead of shooting out a slab of gum—purely for advertising purposes and to gain the customer's good will—and the slug came out again.

"Great Scott!" he exclaimed, turning red. "They've got a counterfeit detector in there. have they? What won't they do with these slot machines next!"

True Enough.

"Here!" said the cranky patron of the reading room, "you've been snoring horribly."

"Heh?" gurgled the drowsy patron.

"If you only slept with your mouth shut," went on the cranky one, "you wouldn't make so much noise."

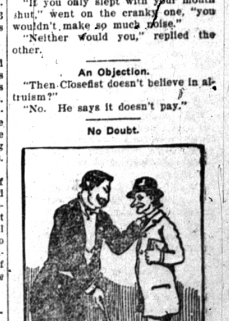
"Neither would you," replied the other.

An Objection.

"Then Closefist doesn't believe in altruism?"

"No. He says it doesn't pay."

No Doubt.



Jones—Do you believe that somewhere your soul's affinity waits for you?
