AT THE THEATRES.

LYCEUM.

George M. Cohan's happy comedy with musical settings, "The Honeymooners" will be offered at the Lyceum for one week, commencing Sunday afternoon. The piece enjoys the distinction of having run all last summer at the Amsterdam Theatre, New York City, playing to packed houses. The piece will be presented by a strong cast, headed by William Dunlay and Ida Burt Lawrence, and the same production will be seen that characterized the New York run. In the cast are such prime favorites as Willie Dunlay, Ida Burt Lawrence, Maud Murrice, Rose Gildea, Bessie Marlowe, Andrew O'Neill, George Mayo, Albert Stewart and Dan Sullivan.

The engagement opens with a Sunday matinee, in addition to which the regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given.

WHITNEY.

Messrs Klimt & Gazzolo's big scenic production, "On the Bridge at Midnight" will be offered at the Whitney for one week, commencing Sunday afternoon. Scenically and emotionally this is one of the strongest plays these producers have ever put out. The action centers around the search of a blind mother for her long lost daughter. The daughter has grown to a young and beautiful woman, who in turn is much persecuted by a villain who desires her betrayal; also a legacy which he feels sure she is heir to, but of which the girl is ignorant.

A capable company has been selected by the managers, and comedy and pathos are carefully blended.

The engagement is for one week with matinees daily except on Wednesday.

Go to Cuba, Old Man!

When the advice was given to young men 30 years ago to "Go West," it was excellent advice for YOUNG MEN. But not for old men. The West was sure, but too slow for the old man, and the chances were too great. Cuba is different. Cuba will do in 5 years what the West did in 30. The West WAS O. K., but TODAY look to Cuba.

Cuba will come quick enough for the OLD man, and the climate is strong and agreeable that it will add 10 or 20 years to your life.

WRITE US. Just send your name and address on a postal card. We want to tell you more of Cuba. You can get a lot from magazines, but our information is RIGHT.
