Two more suits were brought in the circuit court against the Detroit United Ry. and the plaintiffs in both cases are women who claim to have sustained broken legs. Both reside in Royal Oak. Maude Chamberlain is the plaintiff in one case and alleges damages of $5,000. Nettie Schneidt is the plaintiff in the second case and wants damages of $2,500. The suits were started by summons and A. L. Moore is the attorney in both actions.

From the Sunday News-Tribune we clip the following which shows Stanley don't tell us all he knows before hand. We certainly wish the happy couple all the happiness in the world for them. "A very quiet wedding which took place Monday evening, July 22, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Maurice R. Marr, was that of Miss Louisa Shelley Marr and Stanley Peabody, of Birmingham. Mr. and Mrs. Peabody will be at home after Sept. 1 at Gilbert Lake farm, Birmingham."

Howard Mudge, our expert telephone trouble shooter, met with a bad accident one day last week. He opened a cable box, inside of which a swarm of bees had made their home. When he opened the door of the cable box they all saw him and met him face to face. He fell backwards th the ground 18 feet, and was severely hurt. He crawled quiet a distance to West Patchett's home where he was quickly cared for. He will recover but he sure had a narrow escape from serious injuries.

Allegorically speaking, the editor is a happy medium between a soupbone and a porter-house steak. Nobody ever saw a rich editor, and on the other hand no one ever encountered an editor who didn't head every subscription with a donation of four bits and a stub pen. The editor is said to belong to the fourth estate because that is the only kind he ever leaves. He is also one of the most cheerful and overworked prevaricators now passing as legal tender. He has to be.—Cedar Springs Clipper.

A movement has been started here by W. D. Clizbe, F. A. Gordon, Dr. Wm. Pool and Bayard Brown which has for its object a "Let Well Enough Alone" club, the object being to enlist republicans and democrats in an organization to resist public clamor for new tangled political doctrines and disturbance of business and labor conditions. The prospectus of the club to be organized sets forth that wages are the highest they have ever been and farmers are doing better than they ever did at any time and that any changes at this time are not advisable. This club will be organized here Saturday, Aug. 3, at 8 o'clock p. m., and there will be no expenses.

Don't fail to read carefully the big advt. of Whitehead & Mitchell on last page of the paper. Our H. W. Baxter, jeweler, is a busy man in his "biggest little jewelry store" in old Oakland. Say, M. W. Beals, our new citizen on Martin street, is a scientific, classy expert mushroom hunter. Monday last, just in the park east of the D. U. The many varied huet ones and different shapes make a pretty sight.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Gregory, who became acquainted with Miss Lea Corey at Biloxi, Miss., last winter and who came to Birmingham for the summer, have been living at the home of Miss Corey the past few months. Mr. Gregory has been a very sick man from an old chronic trouble and so ill that his life has been lingered of several times. He is now sure on the road to recovery. His old family physician for over 30 years, Dr. H. T. Sawyer, of Cornell, Ill., was sent for and in consultation with Dr. Hilty of our village, started the sufferer on the right road to health, for which the entire household give their devout thanks.

The villain's scheme has succeeded. Bound hand and foot, the fair maiden was put into a sack, unable to move or scream. She felt herself being carried down a flight of stairs, put into a vehicle and then driven away. She struggled vainly to free herself, but the villain had done his work well. Finally the conveyence stopped. Again she was lifted and carried into a building, fainting and gasping for breath. The sack was removed, then the gag. The villain still masked, his eyes gleaming like coals of fire, released her, and said through his tightly clenched teeth, "There, my pretty bird, scream as loud as you like; no human ear will ever hear you. You are totally within my power." "Where am I?" she gasped. "In the store of a man who never advertises," was the cruel reply. "Alas!" she moaned, "no power on earth can save me. No one will ever look for me here." And the poor girl fainted.

Selective, restrictive and most desirable are the 69 lots now offered to discriminative buyers in Whitehead & Mitchell new lot division. Sixteen acres of the highest and dryest land inside the corporation limits of Birmingham. High, dry and sewered, sidewalked and electric ligthed. What better combination of city life wedded to country quiet ness? Here you have the very acme of satisfaction in a home location. One hour's ride from Detroit makes it desirable for the very best class of home seekers and right in the very best of society—people who live right in this neighborhood can see no happiness in life elsewhere. Tuesday's Detroit News had the following. "Mrs. Fannie Younglove blind, aged 52, and her daughter, Claribel, aged 15, who May 3 obtained permission from the police to sing on the streets to support themselves, were put out on the streets last midnight when their landlord at 26 Lafayette boulevard found them unable to pay their rent. The Youngloves came to Detroit from the south, where they had existed several years on what the girl could collect after singing on street corners. They were taken by the police to the Hunt street station where they will have temporary quarters." This was the couple, who a few weeks since created a deal of talk, wonder curiosity and was the cause of one of the biggest congregations one Sunday night in one of our churches that it ever enjoyed, because of their reported "going to shoot" act. After a few days of worry the pair returned to the city.
