The Man Nobody Knew

By HOLWORTHY HALL

Copyright by Dodd, Mead & Co., Inc.

GETTING RICH QUICK.

CHAPTER VI.—Continued.

"I'd chase to admit," said Hilliard, "that the odds are on the side of the experts. But as for the tip-makers . . . He shrugged his shoulders and wondered if he dared begin to wish for a bright-up the financial outlook. . . . "I've been telling Angela that it's mostly hard work. Once in a while you do run into something big, of course—romantic if you want to call it so. I remember one day out of my own experience Angela had dropped the papers and was listening to me as her father. . . . I'd spent some hours of night-time up and abandoned property out in the Bitter region. Sought to . . . was a very quiet place at first, so of that because it quite had . . . and . . . to . . . the place . . . friends weren't . . . and . . . voice just then. But . . . on title . . . I . . . using the . . . and . . . there seem to . . . pretty . . . a shaft to the . . . timber . . . for a big . . . and . . . tinder . . . two . . . many . . . a . . . of . . . down . . . and . . . the . . . lifts . . . and . . . clean . . . of taking . . . corrupt . . . to go down . . . two . . . unsuspected . . . any . . . unadulterated . . . credit . . . a long . . . and . . . and . . . for . . . perhaps . . . sense . . . and . . . and . . . Yorkers . . . police . . . is . . . they'd . . . "Oh . . . said . . . "And . . . said Hilliard . . . not . . . the . . . ticket . . . more . . . judge . . . to . . . "Well . . . "Well . . . "Well