The M. D. C. had a business meeting at the home of Miss Sadie Moore on Brown street. Plans for another hike to Bloomfield Center, next week, were completed. After the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed, refreshments being served by the hostess.

Miss Lucille Smith was the charming hostess to a number of friends Monday night, the event being the eighteenth anniversary of her birthday. Yellow and white were the prevailing colors. A very dainty lunch was served to the guests, among whom were Claire Houghton, Goldie Gibbons, Dora Swith, Eunice Jones, Ivan Gibbons, George Jones, Charlie Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Shippey.

Mrs. Melvin Kates of Euclid avenue, was one of the numerous guests at a steak roast on Ball Mountain, Saturday evening, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Leidy of Pontiac. Mr. and Mrs. Leidy are leaving to make their home in Ann Arbor.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Ward Duckett of 301 Park street, a seven-pound baby boy, Peter Clayton.

P. O.-D. ANNUAL CORN ROAST

The local post office force went out to Joe Park's place a year ago and had a corn roast. Such a good time was enjoyed it was voted unanimously to make it a regular annual affair and pursuant to this action Wednesday night last week was selected as the proper time to hold the second annual. The weather was just right, as was the corn and melons, and out in the broad grassy field in the glow of a roaring stump fire, the bunch gathered and gnawed the luscious ears, roasted to a golden brown. Everybody ate corn as long as they could stand up and Charlie Jones ate an ear or two after he could no longer stand. Hot coffee, cake, sandwiches and rolls were offered to tempt the appetite. All present regretted very much the absence of P. M. Mitchell, who was barred from attending by sore teeth, and also the absence of S. H. Wilkinson and family, laid up by severe colds. The affair, however, was a wonderful success from a social standpoint and everyone will be present next fall at the third annual corn roast of the P. O. D.

Mrs. Eva Jenks, aunt of Mrs. W. H. Bassett of Pierce street, is visiting at the home of her son, Seymour Jenks, of Detroit. Mrs. Jenks has spent the past year in Florida and many of her friends here will be glad to welcome her home again.

Mrs. L. E. Baldock and son, Judson, of Pierce street, were at Franklin Mich., last week-end, visiting Mrs. Baldock's sister, Miss Minnie Leet.

Theatres

AT THE GARRICK, DETROIT

The attraction at the Garrick Theatre the week beginning next Sunday night will be Eugene O'Neill's latest drama "The Hairy Ape." The New York critics have taken to O'Neill's writings for the theatre with remarkable interest, and hail with youthful enthusiasm about everything that comes from his pen. He puts before one life as it is—in its own terms—creating within a deep feeling of life flowing on, of the past, which is never the past, but always the birth of the future, of a problem solved for the moment, but by the very nature of its solution involving new problems.

"The Hairy Ape" is not only a challenge to government, society and civilization, but even to human kind. The genius of O'Neill has put the worth of mankind on trial in terms that show he has listened with an alert and sensitive ear to the language men and women use when they feel lightly or deeply, or when they feel not at all, but still go on talking. By keeping a humble door open to life, the playwright's characters speak through him, not he through them. The people of his plays are not out of his own experience of his own imagination. They are flesh and blood as we know and feel it.

AT THE SHUBERT-MICHIGAN

"The Tiger Rose," in which Lenore Ulric scored such a signal success, and which has long been considered Willard Mack's best piece of writing, will be the offering of the Bonstelle Company at the Shubert-Michigan next week. The play was produced under the direction of David Belasco, and a certain degree of credit has been given him for the unusual success of the Mack "child." The lighting and staging represents Belasco at his best.

"The Tiger Rose" should provide Miss Ann Harding an unusual role for her reintroduction to Detroiters, and Calvin Thomas, the new leading man, served in the same capacity with Miss Ulric.

While a melodrama, this play is something more—more than objective drama of incident with which we are accustomed to associate melodramatic ideas, because it smacks of the psychological in working out the motives for action, and on account of the many unusual character studies provided by Mr. Mack.

The heroine is a French Canadienne, reared in the far northwest, entirely apart from pretences and the veneer of civilization—often hypocritical. She is real and human, and though she often stoops to profanity it is expressive in its innocence, for it means nothing evil to her. A child of nature, she posses an undeveloped spiritual sense, but has no notion of accepting on faith the many things the missionaries tell her. They ask her, "You believe in a Divine Being, don't you?" "A Divine Being? Oh, sure as hell, I do." There is nothing sacrilegious in her remark—mere innocence. It is a play which should afford the Bonstelle Company many unusual opportunities, and Miss Harding an equally unusual role.

Moved by Pres. McBride that the communication from the Flexotile Products Co. be acknowledged, a copy of same be incorporated in the minutes, and the same be filed with the Village Clerk. Yeas, 3; Nays, 0.

Village of Birmingham,
Birmingham, Mich.

Gentlemen: The Flexotile Products Co. owns lots 1-2-27 and 28 between Haynes St. and Bowers St. and immediately west of Elm St. in the Village of Birmingham.

It has developed that a recent survey made by the Standard Oil Co. who own the only other lot in this block that the actual north and south dimension of this block falls short of the length shown on the Village plats by the amount of approximately eight feet, thereby throwing the sidewalk on the south side of Bowers St. eight feet on our property.

While we have no immediate need for this additional area, still we should like to have an expression from the honorable Council of the Village of Birmingham as to whether at some future time they expect to re-lay the above mentioned sidewalk on its proper location, or if at any time when the need for this additional area should become necessary for our business may we be able to count on getting the full depth of the lots which we have purchased.

Yours very truly,
Flexotile Products Co.
per J. R. Searight, Pres.

Moved by Pres. McBride that the bill of Howard H. Barnett of $279.93 for services as Engineer and expert witness in connection with the Adams Law Suit be allowed, subject to the examination of the Clerk to ascertain whether or not any of the items had ever been paid. Yeas, 3; Nays, 0.

Commissioner Bell moved that the County Drain Comissioner be hereby authorized to spread that portion of the assessment for the instalment of the Gordon Drain which is chargeable to the Village of Birmingham against the Village-at-large. Yeas, 3; Nays, 0.

There being no further business, Pres. McBride moved that the meeting be adjourned. Yeas, 3; Nays, 0.

CHARLES PLUMSTEAD,
Deputy Village Clerk.

GOOD MOVIE SHOWS AT THE TEMPLE NEXT WEEK

Gloria Swanson, who has been called the best dressed woman on the screen, further justifies this reputation in "Her Husband's Trademark," her third Paramount starring vehicle, showing at the Temple Theatre Wednesday, Oct. 11.

Miss Swanson's gorgeous array of feminine attire in this instance constitutes a necessary feature to the theme of the story. Her husband, played by Stuart Holmes, is a money-mad business man who adheres to the theory that a show of money attracts money and that a beautifully gowned wife is the best indicator of a husband's prosperity and wealth. On this false hope he overlives his income and in a final desperate effort to recoup, goes so far as to encourage a romance between his wife and old friend in hopes of obtaining a large oil contract. Finally comes the disillusionment for the wife and friend, with rather startling results. As an added attraction a comedy "Movie Fans" will be shown.

On Saturday, October 14, Jack Holt will be seen in "The Man Unconquerable." It is a story of a young American who inherited a pearl fishing business and has to do with his fights to conquer pirates who were intent on driving him out of the country. Several times during the course of the action, Holt engages in battles with his enemies, showing to good advantage his powers as a fighter. "The Fickle Fancy," a comedy which completes the bill, is said to be a farce of the first order.

Tomorrow (Saturday), Dorothy Dalton will be seen in "The Crimson Challenge."

AT THE HOWLAND, PONTIAC

Starting Monday evening, Oct. 9, the Princess Players at the Howland Theatre, Pontiac, will be seen in the well-known farce comedy "Twin Beds." This play will be presented all the week, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. It is said this comedy contains many laughable situations that will be highly amusing to the audience. Before and after the play, pictures will be shown.

Mrs. Blanche Forsyth, the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Allen of Hazel street, is suffering from an operation for appendicitis which she underwent recently. She is convalescing at her home in Detroit.

Russell Berger left last week to attend the Junior College in Detroit, where he will undertake his studies as freshman.

Sunday, Mrs. E. Abelt of Lincoln avenue, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. John Bloss of Halfway, Mich.

Mrs. Harry Bradley has returned to her home on Park street after an operation at the Pontiac City hospital. Mrs. Bradley is recovering very rapidly and is expected to be able to be around and about very soon.

Last week-end Stanley Anderson of Ypsilanti, was at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Anderson, of Oakland avenue.

The Sewing Circle of the Rebekah Lodge will repeat the home town play, "Those Husbands of Ours," at the I. O. O. F. Temple, Tuesday, Oct. 10. The play is a one-act comedy, very amusing and full of laughs.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Brennan of Bloomfield Hills, motored to Ann Arbor Sunday, where they were the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Wayne Gingrich.

Mrs. Dan Roy is very ill at her home on Oakland avenue. She has been confined to her bed for several weeks and this week her condition has become serious.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK—

THAT the city that gets the publicity gets the business. ADVERTISE!

THAT the city that gets the advertising grows. ADVERTISE!

THAT advertising a city is a business, not child's play. ADVERTISE!

THAT people will go miles to get to a good live city to trade. ADVERTISE!

THAT your property will increase in value when the outside world knows your city is wide-awake. ADVERTISE!

THAT people from neighboring cities will come where there is something doing. ADVERTISE!

THAT the city which does not seek something better than it now has, is going to lose out. ADVERTISE!

THAT now is the time your city and business need advertising more than ever before. ADVERTISE!

THAT if you don't get out and go after the outside trade, some neighboring city will. ADVERTISE!

THAT if they do, they will get the business you should get. ADVERTISE!
