A WINNING COSTUME

Hubby—I suppose you've made up your mind how you're gonna vote?
Wifey—Yes—in my black taffeta, I think.

TOWN PESTS

The Amateur Poet sometimes Pesters Editors so profusely that they Weaken and Print his Obituary Poems and such, but Whenever you See 'em in the Paper, you can bet the Gold Fillings in your Teeth that the Editor knew Better!

UNCLE HANK

There's enough ugliness in this world without leavin' your false teeth settin' around in a glass of water.

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB

Color means a lot
to me—
Now amber's sympathetic
While red and brown
just cast me down.
You see I'm so aesthetic.

SALESMANSHIP.
"Pa, what is meant by salesmanship?"
"Selling a dress suit to a man who went into a store to buy a celluloid collar."

WHAT'S THE USE.
Oh, Ethel, why don't you use your finger bowl? What's the use o' wastin' this good jam, mother, when I can lick my fingers.

PAPA'S GUESS.
What is an "escutcheon" Pop? Guess it's a tablecloth. There's usually a blot on it I know.
