Let's Sick Up.
My neighbor across the way has just moved into a house including up his premises. A few days ago the old man, wife and children were picked up and sleeping up in the bush which had accumulated during the winter. They are industrious and have set a good example, now let us go to work with a will and get ready to sleep up Birmingham. It needs renovating badly. Fix up the cell fences and sidewalks, get rid of the lumber and junk, and get the water line where it is needed, run out into our splendid sewers the surface water, and then get the old cisterns and the water closets, and let them turn down and burn up. The stylish people of the city are getting out to see us this summer, and for the Lord's sake don't let them see these things. The windows are stuffed full of old rags. The new trustees should pass an ordinance compelling all the shufflers to get up and burn up their old rags, and do some useful work. If they don't obey the ordinance, put them in the pound where they can enjoy their future beds together, and let their neighbors and playing maug. Two live men and women are worth a thousand of such. THE APRIL CENTURY.
Five pretentious illustrations and a biographical paper with two portraits find unusual pictorial interest to the April number. The front piece is a portrait of the late President of the Age of fifteen, and with the text of Dr. William Hayes Ward's essay on "Sidney Lanier, Poet," is also printed a portrait of the poet in his youth. In "Open Letters," Arthur Penn writes of "Sidney Lanier on the English Note."
In their order, the illustrated articles are: An interesting account, by E. V. Smalley, of the memories which cluster about "The White House," and the life of the illustrious statesman, the Miss Sarah Freeman Clarke's concluding paper of pen and pencil "Notes on the Felix de Dante," a description, by Edward White, of the ruins and partial impairment of "The New York City Hall," which is regarded as one of the finest architectural monuments in the metropolis; the picture of the cruise "Among the Magdalen Islands" of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, by S. G. W. Benjamin, being the third in a series of articles on the "Life of Alice May," and an important and very entertaining paper, by Fred Mather, on "Progress in Fish Culture," the picture of the picturesque island of "New Zealand in Blooming December."

STATE BOXING TOURNAMENT
A state boxing tournament will be held at the Detroit Opera house, in that city, on Monday, April 28. Richard K. Fry, proprietor of the National Police Gazette, will give a magnificent $100 gold medal for the state championship, open to all Michiganans, professional and amateur, amounting to 150 pounds, and light weight (135 pounds) or under, who are desirous of competing. The prize is offered by the Michigan State Boxing Club, and is to be given to the winner of the tournament, and it will take rank as a state championship event. All information will be furnished by Robert Wright, manager, 241 Jefferson Avenue, Detroit.

THE PUBLISHERS OF RUTLEDGE'S MONTHLY
The publishers of Rutledge's Monthly are glad to announce that their Monthly for April, amounting to $20 to the person bringing in how many words of the month, is now ready for sale. The Monthly is published in the New Testament Scriptures (not the new Revision), and is divided. The money will be forwarded to the winner April 15, 1884. Persons trying for the reward must send 30 cents in advance, in postage stamps taken, with their answer, for which they will receive the May Monthly, in which the name and address of the winner will be published, and in which several more valuable rewards will be offered. Rutledge Publishing Company, Easton, Pa.

A Blessing to Manhood
In these times when our newspapers are filled with advertisements for various "wonderful" remedies, it is gratifying to find what to procure that will certainly cure the most stubborn cases of Gonorrhea, Liver Inactive, or generally debilitated. There is nothing in the world that will cure you so quickly as the "Blessing to Manhood." It is a blessing to all men, and is sold for only 50 cents a bottle at Whitcomb & Mitchell's.

Living a New Life.
Rheumatism loves to rest in a body weighed with sin. Until the discovery of Atholpore there was but little hope for the aged who were victim of the disease. But now Mr. W. H. Camp, of Calumet, Ohio, writes "I am well of rheumatism, I was 63 years old and was getting stiff in my joints and limbs. Now I am as clear of rheumatism and stiffness as ever was in my life. Consider Atholpore the greatest and best medicine ever known."

Royal Oak.
The boys celebrated the birthday of David McDowell last Wednesday evening with brass kettle, song, and other "musical" entertainments.
Col. McLaughlin the champion wrestler of the world, made his appearance on the streets of our little village last Friday. A number of our boys are talking about challenging him. Surely he has lots of "goose" here.
