Convenience Outlets

WHEN planning a new home, or considerably changes in your present residence, it will be well to remember that much of the comfort of a home depends on the facilities provided for switching on the current in the different places where you may desire to use it.

Convenience outlets (small sockets in wall or floor) should be provided in every room; especially should they be found in dining room, living room and kitchen, in order that you may conveniently utilize the different electrical appliances that make modern housework so easy and pleasant a task.

Convenience outlets add nothing to your electric bill when not in use—and very little then. Speak to your electrical contractor about this.

Theatres

Attractions At Baldwin Theatre, Royal Oak, Next Week

Next Sunday, June 29th, Richard Talmadge in "Danger Ahead" will be the principal film feature at the popular Baldwin Theatre. A Mack Sennett comedy and the Pathe Review together with a special program of three selected vaudeville acts will complete the bill.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, June 30, July 1 and 2, a film version of Owen Davis' melo-dramatic hit, "Nellie the Beautiful Cloak Model" will be the main feature with a Snub Pollard comedy and the Pathe News as added attractions. Amateurs will be presented on Tuesday night in addition to the above features.

For the holiday bill, July 3, 4 and 5, Thomas Meighan will be seen in his latest Paramount feature, "The Confidence Man," with amateurs on Thursday evening and a vaudeville program of three high class acts to be presented on Friday and Saturday. The performance will run continuous on Friday, July 4th, from 2:30 in the afternoon until 11 p.m. at night.

Colleen Moore in "Through the Dark" and other features will be seen for the final times tonight and tomorrow.

Comedy Drama "Secrets"

At The Garrick Theatre.

That exquisite comedy drama, "Secrets," from the pens of Rudolph Beiser and May Edington will be the offering of the Bonstelle Company at the Garrick next week, beginning Monday night.

It is a delightful play in which the younger generation objects strenuously to the "bullying" which they claim has chained their mother to their invalid father's side. But more fortunate than they, the audience is taken back through the years to see how love taught Mary Carlton to say, "Yes, John." Perhaps the thing is best told in the words of Dr. Arbuthnot in the prologue, "Every marriage is a mystery. People come and tell their secrets to a doctor, but often there are certain things about every marriage known only to one man and one woman—one man and one woman."

"Secrets" affords the Bonstelle players many unusual opportunities as they are called upon to portray a wide range of periods, extending over many years and the cast includes particularly attractive roles for Katherine Alexander. It is a play of intimate delights mixed with romance and tears, thrills and sighs, a perfect evening's entertainment for all. Detroiters by those who visit the city during the holiday week of July Fourth.

"Judgment Of the Storm" At The Royal Theatre, Royal Oak, Sunday

"Judgment of the Storm," the first Palmer Photoplay. Corporation production, which is presented at the Royal Theatre, next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, is not only an unusual story in itself, but the manner of its selection weaves a little separate romance around it. The choice for the first Palmer production among several stories of high merit had practically been made when the "dark horse" entered the race, and won!

The editor-in-chief and one of the critics of the Palmer Advisory Bureau, brought forward the new arrival, which was written by Mrs. Ethel Styles Middleton of Pittsburgh, Pa. "Judgment of the Storm" was Mrs. Middleton's fifth attempt, and it had been revised four times before it was turned over to the board which was to choose the story for the first Palmer production. It was so outstandingly meritorious that it was chosen immediately!

A flash of fiery defiance here; a roguish, taunting smile there; a play of swiftly changing moods, always volatile and fleeting—a tempering of with dramatic fire. That's Constance Talmadge in the First National picture, "The Dangerous Maid," which is to be shown at the Royal Theatre, Royal Oak, next Wednesday and Thursday. In this picture Miss Talmadge essays her first big dramatic role and those who see it will wonder why she has never played in the more serious type roles before.

Her latest production proves conclusively that Constance Talmadge is both a comedienne and a dramatic artist of the first rank. There are touches of the old whimsical, madcap Constance in "The Dangerous Maid," but there are long sequences in which Constance rivals her famous sister, Norma, in the delineation of the many tense situations.

OBITUARY

Bert Cockerline.

Bert Cockerline, formerly of Birmingham, passed away at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Cockerline of Highland Park, last Saturday morning. Death was caused by cancer. He is survived by his parents, two sisters, Della of Highland Park and Irene of Detroit, and a brother, Harry of Pierce street.

The Masonic Lodge of Birmingham was in charge of the services. Burial took place Monday afternoon in the Greenwood Cemetery. Rev. Williamson of St. George Episcopal church of Detroit officiated.

The Baldwin is now on its summer schedule of prices but the quality of the program will still be evident as in the past. With the Baldwin's complete cooling system, patrons are assured of a clean, cool, comfortable evening's amusement at all times.

The Noonday Club, an organization composed of the business women of the town, meets weekly at the Community House for luncheon and a discussion of topics both vital and interesting to the women in the business world. The officers of the club consist of Esther Smith, president; Helen Mix, vice-president; Rachel Stratton, treasurer, and Thelma Morrow, secretary.

Miss Alta Simons presided as hostess at the luncheon last Tuesday. Her topic was, "What Would You Rather Be?" The luncheon committee consisted of Miss Dorothy Cornell and Miss Thelma Morrow.

The Noonday Club, made up of about twenty regular members, and bound together only by friendship, has in the last year made a creditable showing of its managing ability along both financial and social lines.

DISSOLUTION NOTICE

The H. G. Field Construction Company was incorporated in 1916 for the purpose of engaging in a general contracting business, painting and decorating; and the retail sale of wall paper, paints, and builders' supplies. Inasmuch as we are no longer in the contracting and decorating business, the above business having been succeeded by "The Field Furniture Shop," whose principal business is the sale of furniture, new and antique, and the repairing and refinishing of furniture; it was decided at a recent meeting of the stockholders of the H. G. Field Construction Co. to dissolve the corporation. We are hereby announcing to our friends and patrons that we are taking steps to complete this dissolution, and we wish to advise that the entire indebtedness of the H. G. Field Construction Company will be assumed by H. George Field, who is the principal stockholder of the above corporation.

Thanking you for your many favors and courtesies, we beg to remain,

Yours very truly,

H. G. FIELD CONSTRUCTION CO.
