CURRENT TOPICS:

They evade the liquor law in Kansas in the way. The stuff is kept in a dark room of a detached house, which is kept locked. The owner is contentedly near, and hands out the stuff to a man who sits alone and drops the money to pay for his drink in a box. Then he wipes up his money and goes to a dining citizen. Once in a while a man goes in who tries to drink out the establishment without paying for it; but such offenders are not regarded as gentlemen in good society circles.

Prof. Many Miles of Amberst, Mass., and formerly of the Michigan Agricultural college, with a number of his students, has arrived in the state and will begin a systematic investigation of the peach industry in Western Michigan. He will first go to Allegan village and across the country to Douglas and Saugatuck; from there he will be taken to South Haven and remain seven days with the local horticultural society. He will then return to Allegan of the time in western Van Buren county with A. C. Glidden, C. Engle and Judge Lawton. It is the first study of the disease which has never been undertaken in our state.

Three young Charlebas, graduates of the school at Clark barracks, returned recently to the reservation at San Carlos, and appear to have been given their attention to the duties of the glory of dupe trousers, derby hats, high collar and stylish walking sticks. The Charlebas are the kind of boys whose names are so often mentioned in the Arizona and New Mexico localities. But his high state of civilization which these Indian boys so rapidly reach is, perhaps, the reason why they are so often mentioned by the fact that they promptly requested, according to the Globe-Chronicle, to be put on the government's roll for pay and rations.

Elizabeth Faby, who died recently near N. Y. aged six years, was born without ears and without apertures where her ears should have been. He was able, however, to gather sound through his mouth, and could have conversation that was carried on in an ordinary tone. His hair was black at birth, but was interchanged with olive-shaded gray spots, some of which were on his nose, ears and hands. These singular marks never changed, and his black hair never turned gray. He had fourteen children. The oldest, aged six, has a gray hair on his forehead, his hair being as black as coal, while the youngest, aged 13, is as gray as a man of 70.

David Whitmer of Richmond who claims to be the one of three persons who give the angel's voice to Joseph Smith, and to possess the only manuscript copy of the plates, made by Smith himself and the prophet's son Joseph, together with several of the prominent Mormons, are now engaged in making a careful comparison of the Book of Mormon now in use, with Whitmer's manuscript. It is said that the result of the effect should any discrepancies be discovered, and it is not probable that it would make any difference if they were, for the most obstinate doctrine of the church, that relating to the practice of polygamy, had no place in the book given to Joseph Smith.

Certainly it does not often happen that the men from any country living in this land get such good advice from a man who was given the name of the new Ambassador now in this country, to a company of his compatriots. He said to them: Keep out of American politics, they are a whirlpool in which the swimmer is always drowned, and which the Americans understand just as little as you do. Attend to your business carefully and conscientiously, and never lose heart, for the people of this country are not so ignorant as the citizens of this metropolis know how honest and capable our race is. They will do everything that, however superior they may be to us, is in our way of thought, we still care for them, though in the long run they will be the losers.

It is reported that Lieut. Danenower, of the ill-fated Jeannette expedition, has expressed his willingness to be executed by the natives. It is easy to understand how men with all the fire of holy patriotism and love for kindred in their being will brave the greatest danger for their country or to save the lives of their kindred; but it is not so easy to understand why men who have once risked their lives, that frozen region will willingly sacrifice their lives in their hands, and turn again almost certain death. It is not plain to deliberative people how a man can sever all the ties of nature and have the heart to die in a hostile water simply to show his devotion to science. Such a feeling is not patriotism, not a reckless spirit of daring.

The Iowa state prohibition law, which went into effect recently, caught a good many of the distillers there with large stocks of whisky. The law is so strict that it is not possible to have the provision of the law prohibited the shipment of liquor to any other state, and in order to evade that it was necessary to transport the whisky to some other state to export it. This in fact was their only resort, and for the last several days they have been shipping to Wisconsin, at the rate of two carloads per day. The liquor is kept in the cars, and is virtually in bond, and will remain in such arrangements can be made to re-ship to New York. The collector against all these shipments is expected to be a good for the amount of the duty, so as to indemnify the government in case the whisky should be sold in Canada.

"MICHIGAN BY MICHIGAN."

ORIGINATED BY A TRAMP.

Another Crime Added to Local County's Long List.

The latest crime from Lapeere county is one of the most atrocious ever committed in this county. It is the case of a man named Kimball, living at two miles on Sunday evening, and was shot by a party of men who had been drinking at his place. The man was shot in the back, and the bullet entered his spine. He was taken to the hospital, but died the next day. The man who shot him was named John Doe, and was arrested by the police. He is now in jail, and will be tried for the murder of Kimball.

The Lapeere county Baptist church, which was organized in 1850, has recently purchased a new building. The building is a fine structure, and is well adapted for the purposes of the church. The cost of the building was $10,000, and was paid for by the contributions of the members of the church. The building was dedicated on the 1st of July, and is now open for the use of the congregation.

The Hillsdale county savings bank has organized in Hillsdale with a paid up capital of $100,000. The bank is well capitalized, and is well managed. It has a number of branches, and is doing a large business. The bank was organized by a group of men who were interested in the welfare of the community. They felt that a savings bank was needed in Hillsdale, and they organized the bank to meet this need.
