can not play as I used to play
When life seemed a bright spring noor for ever my listless fingers stray Mid the trembling chords of a mournful
And my heartstrings beat in tune
With the wailing notes of the sad refrain M'Never again, ob, never sgain;

I can never laugh as once I laughed, In glad ripples, clear and low; Too long of Sorrow's cup have I quaffed, And butter and deep hav been the draught, And constant has been the flow: So my gayest laugh has a uninor tone Which tells that the floul of Mirth is gone.
