

ROYAL OAK RUMBLING

EDITED AND CONDUCTED BY ARTHUR W. CAMPBELL.

Subscriptions in Advance and Advertisements Contracted for in this Paper by the Agent, Arthur W. Campbell, of Royal Oak.

Autumn leaves. Saturday was a scorcher. How do you enjoy pumpkin pies?

Revering meetings at the Congregational church. John Schliskey is the happy father of a brain new baby girl.

Miss Della McWhorter has been spending a short time at Mr. Briggs' Detroit. A Dearborn man has a pear tree which has borne two distinct crops the past season.

M. Collins has put a culvert in the front of his house, which makes his place look far better.

A man by the name of Darrow now occupies the six-mile house, which has been fitted up nicely on the inside.

A couple of couples of Detroit people pulled up. Matthew Grammett and Sabath, and agent, in their fashion, a joyful day.

One man says that every day like Saturday means ten bushels more corn than to feed his pigs this winter.

How lucky he is; we suppose he refers to the weather. A lot of Detroit "do-funnys" let loose their glaze in J. B. Graw's brick and tile yard recently, and when they got through the remnants of so small amount of the lay strewn upon the ground.

A young people's literary society was formed at the M. E. parlance last Tuesday evening. The second meeting took place at Miss Maria Knowler's last Friday evening. A good membership has been secured.

Last week Sunday Walter Stiff was priming his gun. By some reason not explained to us, the weapon managed to get off, blowing Walter's face full of powder, and especially filling his eyes. It was for a long time thought he would lose his eyesight, but his safe recovery is now expected.

Standard time has been quite generally adopted in the village, and the school is running by it. It is fun to listen to some of the remarks caused by misunderstanding the time. But the worst of all is that we don't have our meals within half an hour of the usual time, and it is fearful had to wait.

Rev. Mr. Barker has as we intimated last week, awakened sufficient interest to carry on a series of meetings, which are now in progress at the Congregational church. It would be well for every church going and church believing person who can, to attend these meetings, for our notion is that the churches are in as great a need of spiritual awakening as many who have nothing to do with them. But that is no excuse for the latter class and they are earnestly requested to attend.

A grand pumpkin pie concert at the M. E. church, Tuesday, even., Oct. 6, beginning at 7:15, standard time, will, be given to the benefit of the church. Tickets for sale at the church and by members of the society. Adults, 15 cents; children, 10 cents.

A T. was Centipede. The centipede is not a pretty insect. He runs too much to legs. Once I thought them of no use, but after seeing a lot of little Christiania Indians passing pumpkin pies from their hands and greedily devouring them, I can raise a blister on a man's body quicker than a red-hot iron, and you can't immediately apply a remedy that position of piously prickly pear and sourcery is not a very healthy one.

—which latter is warranted to kill anything but an army mule—the result being a blister on a man's body quicker than a red-hot iron, and you can't immediately apply a remedy that position of piously prickly pear and sourcery is not a very healthy one.

—and at the base of each lance is a tiny sack of venom. If a centipede crawls across your body—which he most likely do if you lie down anywhere within a half-mile of him—you have to be careful in following him, and you will remember his visit for weeks. No man ever died from the bite of a centipede, but I have known one to bite a man with his head.—Cor. Fairchild's Times.

"Maryland, My Maryland." From Mrs. Burton Harrison's Recollections of a Virginia Girl in the First Year of the War, we quote the following as to the origin of some of the Confederate war songs: "It was at this time, after a supper and the departure of the 'Maryland line' of Fairfax, that the afterwards universal war-song, 'Maryland, My Maryland,' was set to music by the title of army fover. We were sitting outside a tent in the warm straggling of an early autumn night, when a message was proposed. At once we struck up Randall's verses to the tune of the old college song, 'Lauriger Horatius,' a young lady of the party from Maryland, a cousin of our host, having been set to this music before leaving home to share the fortunes of the Confederacy. All joined in the singing, and when we finished a burst of applause came from under soldiers sitting in the darkness behind a belt of trees. Next day the melody was hummed far and near through the camps, and in due time it had gained and held the place of favorite song in the army. Next day the hand-cuffed would have gotten hold of it, but, from first to last, during the continuation of Confederacy, we were so fearful of instruments of torture were missing. (I hesitate to mention this fact, but I have seen an inventive to other nations to go to war.) Other songs sung that evening, which afterwards had a great vogue, were one beginning by one Pataspoo's 'lily-bell daisy,' arranged by us to an air from the opera 'L'italiana in Algeri,' and the 'years glide slowly by, Lovers' which having a queer little quivering triplets in the refrain, was taken as a piratical to the unwary singer. 'Stonewall Jackson's Way' came to the scene afterwards, later in the war."

BRUMMIT, AGAIN.

It is about a year now since I wrote an advertisement. Not because I have nothing to say, but because I really think that there is not a more complete gallery in Michigan. Now about BABIES' PICTURES. If there is a lady in this county that I don't make a good many orders from people who, strange as it may seem, will give an order to a perfect stranger and pay half as much again as they can get better work for here at home. It is about as though. I should send to Toledo to buy a crack of butter or a spring chicken, but such is life.

I have just had painted by the best background painter in the United States, six new and beautiful backgrounds, and I bought some new accessories at Cincinnati, and I really think that there is not a more complete gallery in Michigan.
