Bo BROADWAY

New York.—The Sandy Hook route to resorts along the New Jersey coast once drew its patrons from Wall Street and Fifth Avenue. Back when McKinley was running for president, Mark Hanna used to hold daily morning conferences with various political bigwigs on the Sandy Hook boats coming up to New York from his summer home. It was known then as "The Millionaires' Ferry."

It's all changed since prohibition bestowed money on the wrong kind of people. The gang that once upon a time was satisfied with a trip from the tenements to Coney Island on the Iron Steamboats now are living in pretentious apartments over towns, with all the leisure they want. Their mode of life is different but they're the same noisy crowd and they jostle and elbow their way aboard the Sandy Hook steamers with the confidence of men and women who have the world by the tail.

Sandwich and coffee bars have been installed on the boats to meet the plebian demands of the new clientele. The appointments, once immaculate, are going to seed. Decks and passageways are strewn with waste paper, discarded lunch box fragments, orange peel and peanut shells.

I have nothing against Old Hoi Polloi grown rich; but I maintain he doesn't make an ideal traveling companion.

ON A SANDY HOOK BOAT

It was on he steamer Sandy Hook. Armed with camp stools they planted themselves on the upper deck directly in front of me. Pop removed his coat. The wind was blowing from his direction and Pop was perspiring with democratic affability and puffing contentedly at a wild onion panatella. The kids squalled and fought. Mama yapped. A chocolate vender came by contributing his insistent obligato.

A rain squall drove us all below deck. When it had cleared we emerged again. I waited until I saw them all comfortably ensconced to leeward before I sought a starboard haven. Later a rainbow spanned the heavens, linking two horizons—as lovely a rainbow as ever slipped from the Hand of God.

Mama caught sight of it and with a whoop leaped to her feet to take full charge. She waddled across to starboard, with an "Ex-koos, pliss!" to the man whose chair she overturned, and leaning heavily on the rail conducted a solitary Ah-and-Oh Party before dragging one of her infantile brood from its pop bottle, hard-boiled eggs and nut chocolate.

"See de rainbow, dolink. What's is de colors?"

Dolink blinked with fish-eyed lassitude at the subtle hues and lisped a sticky verdict:

"Dod's right, Pet," beamed Mama; "red and blue and pink."

Dolink tugged free to resume its orgy but Mama continued to gaze on the rainbow with the rapture that only a broad-beamed bootlegger's wife could muster.

Finally she could contain herself no longer and turned to me:

"Gee, mister," she heaved, "nin't dot sweet!"

THE HEART OF NEW YORK

The legs of a pigeon became tangled in three feet of string on a building at Fifth Avenue and 42nd street and within a minute a crowd that blocked the sidewalk had gathered to watch the fluttering captive. A cop halted traffic in all directions at the city's busiest corner while he left his post and freed the bird amid the cheers of the throng.

That's what's known and honored as "The Heart of New York"—the same heart to which the Society for the Prevention of the Cruelty to Animals appeals not to kick Fido and Tabby out into the street when leaving for the annual vacation.

There are no figures to show the number of cats and dogs carried by motor into Westchester and Long Island and there deserted. But for several weeks now and right up to fall the S. P. C. A. wagons will trail about the city picking up daily an average of 2,000 deserted cats and dogs.

"The Heart of New York"—eh, wot, wot!

See us about that needed bathroom

It might as well be admitted—most houses need more bathrooms. But most home owners don't know costs or space requirements; so they can't decide whether that needed extra bathroom is really a possibility or not.

Why not let us do the measuring and figuring? We'll put the whole plan down in black and white for you to pass on—and not charge you for estimating, either. If you want the best work, finest fixtures (we sell the famous Kohler Ware), and fair and square prices, see us.

FLORIDA BEAUTY KNOWS HER BUGS

Eventually Miss Margaret Campbell will rout bugs and insects, but, for the present, she's busily laying plans to rout contestants in a state beauty contest to be held at West Palm Beach, Fla. She is a student of bacteriology at the Florida State College for Women.

DO YOU KNOW—

If You Don't, You Auto!!

THAT when traveling at 40 miles per hour you can't stop under 60 feet?

THAT the average Highway is about 30 feet?

THAT you must stop before crossing or entering a Main Trunk Line Highway?

THAT you must drive so as to be able to stop "within the assured clear distance ahead"?

THAT you must move over as far as practicable when the car behind sounds his horn?

THAT your safety as well as the driver behind, depends on your extending your hand way out beyond the side of your car BEFORE YOU START to turn or stop?

THAT when intending to make a right hand turn you should move over to the right side of the road—THEN SIGNAL so the man behind can slow down and drive around you instead of into you?

THAT when an automobile goes through the business portion of your Home Town at 40 to 50 miles per hour, that your Home Paper would not print what you say under your breath, and the same rule applies when you do so in the other fellow's Town—but you are both right even though the Paper will not print it. (A few special words for the occasion will be supplied on personal request).

THAT the State Law specifies 20 miles per hour as the maximum safe speed where the cross streets are 300 to 400 feet apart, of course when that law was passed they overlooked the fact that YOU had been born or they would have made an exception in your case you are such a superior operator, then the officers would not have to write you up in order to perform their duties for which your taxes pay (or your fines).

THAT all of the imbeciles, fools, and drunks have not been killed in traffic accidents for they as a rule are lucky, and you may meet one coming over that hill or around that curve—slow down—keep way over to the right, don't cross the yellow line, for their luck may hold but you may go to the hospital or the morgue, that is where 297 of your friends in this state went the first four months of this year.

THAT the crossed boards with Stop, Look, Listen or the words Railroad Crossing on, means that there are some steel rails crossing the road and the planking may be uneven or a plank missing, if you insist on crossing without slowing down your head may puncture a hole through the roof of your car just in time to see a train, weighing thousands of tons which usually use those rails arriving there at the same time, and you go right on up through the Pearly Gates. 2,568 did that last year, and do not depend on the remnants of your car for assets to help bury you for it costs more to pick up the pieces than your family can get for it as scrap iron.

A new high-speed machine is capable of packing 85,000 cigarettes an hour.

Diplomatic Record

Unparalleled in American or any other diplomatic circles, it is believed, is the record of Richard Sprague and his late father and grandfather. Together, they have held the consul-generalship for the United States at Gibraltar for 98 years. The present consul-general has been in office 28 years. He is visiting in Washington.

MILLIONTH CAR GOES TO DETROIT

Chevrolet Establishes Production Record In First Eight Months

Detroit, Aug. 14.—One million six cylinder Chevrolets have been placed on the road since the first of te year.

This announcement was made at the central offices of the company here today as assembly plants in various parts of the country were operating on the biggest summer schedule in the history of Chevrolet.

Never in the history of the industry has any other manufacturer equalled the achievement of placing a million six cylinder cars on the road in less than eight months. According to observers, this is more than three times as many six cylinder cars as were ever produced by a manufacturer during a like period.

The record-making model rolled off the assembly line at the Flint plant Aug. 5. It happened to be a sedan—the new Imperial sedan, introduced a few weeks ago. The record-breaker was welcomed at the end of the assembly line by W. S. Knudsen, president, and other high Chevrolet officials.

Without any ceremony the car left the plant for Detroit where it will be presented as one of the exhibits that are to be a part of the Chevrolet sales convention Aug. 14-15-16. The entire Chevrolet sales supervisory force of nearly 2,000 men will be on hand for the biggest convention of its kind ever held by the company.
