School Boys Attend

Undoubtedly the biggest musical event of the season, the affair also is expected to attract social leaders not only of Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills but several Detroit and Grosse Pointe parties are expected to attend. Fifty boys from the Cranbrook School for Boys also will hear the concert, a special section having been reserved for them.

Mr. Gabrilowitsch's program, an excellently balanced collection of compositions by masters of the pianoforte will be certain to attract music lovers in Birmingham and the Hills. The inclusion of the Schumann sonata and the aforementioned Chopin compositions will be of particular interest because of the pianist's renown as an interpreter of the works of these musical romanticists.

Born in Leningrad in 1878, Mr. Gabrilowitsch's musical talents were discovered when he was still a boy. He studied at the Petrograd Conservatory under the great Anton Rubenstein and later under the famous Leschetizky in Vienna. He was awarded the famous Rubenstein medal soon afterwards and in 1896 made his professional debut in Berlin. After extensive tours throughout Europe he came to the United States in 1900.

Will Direct Traffic

In 1909 he married Clara Clemens, daughter of the famous American humorist, Samuel Clemens, known as Mark Twain. In 1917 he introduced himself to American audiences as a conductor and in 1918 was chosen to direct the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

A special detail of police to handle the crowds and traffic at the Community House has been arranged by Chief of Police John P. Hackett. A few tickets for the recital have been placed on sale at Shain's drug store.

Patrons and patronesses for the affair are: Mr. and Mrs. George G. Booth, Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Booth, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Booth, Mr. and Mrs. James Beresmen in Detroit, there were found to be 85,000, many of whose families are brought to the brink of tragedy by their destitution.

Savings for the industrialists by the invention of new machinery and by consolidation with no corresponding savings for the working man, and the over-equipping of factories are two great causes of unemployment, Mr. Gray stated. Group insurance would tend greatly to reduce the dangers of unemployment, he believes. "The most important factors in the present degressing situation are idle factories, idle capital, and idle men," Mr. Gray said in conclusion. "The idleness of men who wish to work is the most dangerous surplus that can exist in any country."

Nineteen Hi-Y clubs of the county were represented by 131 boys at the banquet and meeting. Richard Ellerby, of the Baldwin High School, led the groups in prayers to begin the ceremonies. After dinner, Melvin C. Hart directed community singing. A. W. Berndt, teacher of instrumental music in the Birmingham Public Schools, accompanied by his wife, played several cornet solos.

The meeting was closed with a talk given by the Rev. Robert M. Atkins, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Birmingham, on the subject of "New Endeavors." "The best leader of men," Mr. Atkins said, "is he who best understands life and who is willing to dedicate himself without cost to the common cause and the common humanity."

as intentional, he would uphold the original decision and also award a similar decision to the Baldwin team.

"In meeting the request of the Birmingham High School that some redress be given them because of this violation," Mr. Densmore said, "it has been decided to allow Ann Arbor's decision of a two-to-one vote to remain and to award a similar decision to Birmingham High School. This decision has been reached because it is our opinion that the violation of the Constitution was made on the spur of the moment by one of the Ann Arbor High School debaters. We believe that such a penalty as taking the decision away from Ann Arbor would be too severe and that this punishment would fall upon the shoulders of the high school pupil who, although he did violate the Constitution was nevertheless carried away on the spur of the moment in his enthusiasm."

The meeting between Baldwin and Saginaw Eastern tomorrow will be the first between the two schools and the same trio that represented Birmingham in the first preliminary debate last week probably will take the platform tomorrow, Mr. Correvont said.

Birmingham again will have the negative side of the question: "Resolved: That National chain grocery stores operating in the State of Michigan are detrimental to the people of the state." The members of the Baldwin team who opposed Ann Arbor are Phyllis Huston, Trowbridge Gail and Joseph Huston.

Professor Frederick B. McKay of Michigan State Normal College will be the judge of the debate. Cranneil Tolliver is the debate coach of the Saginaw Eastern team.

GARDENERS HEAR PEACE WORK PLAN

A. L. Lamond Tells Of Int'l Peace Garden Project At Meeting

At the monthly meeting of the Bloomfield Hills and District Horticultural Society members of the club heard a very interesting talk given by A. L. Lamond who discussed the progress being made with plans for the establishment of an International Peace Garden on the boundary between the United States and Canada to commemorate the amicable relations that have existed between the two nations. Mr. Lamond was one of the 500 delegates from the United States at the annual convention of the National Association of Gardeners which was held in Washington, D. C., last month.

According to Lamond this admirable scheme of symbolizing peace between the two countries first occurred to Henry J. Moore of Islington, Ontario. He in turn introduced his proposal to the National Association of Gardeners who accepted the responsibility of fostering this immense pacifist project.

The International Committee of the Peace Garden is made up of such prominent members as Mrs. Henry Ford, Lady Eaton, Hon. Alfred E. Smith, Sir Henry Thornton, and Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington.

In the absence of the president James Rugerson, A. V. Dennis presided at the meeting. James Gallogie was awarded 60 points on chrysanthemums and B. Beggren, gardener at W. O. Briggs' estate, was given 75 points.
