THE DREAM OF PATSY CHAPTER III The next morning Patsy was startled from a profound sleep by a tremendous peal of the doorbell...

"What is the matter with Patsy?" "Oh, my poor girl! Have you had a doctor?" "No, Miss! I got to go to school..."

"Dear little lady!" "I'm trying to keep back the tears... Here, Jim, take your keys to the school..."

"I passed for in my grief I could think of no simple way of telling that general little child what was the matter..."
