HOME NOTES.

It does not beat all what a modest, retiring, bashful fellow that Jos Stockwell is.

Band dance. Blakeley & Co are moving.

Lost on Saturday, March 28, 1885, between 'Ark' Blakeley's store and skating rink...

Lymon Lyndon, a pioneer of Rochester, is in a critical condition from gangrene...

New York Mail and Express Magistrate to prisoner—'Why did you leave the town?'...

Julius Benedict has visited our streets on Tuesday. Cows bellowed, horses barked...

Julius Benedict and his Goldenrod horse, Golden Fearnought, to Ben Stanley of Detroit...

Miss Etha Fuller and Miss Lella Wickham of Detroit were the welcome guests of Mrs. Mitchell...

Harrison Benedict has 1500 pounds of choice white honey for sale...

Mr. Ed White and family have moved to Pontiac, where they will reside for the future.

G. M. Towbridge and family are welcomed back to their farm home in Oakland county.

Our boys and girls now go to Pontiac for their skating, pool tables and other refreshments.

Miss Cliff Howard of Pontiac has been the guest of friends in town.

New maple sugar, fresh oranges, lemons, figs, nuts and confectionery at J. R. Corson, Jr. & Co's.

If you have any job printing you want done, bring it here and Hoffman will give you satisfaction.

The new skating rink near the corner of Fremont and Pierce streets, looks as if it was rapidly becoming an assured fact.

Levi Woooster of Clyde, Mich., returned to his home last week after a very pleasant visit with his relatives in this vicinity.

Married, at the residence of the bride's parents in Troy, Mr. Francis Paul and Miss Helen C. Halsey, Dec. G. W. Lowe officiating.

Weddings of late are so numerous that the editors of this sheet are living on the top shelf in great style.

Don't forget to peruse 'Ark' Blakeley's new ad. this week.

The finest line of wall papers in mica, gills and common papers and ceiling decorations ever shown in this town...

We were lately allowed to look through the studio of Mrs. E. Leonard, and saw many rare and artistic paintings...

'Lines on Spring' respectfully declined.

Our one night school at the Birminghams last Saturday night was completely broken up.

The edition of The Century Magazine is now so large that it has become necessary either to go to press at an earlier date or to postpone it.
