My New York

by JAMES ASWELL

By Central Press

NEW YORK—Wide-eyed wandering: Queensborough Bridge at 7 P. M. of a holiday is a writhing coil of Manhattan. . . . Motorists with sun-scorched foreheads and noses honk and press their cars homeward. . . . The big apartment houses along the East River blink yellow eyes at tired holidayers returning to forage in ice-boxes for cold cuts and milk. . . . Or a fizzle of beer. . . . Traffic on the bridge moves in short rushes and slow trickles: a lone pedestrian stands at the rail watching swirling water and Welfare, the prison island. . . . Contemplating a leap? . . . Two harassed cops squint at the loiterer expertly and decide he's no prospective suicide. . . .

James Aswell

You forge across the bridge toward a brave rush of tall towers and yellow-glowing parapets, swerve through a traffic detour toward First avenue and a sudden swarm of tenements. . . . I wonder why the song-writers who have hymned the drama of rivers don't take a look at some of the big bridges. . . . Symbolism for the masses, too. . . . A march toward glory that brings up in a slum.

. . . The George Washington Bridge is majestic, but it hasn't the mellow swarming life of Queensborough or Brooklyn Bridge. . . .

SLEEPING GUNS

Few realize that the most powerful of New York's coast defenses is Fort Hancock, in New Jersey. . . . There long-range disappearing guns defend the southern entrance to New York, and anti-aircraft muzzles point to the sky. . . . I am told that, despite the legend that the city would be well nigh helpless under an air or sea onslaught, actually the enemy could be given a run for its money. . . .

The trouble with defending any world capital, says a military man I know, is that guns become obsolete so quickly as inventions lengthen ranges and improve range-finding. . . . He adds that while the city could hold out a while against attack, several more millions could make it a stronghold of American defense. . . . Actually, New York has not been invaded since the War of 1812. . . . A few years ago Fort Hamilton, in Brooklyn, was considered the key defensive position overlooking entrance to the harbor.

STRANGE WARES

East Hudson is one of the city's tinkliest medleys. . . . Many races teem in the side-streets which slice this thoroughfare, once part of the city's gayest night life on the lower East Side. . . . Hungarian residents predominate and Teddy Roosevelt, as police commissioner—when headquarters were on Mulberry street—used to dine at Little Hungary, a favorite eatery of those times. . . .

Dried mushrooms are piled high in the shop windows of a half-dozen streets. . . . There is no more dispiriting fare in its uncooked state and none more savory properly prepared. . . . Here and there scarlet feathers dangle from store fronts, announcing that bedding supplies are on sale. . . . In East Third street is the headquarters for hand-made brooms and brushes. . . . Your reporter gets a wallop out of dropping into cubby-hole restaurants and often finds curious gastronomic adventures. . . . The salami in a gloomy tavern in the heart of the Ghetto was superior to any consumed in the tonier jernts uptown. . . .

James To Aid Study Of Sewage Problem

Bloomfield Mayor Named By Comstock To Serve On Metropolitan Water Committee

Mayor Donald D. James of Bloomfield Hills has been appointed by Governor William A. Comstock to serve on a committee to draft plans for a sewage disposal and water supply system to serve the entire metropolitan Detroit area. The plans would be submitted to Washington, along with an application for PWA funds with which to construct the system.

Other members of the committee are Hale G. Knight, Grosse Ile, chairman; Mason P. Rumney, Grosse Pointe, Frederick G. Beattie, Detroit, and Fred Zeder, Hamtramck.

The Governor asked Mr. Knight to call the committee together as soon as possible, and made $2,500 available for expenses. A sewage disposal and water supply system serving the waterfront area from Port Huron to Gibraltar will probably be approved by PWA officials "if properly submitted," the Governor said, predicting a federal grant of 30 per cent of the cost.

More than 2,000,000 persons would benefit from the system, construction of which would provide much-needed jobs for some of the state's unemployed, besides relieving a serious menace to health, the Governor added.

"This is a community, state and international problem," he said. "The sewage pollution of the waters constituting the international boundary of Southeastern Michigan is a serious menace to public health, public water supplies, bathing beaches and riparian rights, and is in admitted contravention of international treaty obligations."

BLOOMFIELD VILLAGE SCHOOL OPENS MONDAY

ANNUAL METHODIST CONFERENCE PLANNED

The annual session of the Detroit Methodist Conference will open next Wednesday in the Jefferson Avenue Church, Saginaw, which the Rev. R. D. Wylie Groves is the alternate lay delegate.

'PETE' HOLLOWAY GETS TERM IN IONIA PRISON

Pleading guilty to his third offense as a disorderly person in slightly more than a year, Homer "Pete" Holloway, 31 years old, of 544 West Brown street, was sentenced this week to serve three months to two years in Ionia Prison by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

According to Detective Earl Moody of the Birmingham police department, Holloway was arrested here on a drunk and disorderly charge Aug. 20, only two days after completing a 30-day sentence in the County Jail on a similar charge.

Air Travel Progress Related By Speaker

Progress of airplane lines throughout the United States, with special motion pictures depicting preparations and plans for a 20-hour transcontinental flight, were presented to Birmingham Rotarians Monday noon at the Community House by Don Wilson, representative of United Air Lines, Inc. Mr. Wilson was introduced by Harry Bissett, program chairman.

Mr. Wilson gave an excellent talk on his subject, later answering many questions. He revealed that air transportation in this country has made tremendous strides in the past few years, and pointed out that one may now leave Detroit at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, arriving in San Francisco at 7 o'clock the next morning. The fare for this trip is $126 one way.

CHURCH NEARS CLOSE OF CONFERENCE YEAR

This Sunday will be the last of the conference year at the First Methodist Church, and a special service is planned at 11 A. M. in recognition of the ending of the vacation period and of the closing of the current year. The pastor, the Rev. Dr. R. D. Hopkins, will preach on "Building a Living Church."

A special committee has been at work attempting to bring all pledges to the current and benevolent funds of the church up to date. G. A. Ziegler is chairman of this committee. All regular activities of the church will be resumed this Sunday, including classes in the church school, and the intermediate and senior Epworth League groups.

TAXI DRIVER FINED FOR SPEEDING WHILE DRUNK

A Detroit taxi driver was arrested for drunk driving Friday afternoon by Bloomfield Hills police who said he was travelling south on Woodward avenue at 80 miles an hour. The driver was Enos D. Jewell, 32 years old, of 2211 Delaware avenue, Detroit, and he was fined $50 by Justice H. Augustus O'Dell.

Joseph Manning 34, of 2445 Fourteenth street, Detroit, a passenger with Jewell, was fined $10 for being drunk. Manning is a dye maker.

Five Birmingham Tots Win Awards At Michigan Fair

Birmingham youngsters are a lusty lot, judging from the number of prizes won by local boys and girls in the "Better Babies Contest" Saturday at the Michigan State Fair, Detroit. With a total of 655 babies from all over the state entered in the contest, no less than five healthy young Birminghamites were listed among the prize-winners.

In the section for babies from cities and towns of 2,500 to 10,000 population, first prize for girls 36 to 48 months old was won by Cynthia Hadley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Hadley, 18321 Riverside drive, Beverly Hills. Second prize in the same division went to Carolyn Esther Hardig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Hardig, 756 Abbey road.

Third prize for girls from 12 to 24 months old was awarded to Jane Pearson Denny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Denny, 4311 Arlington drive, and Jane's brother, Robert Lewis Denny, won fourth prize in the class for boys 36 to 48 months old.

Barbara Joyce Everett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Everett, R. D. 1, Birmingham, won third prize for girls 24 to 36 months old.

Donald and Ronald Kevern, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Kevern, 23 Hoddrill court, Pontiac, took second honors in the class for twins 12 to 24 months old. Mr. Kevern is a patrolman on the Bloomfield Hills police force.

CHIEF ISSUES WARNING TO "SCHOOL DRIVERS"

A warning to school students that they must observe traffic regulations while driving between school and their homes, or undergo arrest, was issued yesterday by Chief of Police John P. Hackett.

"Since school closed last spring, we haven't had a single complaint against young people driving recklessly through the streets," the Chief said. "I'm convinced that young drivers on the way to and from school are among the most flagrant type of traffic regulation violators we have—especially for ignoring stop streets and driving recklessly through the residential districts.

"Now that school is opening again, we're going to be on the watch for them, and see that they obey the traffic laws."

Wanderlust Leads Jim, 13, To Chicago

Although Jim McCaslin is only 13 years old, the wanderlust, it appears, has already claimed him for one of its own.

Jim, the son of Mrs. Harley A. Wentz, 248 North Bates street, turned up missing last Monday noon. His disappearance was reported to the local police that night, but no trace of him was seen nor heard until Tuesday morning when Mrs. Wentz received a telegram.

It came from Chicago—home of the World's Fair—and was signed by Jim. In it Jim, though only 13 years old, kindly admonished his mother not to worry while he was gone, for he would get along all right, he said."

INCOME AT SPRINGDALE PARK $1,410 IN AUGUST

The city realized an income of $1,410 from greens fees, merchandise and rentals at Springdale Park during August, according to data reported to the Commission by City Manager James W. Parry. This was $153 below the total of $1,663 for July, but it was also $153 above the revenues for the corresponding month last year when the park was operated by Bloomfield Township, Mr. Parry reported. The $1,410 total included $895 from greens fees, $502 from merchandise and $15 from clubhouse rentals.
