KIDDIES ENJOY KITE CONTEST

Carleton Everett Is Given Permanent Possession Of Trophy

Winner of the 1933 trophy, Carleton Everett was again awarded first place in the annual Franklin Village kite flying contest for children, held last Saturday on the village green. According to the rules of the contest Everett is given permanent possession of the championship cup. The yearly attraction for children is sponsored by George Willington Smith.

Fair weather brought the children from Franklin Village, Birmingham, and the Hills, through to test their skill at making and flying kites. Charles Wilson, Scout bugler of Birmingham, sounded the assembly, and all were off to a grand start. First and second prizes were awarded to the following winners of each class: Carleton Everett, Dick Smith, Marilyn Griggs, Shirley Jane Trump, Ruth Jones, Martha Penfield, Bobby Woodruff, and Robert Ferdon. Honorable mention went to Dick Gracey, Lawrence Bingham, and Robert Roth for originality of design and workmanship in the construction of their kites. The unusual kites made by these boys required a greater breeze than was stirring to enable them to take off on Saturday. Earlier in the day when the breezes were stronger, they made many beautiful and graceful flights.

Judges for the contest were George L. Gram, Fred Graef, and J. French Paddock. The starter was Charles Wilson.

George Wellington Smith, the sponsor of the kite flying contest, announces that there will be another contest next year in May, and he believes that there should be a class added for the mothers and fathers, who haven's lost their childhood prowess in flying kites, or if so, would like to regain the lost art.

REALTY BOARD TO MEET TONIGHT

Reports Of The Committees Will Be Given During Business Session

A meeting of the Birmingham Real Estate Board will be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, May 21, in the Community House, at which time the reports of the various committees will be heard. Clyde Bennett, president, will be in charge of the session.

Since the public meeting of property owners and realtors, addressed by Vern J. Brown, publisher of the Ingham County News, Mason, Michigan, State Representative from his district and Chairman of the House Taxation Committee, there has been keener interest on the part of property owners in the work done by the Property Owners Division of the Real Estate Board. Mr. Brown cited that while the tax sale had been canceled for this year by the Supreme Court decision, it did not solve the delinquent tax situation.

Property owners interested in assisting the realty Board in their continued study of this problem and others that confront the real estate holder, are invited to join the Real Estate Board as a property owner member. Mr. Whiting W. Raymond is chairman of this committee.

The James O. Beattie home at the S. W. corner of Woodward and Daines Street has been described in a previous article. They were four other houses on the south side of Daines Street and none on the north side.

The Gaylord Simpson home was the first house west of the Beattie house. Mr. Simpson was a native of Southfield Township. His wife's name was Clarissa. Mr. Simpson lived to be 76 years old. There were four daughters and one son in the Simpson family. (Mattie Vera Gordon, Delia Chappelle, Rhoda Lyon, Hattie Estabrook and Harry Simpson.) Harry and Hattie were twins. Mrs. Delia Chappelle lives with her daughter, Mrs. Velma Clark, in Pontiac. The Chappelle children are Velma, Gladys and Lloyd. Velma Clark is the mother of a son and a daughter. Gladys Christie has three children and Lloyd has one child. Mr. James Chappelle died several years ago. Mrs. Hattie Evans has three daughters. She lives just west of the old Simpson home on Daines Street.

Mrs. Saltzer

Cyrus Jarvis built the house that stood west of the Simpson house. Later he built another house between his home and the Frank Allen home. After the Jarvis family moved into the new house Mr. and Mrs. John Felder and daughter, Iva lived in their former home. Later this property became the Elmer Monroe home. Mrs. Monroe was a sister of Mrs. David Roy. The Jarvis family left town and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Blair bought the property and made their home here until they moved to Royal Oak where they now reside. The Monroes had a son and a daughter. The Blairs have two sons, Guy and Don and a daughter Winnifred.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allen came to Southfield Township when Mr. Allen was 19 years old and his wife, Rebecca, was eighteen. They came from Lincolnshire, England and were sixteen weeks crossing the ocean. I am indebted to their grandson, Lynn Allen, for the following anecdote. One day when Mr. and Mrs. Allen had first settled in Southfield Township, Mr. Allen was out in the yard and discovered a horse and cow coming leisurely down the road. When they arrived in front of the house Mr. Allen drove them into the yard and shut them in the barn. Not long afterward a neighboring farmer came down the road, stopped at Mr. Allen's house, and inquired if he had seen anything of a stray horse and cow. Mr. Allen said that he had, and that they were in his barn. The man was quite indignant and said, "Why did you shut my cow and horse in your barn?" To which Mr. Allen replied, very earnestly: "Well, you see, we are just come from England and over there they told us that in America everything was free and so when the cow and horse came along, I just helped myself." Mrs. Allen often referred to this incident and had many a hearty laugh at her husband's expense. There were ten children in the Allen family. John, father of Harry Allen; Frank, who was a baker by trade; Levi, whose first wife was a Miss Gallup; Walter, husband of Olie White and father of County Clerk Lynn Allen; Rose, Nancy, Fanny, Susan, Nellie, and Sarah.

Nellie is Mrs. Maurice Blair; Susan was Mrs. Samuel Leach; Nancy married a man named Allen and one of her children is Glenn Allen, Lynn Allen's mother died when he was a small boy and he made his home with his grandparents and his aunt Fanny. He recalls the happy times he had in old Birmingham.

Lynn said:—"I like to recall the fun we used to have at the old mill pond, where the boys swam without clothes, and I've done it too, hundreds and hundreds of times." "No one objected but now, if one tried, he would be shot."

Mrs. Rebecca Allen survived her husband but passed away nearly sixteen years ago. The only one of her sons now living is Levi, who lives next door to the Ortonville High School. His present wife is Mrs. Jane Everts Allen.

Walter Allen passed away about two years ago, at his home at Crystal Lake, Mich.

Jack—Is that your last year's suit you're wearing?

Fred—Yes, and it's my next year's too.

Annual Festival Of Lights Sunday

Next Sunday morning, May 24th, there will be held in Christ Church Cranbrook at eleven o'clock the annual Festival of Lights. This service opens with a prologue that is read from the chancel, followed by a procession of all the choirs of the church, some one hundred fifty voices, about the church to the chancel where they sing the traditional hymn, "Prayer of Thanksgiving." On the altar there will be a large lighted candle about three feet high and six inches in diameter representing the light of the gospel. From this candle the rector, Dr. S. S. Marquis, will light a candle and then pass the light along to the persons representing the twelve apostles, in turn the apostles pass the light along to the men and women representing missionaries, and they to the children, and the children to certain members of the congregation.

One of the traditions which has grown into this service is the bringing to it of small candles by many members of the church school. When all the candles have been lighted, the congregation repeats the "Affirmation of Faith" standing and, in silence, remains standing while the bellmaster in the tower plays two numbers on the carillon, "O God, our Help in Ages Past" and "Faith of our Fathers."

In addition to the choirs, the procession out of the church includes all those who bear lighted candles. This service was built up to emphasize the continuity of the Christian Church and the fact that the light of the gospel still is passed along to us after some nineteen hundred years.
