Names Wedding Day

Shirley Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Brown of Greenwood avenue, has chosen Saturday, Oct. 24 as the date of her wedding to Gilbert Frederic Hadas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Hadas of Boston boulevard, Detroit.

The marriage will be solemnized in St. James' Episcopal church at 4 o'clock in the afternoon by the Rev. Warner L. Forsyth, pastor.

Helen Brown will attend her sister as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Eleanor Wasey and Rosemary Neal of Detroit, formerly of Birmingham. Norman Hadas will be best man for his brother, and seating the guests will be Thomas J. Usher, 111, and Joe Muskot of Detroit.

For their wedding journey, the young couple plan to motor to Kentucky, afterwards making their home at Little Straits Lake.

Honoring the bride-elect, Miss Wasey was hostess at a linen shower Wednesday evening, at her home. Besides the bride-elect, the guests were Lillian Vaughan, Betty Lou Meyer, Betty and Rosemary Hill, Ruth Pratt, Mary and Helen Starr, Julie Kane, Beth Ranney, Pauline Chick, Mary Quinn Johnson, Marion Fowler, Helen Brown, Mrs. Lloyd Goulet, and Mrs. Sherman LeMessurier.

Ruth Hadas, sister of Mr. Hadas, will entertain for Miss Brown, Tuesday, Sept. 29, at a buffet supper and kitchen shower at her home in Detroit.

For as little as 25 cents you may insert a CLASSIFIED AD in the columns of The Eccentric. Try one when you want to buy or sell, locate a house or sell one, or for hiring a maid. Telephone 11 before Wednesday noon each week. —(Adv.)

WINNERS NAMED IN FLOWER SHOW

Wilson Estate Leads With '20 'Firsts' For Fruits And Vegetables

Exhibits from the estate of Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson of Bloomfield won the highest number of first prizes, with a total of 20, in the annual fall flower, fruit and vegetable show held under auspices of the Bloomfield Hills and District Horticultural Society, and the Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills units of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association, Saturday and Sunday at the Community House.

First prizes were awarded to the Wilson estate for a vase of delphiniums, for a large vase of petunias, arranged for effect, and for among the dahlias in the classes for cactus. 11 firsts were awarded, and the first prize given in the class for Fruit and Vegetables of 12 varieties. In addition to the 11 firsts, the Wilson estate won 1 second prize and two thirds.

The estate of W. G. Boggs, represented by Donald Mac Rae, gardener, was second in honors, her of first prizes receiving 14 such awards, and two second prizes. One of the first prizes was given to the Boggs estate for the largest dahlia exhibited, another for the group of six varieties of pom pom dahlias. The best vase containing six dahlias received a prize, and for the collection of annuals, and four classes for asters.

The James J. Vernor, Jr. and Edward P. Hamilton estate, also represented by Donald Mac Rae, gardener, received 10 firsts. The estate of George G. Booth was awarded a first prize for its collection of dahlias, and gladioli. Mrs. M. R. Sill was awarded the first prize for a basket of gladioli.

Other winners in the classes for annuals, perennials, dahlias and gladioli included Mrs. Walter Morley, Mrs. F. W. Stroh, Mrs. Floyd Bramble and Mrs. Henry Forster.

First prizes for table decorations were won by Mrs. H. A. O'Dea and Mrs. W. D. Thompson, both of the Bloomfield Hills unit. Members of the Birmingham and Hills units receiving awards included Mrs. Louis Kahn, Mrs. Craig H. Roper, Mrs. W. P. Johns, Mrs. H. H. Gardner, Mrs. Edith M. Fordyce, and Mrs. Forster.

In the sweepstakes for both members, Mrs. Walter Thornley won a first for asters and annuals and Barbara Ann Chase, Scout, were awarded first prize for a vase of annuals arranged for a Girl Scout.

Competitors in the classes were entered by Mrs. W. D. Thompson, Mrs. Mac Rae, Donald Mac Rae, Mrs. Forster, Mrs. Gardner, Mrs. T. W. Palmerton, Mrs. Boggs, Mrs. W. S. Gordon, and Mrs. Stroh, in all.

Mrs. Barton Higgins of the Garden on Foothills of Scotia was in charge of the exhibit, which was held in connection with the annual Garden Show of the Garden Club of Michigan.

Fashion Tips

The evening suit seems to be holding its own, regardless of the change in other styles. Broadcloth, velvet, satin or lame are the materials most used. Some of these ensembles have long full circular skirts, others have long tapering skirts with some variation in the shallow-waisted coat.

Short evening gowns are being shown but they are in the minority.

Mink fur is being used to trim coats for the coming winter, rather far ahead of its usual season.

Leather gloves, embroidered down the back in cross-stitch of contrasting colors, are very new.

Felt hats of the same color, shaded from light to dark, are the edge of the brims, are being seen by one house in Paris.

Nearly all of the new fall frocks have slim little waists. Of course, in the Princess frocks have slim waistlines and even the full circular skirts fall from a trim waist.

The new gloves for work have been designed to go with the different type hats. With the sailor type model, one wears a glove of ringskin, goat skin, moleskin or cape skin. It has a short cuff at the back of the hand and three rows of extra heavy ribbing. With the dress hat one wears a glove of fine suede, having four arrows stitched on the back. And with the fedora is worn the heavier glove of fine, which has a slightly wavy cuff.

The new hats for women are most surprising. For instance, there is the windmill hat of panne velvet, having its four arms outlined in black net. And then there is the conical Chinese hat of crinkle satin. The Spanish influence is shown by the toreador model and also by a model that is of close fitting felt with a ridge in the back shaped like a dancer's comb.

There is also a model which looks exactly like a Roman helmet of long ago.

The new shades tend to soft and dreamy—all for off-shade blues. Cinderella is a dirty brown, varying with wine shades. Blueberry is a dark hue to be worn with navy costumes. There is a very dark green shade, almost black, which goes with green ensembles, beautifully. Darker shades are being shown for daytime and light for evening.

Some of the suits have dressy blouses. One such blouse, seen in a smart shop, was a high necked model of violet velvet.

Church League Will Hold Rummage Sale

Mrs. John J. Gatfil of Hill Top lane is general chairman of a rummage sale to be held under auspices of the League of St. James' Women, at the church school house, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Assisting Mrs. Gatfil on the committee are Mrs. T. W. Gorman, Mrs. Frank S. Spohn, Mrs. William A. Alfs, Mrs. William R. Elcock, and Mrs. Richard Fowler.

Those who have come upon articles they wish to dispose of in the course of fall house cleaning, may notify a member of the committee.

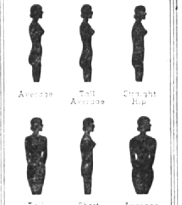
Featuring Unusual Fabric Contest

A very different fabric combination is employed in this fall creation of sleek black satin and deep henna-colored pebble crepe. Worn by Margaret Lindsay, movie actress, the black dress is topped with a flaring tunic of the lighter color. It buttons down the front, redingote fashion, and has scalloped collar and pockets made of laced bands of black satin. Fitted sleeves have tiny caps at the shoulders.

Lahare CREATED YOU AS ONE OF THESE SIX FIGURE TYPES . . .



WHICH IS YOURS?

We've been thinking a good deal about "type" lately...how important it is to know your type, and then do something about it. That's why we're excited about American Lady "type" foundations... after you have taken note of your type you merely ask for the foundation that corresponds with it. And we warn you, that if you were never particularly fond of your own type, you will be when you see how an American Lady gives it balance... and proportion...and beauty. But...as we suggested... come in and talk "type" with us soon!
