THE OLD GOLD CIGARETTES
Here on, Ring on, never Sabbath bell
The melody tones I like to hear;
I was a boy when first they came,
I studied them, I loved them,
In those dear days just and gone,
When sports were in the joyous gleam,
And we were free to roam,
Awoke emotions deep and true,
Long years have passed, and I have strayed
From the world far away,
But they draw from me the melody played
On every happy Sabbath day,
The melody of the nightingale,
Spread widely in the unpopulated West,
Each Sabbath a morn I've heard it strain
Falling to the listening land,
Upon the rocky mountain crest,
Where Christian feet have never trod,
In the deep woods of the West,
I thought of you and thought of God,
King on a sweet hill, I'm come again
To hear the cherubim call to prayer,
There's a time of pleasure here for all,
In those dear times which fill my ear.

THE WHITE CLIFFS OF DOVER.
In the bright summer sunlight
We came near to strand
On a safe island of rocks,
By great Shakespeare's hand
You may search the fair shores
Of the English coast.
You will never find us
The white cliffs of Dover.

Oh, land of our Fathers,
Our heart love for thee
Is as warm as the sunshine,
As deep as the sea.

The bright hills are fresh
To our eyes, as they were
As we last here tarried;
In the white cliffs of Dover.

And the morning is fair,
And the sun is bright,
And we watch the land,
From the tower and tower,
The white cliffs of Dover.
