Oakland County Briefs

ROYAL OAK—An elusive pheasant which Thursday broke two windows in the home of Mrs. Anna Watkins, 809 Forestdale road, and escaped leaving his tail behind him is a dead bird.

If you read the item in Friday's Daily Tribune, you will recall that the pheasant broke into Mrs. Watkins' home, then broke out again, both times to the accompaniment of tinkling window glass. Here's the sequal:

Mrs. William M. Johnson, who lives at 806 Lockwood road immediately behind Mrs. Watkins' home returned home from out of the city Friday. While playing, her children spied a pheasant atop the entrance way to the house. Investigation proved it was dead.

LAKE ORION—Dismissal of three teachers of the Lake Orion school faculty, including Coach Henry Prin who has also been school principal for nine years, and reduction of salary of two other teachers, was revealed Thursday night at a basketball dinner at which Mr. Prin was guest of honor.

The action had been taken by the school trustees sometimes in the past week at a private meeting and had not been made public. The refusal to renew three contracts were made by not more than three members of the five man board, as Mrs. Joyce Predmore has just returned from an extended absence from the city and Trustee Walter Cummings this morning stated that he did not attend the meeting.

PONTIAC—Reduction in the amount of additional school taxes to be levied for operating expenses in keeping Pontiac's public schools open during the remainder of the present year was announced today by Harold L. Blackwood, president of the Board of Education, in case city assessed valuations are increased.

His announcement followed a statement from City Assessor W. R. Ransom Friday that the city planned to increase valuations approximately 10 per cent this year. At the same time it was revealed that petitions were in circulation protesting against such a valuation increase. These petitions will be presented to City Commission next Tuesday evening. Even after the City Commission and the assessor act, the Pontiac Board of Review has the final right to change the valuations.

ROYAL OAK—Thieves ransacked St. James church and school in Ferndale early today, but departed empty-handed. Detective Clifford E. Fritz said the thieves probably were young boys. They removed cylinders from door locks, smashed several door windows, went through desks and vainly tried to open the poor boxes at the church altar.

PONTIAC—Four boys, two of whom are 17 years old and two of juvenile court age, were being questioned today by police concerning the robbing of the Lincoln Junior High School Thursday night. A motion picture machine and sound projector were among the things stolen. Police say the boys admit they were in the school but deny having stolen the things that are missing.

ROCHESTER—The fire department responded to two alarms Sunday afternoon. A grass fire was reported at 1 p. m. from the Ted Gunn farm about four miles north of the village. Buildings were threatened, but it was put out before any damage was done. About 2 o'clock a blaze was discovered on the roof of the Sylvan Golf club, but damage there was slight as it was soon extinguished.

HAZEL PARK—A recount of votes cast in the April 3 election for Royal Oak Township clerk resulted Saturday in maintaining the slight lead held by Incumbent William R. Jewell, Democrat, over Lester Opliger, Republican. In the recount of votes Jewell received 1857 votes and Opliger, 1855, as compared to 1859 to 1856, the original totals. Republicans were to decide today whether they would carry the case to Oakland County Circuit Court with quo warranto proceedings contesting the rulings of recount boards in regard to several ballots.

ROYAL OAK—Coins amounting to $78 were stolen from the Washington Theatre during Saturday night, according to a report made to Royal Oak police. The metal plate in the opening of the box office window had been pushed in and the change taken from a receptacle which the cashier did not empty when the theatre was closed.

PONTIAC—Stricken suddenly with an attack of rabies, a cocker spaniel ran amuck Saturday night at Williams Lake and after biting several other dogs the animal knocked down Tommy Eddy, 9 years old, 2262 Hickory drive, Williams Lake, and bit him in the shoulder. A posse of men and boys was formed and the dog was located and killed. The Eddy boy was taken to a doctor and will be given treatment to prevent rabies.

An epidemic of rabies is now feared in the vicinity. Sheriff's officers said the dead dog was owned by Walter Watkins who lives at Williams Lake. Every dog in the neighborhood was ordered tied up by County Dog Warden Charles C. Johnson until it is determined whether any of the other animals has been afflicted.

ROYAL OAK—Arbor Day tree planting ceremonies will climax the City of Trees committee annual spring campaign April 21. On that day, the committee will plant two elms at Rochester and Sunnybrook roads, the northern entrance to the city.

The committee will also close its spring order lists on Arbor Day so that trees may be delivered before the budding season opens.

Supt. N. J. Quickstad is in charge of the planting ceremonies. The Royal Oak high school band and school bands will participate in the exercises.

PONTIAC—A parade of more than 750 youngsters, members of the safety patrols and service squads of the Pontiac schools, highlighted an entertainment today given for the students by the Citizens' Safety Council and the Police Department.

Before the parade, led by the Pontiac High School band and a police escort, the boys and girls saw a motion picture at the Oakland Theatre. Following the parade, they went to the high school where they were given food, honor certificates and listened to brief addresses by Mayor James E. Mahar, Chief of Police Charles F. Rhodes, Superintendent of Schools James H. Harris and William F. Kalwitz, president of the Safety Council.

MINIATURE CAMERAS

The original of this picture is a transparency in natural color, made with an inexpensive miniature camera. Good in black-and-white, it glows with life in color.

UNDOUBTEDLY most Snapshot Guild members have longed to own a miniature camera. There's fascination in these beautiful little instruments, with their fast lenses, quick shutters, easy focusing, convenient size and instant readiness for action. They are cameras one can keep at hand all the time, ready for a picture chance the moment it appears.

But, in comparison to inexpensive box and folding cameras, prices of the de luxe miniatures have been a bit too steep for many of us. True value for every penny—but too many pennies. So, I think, most of us will welcome the arrival of the true miniatures in the moderate price range which have recently been announced.

The other day, I saw a beautifully made miniature, with a sharp-cutting f.5.6 lens, for only $16.50—a camera capable of taking black-and-white pictures under adverse light conditions as well as color film to obtain gorgeous transparencies for projection. A similar camera, but with a faster lens, was priced at $27.50. Both were sturdy, well-built, and capable of doing excellent work. These are about bottom prices for miniatures capable of taking good color pictures.

Many invariably refer to a miniature as a "candid" camera, and apparently believe that it automatically gets unusual, unposed snapshots. That isn't true—any camera can catch unposed, "off-guard" snaps, under suitable light conditions. But the miniature's small size, fast lens, and quick action make it easier to get "offguard" or "candid" shots. And its convenience is an aid in all kinds of snapshooting. The miniature is so easy to handle and operate that you want to take more pictures. The more pictures you shoot, the more practice you get—and your pictures just naturally begin to improve.

One great virtue of a miniature camera with a good color-corrected lens is that you can use natural color film as easily as black-and-white. The original of the picture above, a full-color transparency, shows the little girl's cheeks, rosy-pink, hair sparkling gold against a bright blue sky. Quite a difference from black-and-white, and a new thrill for the picture-taker. You can get this natural color film for miniature cameras in 35mm. and No. 828 sizes. Try some shots with color film. You will like the results.
