Air Conditioning May Cost More

Air conditioning in stores and theatres is likely to cost more next summer if new rules are adopted by the City Commission.

Both mechanical and cold-water systems use water but only during the summer months, when charges are not assessed for the sewage disposal plant. (This is done only in winter.)

The Commission decided that because all water, clean or otherwise, which goes into the sewers requires four of the five operations at the treatment plant, the summer consumption should pay its share of the cost.

Further study will be made before official action is taken.

Children Make Impression

Editor, The Eccentric:

One of the most unforgettable experiences in all my Red Cross work occurred last Monday morning. Miss Inez McCoy, the teacher of the third grade of the Pierce School, asked me to call and accept the money the boys and girls earned at the bake sale the Saturday before.

Twelve paper sacks to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 494): "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need. It is not well to imagine that God has demonstrated the divine power to heal only for a select number or for a limited period of time. Love is all-inclusive, all-seeing and everlasting, and divine Love supplies all need."

These boys and girls are only eight years old. They told me also how they were sending books to the camps, buying defense stamps, collecting papers, all for national defense.

If that spirit could flourish and permeate the hearts of little boys and girls how much happier the world may be in 20 years, BUT, we adults who mold these young lives by our actions and omissions, don't always give the guidance and encouragement that this teacher did. That was one of the finest evidences of character training I ever saw in a schoolroom.

St. James Parish Holds Annual Meet

George T. Hendrie was named senior warden of the St. James Parish at the annual parish meeting last Sunday evening. Franklin Fricker was elected junior warden, Fred M. Dorrit was named secretary, and A. Fletcher Plant, treasurer.

Annual reports were read, at the meeting. Among the more outstanding of these was Mrs. Leigh Lynch's report of work done during the past year by the parish's social service department. She listed 16 organizations and institutions which this department has served, and in addition said that approximately 500 persons were helped in one way or another.

Through cooperating agencies, many poor families were helped throughout the year as well as during holiday seasons. Practical gifts were made to handicapped persons such as a couch for a crippled girl and the like. Impractical gifts and the White Gifts Service distributed 504 articles among the personnel of several institutions.

Organizations and institutions served are Williams, Faber and Page Houses, Valley Farm, Marpiers, Institute, Eloise Hospital, St. Lukes Home, Stuck Memorial Hospital in Alaska, Alpena Mission, Birmingham Community House, the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Contagious Hospital, Detention Home and Hospital, St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Goodfellows, and the Red Cross.

In concluding her report, Mrs. Lynch stated, "Such a broad field of activity would be impossible with money alone. That instinctive desire to share and to serve, which is so evident in St. James Parish, makes such things a reality."

Baldwin Jr. High Farewell

Celebrating their advance into senior high school, 22 Baldwin Junior High School students gathered in the Birmingham Community House for an informal dinner and proper farewell sentiments Jan. 23.

Mistress of ceremonies was Dorothy Shaw. Speakers were Mrs. Geraldine Forsythe, and students Bill McCall, Mary L. Mead and Jim Vaughn.

The dinner was arranged by Mary Bull, Gwen O'Rourke, Joan Fox, and Ann Hirsch.

Story of a Storm Is An Odd Theme For New Volume

By LINDO MOORE

Anything goes as the hero of a novel, these days. Stories have been written around dead queens, old men and children; about horses, deer and salmon. One of the most original is the recently published Storm, by George Stewart, recently added to Baldwin Library rental collection.

The central character is a storm christened Maria by the meteorologist at the Weather Bureau who discovered her as a newborn infant on the Asiatic coast. Maria grew rapidly and crossed the Pacific at the rate of a thousand miles a day. By the time she reached California, she was a raging fury, bringing high winds, flooding rain, and where she struck the mountains, blizzards and zero temperatures. She brought salvation to drought-cursed farms, but she exacted a toll of innocent lives.

In telling the story, the author has somehow contrived to capture the feeling of "Maria's" growth and the excitement of the storm at its peak is something to remember.

The Ivory Mischief, by Charles Merker. Novel based on the lives of two ladies who established reputations for gallantry that shocked even the broad-minded court of Louis XIV. The author insists that none of the characters, is imaginary and tells their stories with a delicate artificiality that tones down some of the more lurid episodes.

Mission to Moscow, by Joseph Davis. Made up of confidential dispatches to the State department and the author's diary, this book by the former American ambassador to Russia presents a picture of modern Russia. The period covered is from November, 1936 to October, 1941.

The Destiny of Sea Power, by J. P. Cranwell. A timely book on the role of naval power in modern warfare.

Boom or Bust, by Blair Moody. A warning of the economic depression that may follow the present war and the measures that could be taken to prevent it.

We Heard It Said By

WILMER E. MOODY, City Commissioner: "We ought to have a sidewalk repair program in the spring. Some of them are in bad shape."

W. COIT ALLEE, City Commissioner: "You figure that with less rubber there will be more walking."

LUTHER HEACOCK, City Commissioner: "Our walks are not bad as I've seen in some neighboring cities. Hymestly, I've seen some conditions we could never get away with in Birmingham."
