Obituary

Arthur Lindquist

Arthur Lindquist, 56, of 292 Daines street, was injured fatally Saturday evening in a car crash on Woodward avenue, just north of 12 Mile road. The injured man was taken to St. Joseph Mercy hospital but was dead upon admittance.

According to police report his car collided with one driven by Edward Gallup, 20, of Pontiac, who made a statement to Royal Oak police.

Mr. Lindquist was born in Finland and came to the United States in 1911. For many years he had been an employee of the Briggs Manufacturing company in Detroit. The family moved to Birmingham about a year ago from Walnut Lake where they made their home for 16 years. Because of continued failing health he and Mrs. Lindquist had planned to leave this week end for Arizona for the winter.

Surviving besides the wife, Mary Lindquist, are one son, Reino, of Roseville, Mich., and one grandson.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the David Anderson funeral home in Detroit, with burial in the family lot in Forest Lawn cemetery on Van Dyke avenue.

Mrs. Dorothy Blake

At White Chapel cemetery Tuesday forenoon funeral services were held for Mrs. Dorothy Blake of Franklin road, who died unexpectedly Sunday at the Oakland County Tuberculosis sanitarium where she had been for treatment for several days. The Rt. Rev. Harold Towne, rector of St. James Episcopal church, conducted the service.

Mrs. Blake was the widow of the late Eustace P. Blake, who for some years operated a saddle shop on Woodward avenue. Mrs. Blake operated a gift shop at the same location for some time. Since the death of her husband about ten years ago, Mrs. Blake has been a practical nurse.

Surviving her are two sisters, Mrs. Charlotte Turnbull, Sanfisbury, Dorset, England, and Mrs. Geo. Schbickel, also residing in England.

Fred E. Fisher, Jr.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Bell funeral home for Fred E. Fisher, Jr., son of Fred E. Fisher of 268 Harmon, who died after a brief illness in Waycross, Ga., last Friday morning.

Mrs. Fisher accompanied the body of her husband to Birmingham Monday for the funeral and for burial in Greenwood cemetery. The service at Waycross was held Saturday afternoon.

The former Birmingham man had located in the southern city some months ago and both he and his wife were employed there. He was taken ill on Thursday and died at the Waycross hospital on Friday.

He was born on July 28, 1905, at Port Huron and later moved with the family to Birmingham. He attended Baldwin High School and Culver Military academy. He received his Army discharge about a year ago after two and a half years of service.

Harold Turner Is New Ford Agent

Harold K. Turner, former manager of the Cincinnati sales branch of the Ford Motor company, has purchased the Birmingham Ford Sales, at 464 South Woodward, and has taken over the business. He will operate under the firm of Harold K. Turner, as an authorized Ford sales and service.

Mr. Turner resided for some years at Farmington, attending school there. He attended Kalamazoo college and in 1927 went with the Eastern Michigan Motorbus company. He joined the Ford organization two years later and has held several positions since that time. He was at Dearborn for several years and managed the Dearborn sales branch before going to Cincinnati.

Mr. Turner says he hopes soon to bring his wife and son and daughter from Dearborn to Birmingham to make their home.

Floral Novelties Catch Youthful Eye

The language of flowers gaily expresses "Merry Christmas" in seasonal treatments like those shown above. Just imagine, for example, any youngster's response to a "Candy-cane Garden" made with striped carnations and pink cockscombs. Plain white candles are wound with narrow red ribbon or tape to carry out the candy-cane theme.

Below is one the children will always remember. Amusing little pine-cone owls perch on green mossy boughs, above a big red ribbon to make this one Christmas they'll never forget. At right: "welcome-with-a-wishbone" idea for the front door decoration. The wishbone is plastic, and sprigs of pine and holly provide dark background for the bright silver bells.

Red Cross Home Service Workers Assist Many Local Servicemen Home from War

The magnitude of the future Red Cross Home Service responsibilities were discussed at a recent meeting of the executive committee and service chairmen of the Oakland County Chapter, American Red Cross, held at Fox and Hounds Inn, when C. G. Rudderham was host to chapter officials. With service to active servicemen at a peak and an increasing number of veterans contacting the Red Cross for many types of assistance the local chapter is ready to furnish assistance when the requests are within local and national policies.

The Oakland County chapter is also anxious that the returning veterans, both men and women, become a part of the organization. Returned servicemen, who, while in uniform have had training in First Aid or Water Safety, are asked to notify either chapter office.

Assist in Many Ways

Various kinds of service were extended during November to 543 men and women, former members of the Armed Forces. These included assistance in filing claims for disability pension, for insurance and for death benefits. Information regarding eligibility for veterans was given to 212 applicants. Arrangements were made for hospitalization and follow up reports were made for the Veterans' Administration.

The local chapter was also active in service to 1,316 men and women of the Armed Forces. Furlough verifications were made in 556 cases necessitating 585 wires to posts in all parts of the United States. General information was given to 276 active servicemen and women. A total of 148 reports was made on the health and welfare of servicemen and 53 reports on family situations were forwarded to field directors.

Give Family Guidance

These reports were in response to requests from servicemen who were concerned regarding home situations. Consultation and guidance on a variety of problems were given to 113 families. Besides service to the veteran and men and women of the armed forces, 55 civilians, who came under the jurisdiction of no community agency were assisted.

Volunteers, many of them Home Service Corps members, are assisting in Red Cross chapter offices. Mrs. E. P. Turner is Home Service chairman and Mrs. Claire Gaukler is chairman of the Home Service Corps. Volunteers and staff members participated in 998 office interviews.

Police Urge People Protect Their Mail From Theft, Forgery

Chief of Police John P. Hackett announced that the United States Secret Service at Detroit again warns persons in this vicinity to be watchful for mail thieves and forgers, especially during the pre-holiday season.

"When checks are stolen and forged it causes many hardships for those for whom the checks were intended," he said. "It sometimes takes months to get a duplicate check because of the time required to investigate the cases. Those who accept checks bearing forged endorsements lose the amounts of the checks involved."

Some Good Rules

Chief Hackett urges that the following rules be observed:

Have a good, deep mail box.

Print your name clearly on your mail box.

If you move, report change of address to your post office and the agency by whom your checks are issued.

Never endorse a check until you are actually in the presence of the person who will cash it.

Cash your check at the same place each month. Cash it yourself, don't send children to cash checks—it encourages juvenile delinquency.

Always be prepared to present identification when cashing checks.

Notify issuing agency immediately if checks are not received when due.

To Those Who Cash Checks

Know your endorser. Insist upon proper identification. Before you cash a check, ask yourself this question: "If this check is returned, can I find the person who gave it to me?"

Never cash a check already endorsed without having it endorsed again in your presence.

Require employees who cash checks to initial them; also to write down on the check the type and serial number of identification presented.

Chief Hackett points out that unlocked mail boxes are easily accessible to professional mail thieves and a temptation to juveniles. "When bankers and business people cash these checks on forged endorsements they aid the criminal and contribute to the delinquency of juveniles. Hardships and losses can be avoided and our juveniles kept out of trouble if these few simple rules are carefully observed."

Fancy Bakery In A & P. Market To Be Opened Today

As a step in testing consumer acceptance of one of its major post-war expansion projects, the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company today is opening a complete fancy baked goods outlet in its Birmingham supermarket, 210 South Woodward.

Opening of the bakery coincides with completion of a program to revamp the whole store, according to J. A. O'Donnell, A & P vice-president in charge of the company's operation in the area. "The supermarket has been remodeled throughout," O'Donnell said, "and the most modern equipment installed in each of the store departments."

The new bakery will be staffed with ten trained salesgirls and the direct supervision of Mrs. Ruth Brumfield, bakery manager. James H. Tusck is supermarket manager. A wide variety of Danish pastries, home-style cookies, doughnuts, cakes, pies and other delicacies in addition to home-baked bread will be offered.

O'Donnell said the company's object in making this type of bakery retail outlet a part of its supermarket operations is to "give the consumer a more complete food service under a single roof.

"Consumer acceptance of this service will affirm the company's tentative plans to install such outlets in centers throughout the Central States," he declared.

"Supplies will be baked daily," he continued, "and delivered to the store in racks placed on specially designed containers, which will then be sealed. Laboratory analysis of every ingredient going into the preparation of the baked products will be made daily," he said, "to insure maintenance of quality standards."
