No Reclassification Notices Necessary

The local selective service board has this week received the following information regarding the reopening of classification cases:

Except as prescribed in Section 626.2-1, Selective Service Regulations, no notice of reopening of classification is required, and Local Boards may proceed with the immediate reopening and reclassification of registrants in the manner prescribed by Selective Service Regulations. Local publicity warning registrants and employers of the need for keeping Local Board informed of current status of registrants is authorized. Publicity should also be given to the fact that registrants may be reclassified without prior notice of the reopening and review of their classifications.

Sgt. Lee Beddow Is Home On Visit

Sgt. Lee H. Beddow, in Valley Forge hospital, Phoenixville, Pa., for treatment for numerous battle wounds, was able to be brought home last week to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Beddow, 27400 Lahser road. Before returning to the hospital his family held an Open House in his honor and his many friends dropped in for an evening of visiting. The trip home and back to the hospital was by automobile for the blinded veteran was unable to travel by train.

The Stars and Stripes, army newspaper, in its edition of January 5, carried the first detailed story of how Sgt. Beddow received his almost fatal wounds, and how his quick, heroic action saved the day in the battle of Mount Battaglia, Italy.

During his 10 months service Sgt. Beddow was wounded in three battles: first at Gaeta in March, 1944, at Volterra in July, and then at "Battle Mountain," where he was struck in the face, arms and legs and both eyes.

Two of his brothers are in service. Lieut. John M. Beddow, 27, is in England with the 8th Army Air Force and William T. Beddow is a Navy aviation mechanic with nearly a year's service in the European theater of operation.

Boy Scout Troop B-4 Has Its Father And Son Banquet, Monday

The Community House on Monday evening was the scene of a father and son banquet for Boy Scout Troop B-4 of Adams school, sponsored by the Birmingham Lions club. There were 70 fathers and sons in attendance at the enjoyable affair.

R. W. Reese opened the program of the evening and Harold Holmes, scoutmaster, gave a short talk, outlining advancement aims for the remainder of the winter and early spring. The scouts took the advancement pledge on the basis he outlined.

Singing was led by Russell McBride, with Reginald Nicholas at the piano. Wilbur Elliott led in the singing of a special song.

Fathers of the scouts were asked to serve on various committees and on the merit counselor list. Closing the program Joseph Sylvan of Detroit entertained with a half hour of magic.
