Francis J. Savage To Receive Third Air Medal Award

Lt. Francis J. Savage, USNR, 743 E. Maple, will receive a second gold star in lieu of a third Air Medal at ceremonies at Grosse Isle Friday, Dec. 20, to add to the Navy Cross and the Distinguished Flying Cross with one gold star.

Savage, who was discharged from active duty in September last year, earned his decorations in two years of overseas duty as a pilot of a torpedo bomber in the Pacific and Southern Pacific area. He was in-service four years, serving overseas with Air Group 20 aboard the aircraft carriers, USS Saratoga and USS Enterprise.

The Navy Cross was presented at Santiago, Calif., just before his discharge, and carried a citation from Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal, which commended him for extraordinary heroism in action against enemy forces during the Battle of Leyte Gulf, Oct. 25, 1944, and assisting in sinking a Japanese carrier with a direct torpedo hit.

Saw Action at Leyte

Savage was on the USS Enterprise when the Battle of Leyte Gulf was fought. He saw action in landings at Palou and the Philippines, and strikes in French Indo China and Hongkong.

The first Distinguished Flying Cross citation was for a direct torpedo hit on a tanker in the China Sea, contributing to its sinking.

The second DFC citation (a gold star replaces the second DFC), was for glide bombing and sinking an oiler.

Hits Jap Tanker

His first air medal was merited when he torpedoed a tanker off Okinawa, the second (also replaced by a gold star) by a bomb hit on a troop ship off the island of Formosa.

The citation for the third air medal, which he will receive next Friday, is as yet unannounced.

Savage, who lives with his family, Mrs. Joyce Marion Savage and their three children, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Savage, at 743 E. Maple, has been employed as a copy writer at an advertising firm in Detroit since his discharge.

He is a graduate of Baldwin High and of the University of Michigan.

Lathrup Townsite News

By LILLIAN DIEDERICH

New Church Schedule For the Townsite

Detroit Congregational Society, supported by its national officers, made a survey of this area and have promised help to establish a non-denominational church to be erected on a site just north of the Annie Lathrup school on Southfield road.

Lots 145 feet by 220 feet have been purchased by the Church Association and they will retain the title until the project is organized and functioning, then to be given to the community.

The financial burden will not be entirely on the residents but will be shared by Congregationalists who will underwrite a part of it and give the new church up to three years to asume responsibility.

Rev. John D. Rose, associate minister of the North Congregational Church, Woodward and Blaine, Detroit, has been chosen as minister of the new chapel.

Meetings will be held in Townsite homes. The first was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stone, Meadowbrook Way, on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Albert Rohn Reads in Paper of Son's Citation

Mrs. Albert Rohn of the Townsite would perhaps never have known from the lips of her son, Capt. Jack L. Rohn, of his award of the Bronze Star had she not read last week's edition of The Eccentric.

Casually glancing through the paper, she read the headline and then phoned us to know if we had seen the item.

Here it is in part: "Captain Jack L. Rohn received a citation and the Bronze Star medal for 'significant contribution to the available information on airplane structural requirements for wartime combat service.' General Douglas MacArthur made the award. The former Captain Rohn is at Wright Field in research engineering. He and his wife visited here last week but made no comment on the recent award!

Cub Scouts of the Townsite have been busily repairing and repainting broken toys they collected in this district to be distributed as Christmas gifts by the Southfield Goodfellows to underprivileged children. They also have been painting coffee tins which will be filled with candies and given to patrons in the Arnold Home for the Aged. Albert Flemming is chairman of Cub Scouts and Harold Nash is Cub Master of the 32 members. Scott E. Shepherd heads the Southfield Goodfellows.

Reserve Officers Told of New ORC Planning Schedule

Lt. Col. H. R. Phipps, executive officer of the Michigan Military District, addressed a meeting of the Birmingham Reserve Officers Association in the Community House Wednesday evening, telling them that the Organized Reserve Corps will begin activity shortly.

"We are far ahead of schedule in our reserve planning, according to World War I standards," he told reserve officers. "In a radical departure from pre-World War II reserve activities, actual reserve units will be formed of both officers and enlisted men and will train as units. All members of the reserve will be active from a functional viewpoint, including officers of the ground, air and naval forces."

Lt. Colonel Lloyd A. Gabler of Royal Oak, president of Birmingham branch of the club, presided at the meeting.

Other officers of the organization, which received its charter only last month, are: Major J. J. Hamel, Jr., executive vice president; Lt. Cmdr. John J. Mulock, vice president in charge of naval affairs; Major George R. Freye, Jr., vice president in charge of ground forces, and Captain Cortland Cromwell, secretary of the treasury.

All reserve officers and retired officers are eligible to club membership. Meetings are the second Tuesday of every month.
