Dances Planned at Local Clubs This Week End

Dancing on the Memorial Day week end is the keynote of activities of the local country clubs as dinner dances are scheduled during the holidays by local clubs.

A formal dinner dance will be held Decoration Day eve this evening at the Franklin Hills Country Club, while Saturday evening at Oakland Hills a dinner dance, with the music of Jack Qualey, is being planned for the members. Friday is the day of the opening of the pool at the club and a buffet supper will be served from 4 p. m. to 8 p. m.

Among those planning to attend the Oakland Hills dinner dance are the Richard O. Meads, the Daniel F. Hulgraves, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Pease, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Dostal, the George Walkers, Jr., the Harold M. Armstrongs, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Metzger, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Crawford, and the Damon S. Galls.

Birmingham Country Club is also scheduling a dance for Saturday evening, and Orchard Lake has planned a dinner dance for that evening also.

Waterfront activities will also get under way on Decoration Day week end at Orchard, complete with sailboat races, swimming, and all the usual water-front facilities.

A big golf week end is also planned. Friday is the date of the Match Play handicap, and on Saturday and Sunday the qualifying rounds for the season's first Two-Man Team best ball tournament will take place.

Golf at Franklin Hills got under way Tuesday when that club played host to the Detroit District League Association. One hundred twenty-six golfers were out, and the low gross winner of the day was Shirley Spork with a score of 84, followed by Margaret Russell, 89, Mrs. W. H. Bretzlaff and Mrs. Edward Bush, each with scores of 91.

Mrs. W. J. Chesnrough was the low net winner, with a score of 94 with a 10 handicap and an 84 net score.

Franklin will be the scene of the National Ladies' Championship Tournament in the fall.

Has Chosen June 7 as Wedding Date

June 7 has been set by Patricia Mary Daniels for her wedding date to William Merritt Beaney, Jr., of Forty Fort, Pa., son of Mr.

Patricia Daniels

and Mrs. William Merritt Beaney. Patricia is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Daniels of Telegraph road. The marriage will take place at Christ Church Cranbrook.

Pat has asked her sister, Marilyn, to be the maid of honor, with Joan Buckmaster, Betty Lou Hubbard and Shirley Sickels as bridesmaids.

Shubrick Kothe will serve as best man and Robert Cardon, Neal McKay, Russell Ryan, Jr., Robert Hancox and Thomas Daniels will seat the guests.

Following the rehearsal June 6, a buffet dinner will be held and the reception will be at the Daniels home, Rydelegh Farms, following the ceremony.

Recent parties in the bride-elect's honor have been given by Betty Lous Hubbard of Pontiac, Mrs. Walter Fry, Jr., and Mrs. Raymond Spencer at the home of Mrs. Fry in Bloomfield Hills, Barbara Cray at her Walnut Lake home, and Mrs. Paul Ziegelbaur in her home in Franklin.

Localites Speak Vows Saturday at St. Dunstan's

St. Dunstan's chapel of Christ Church Cranbrook was the scene Saturday of the afternoon wedding ceremony of Susan Annette Coolidge, daughter of the Rev. John K. Coolidge of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Frederick Tisdale Cushing. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Cushing of Manor road. The service was read by the bride's father of the All Saints Episcopal Church of Fort Lauderdale.

Given in marriage by her brother, Barnum Coolidge of Birmingham, the bride wore a dusty pink gabardine suit with a broad brimmed brown hat and brown accessories. She carried a white prayer book with gardenias.

Her attendant, Mrs. John K. Coolidge, Jr., of Richmond Heights, Ohio, wore an aqua gabardine suit with brown accessories and her colonial bouquet was of pink and white.

William T. Cushing was his son's best man, and Richard Cushing came from Swarthmore College to be usher at his brother's wedding.

A navy blue suit with a toast colored straw hat trimmed in navy blue and navy accessories, was worn by the mother of the bridegroom, and her corsage was of gardenias.

A reception followed the ceremony for members of the immediate families at the home of the bride's sister and brother and sister-in-law, the Barnum Coolidges. Guest at the wedding was Mrs. F. A. Tisdale of Ottumwa, Iowa, who came here for her grandson's marriage.

The couple are honeymooning in Montreal and will be at home at 1763 Bates street after July 1.

SHORT FOR TENNIS

White rayon poplin tennis dress with matching shorts—open skirt and sleeves cut in with the bodice give freedom in action.

RESORT and Summer playclothes shown in the new 1947 collections of New York designers are mostly either full, blousy and almost sloppy, or snug and neat. Typical of the latter trend is the trim, straight-lined tennis dress shown above. The almost moulded look for the beach is short, draped "sarong" skirts, brief bra tops and little boy shorts, and next-to-nothing bathings suits are in the same category. The opposite effect is featured in wraparound skirts for beach dresses or swimsuits, the full-sleeved blouse and dirndl favorites of young America, and blousy plaid shirts or shirt-style coats over striped bloomers.

Regardless of the "smooth" look or the blousy, everything this season "works." Elastic has returned in swimsuits. Some are elastic shirred all over, others have elastic smocking through the bosom, or are elasticized across the top of strapless bodices. Short beach coats have hoods designed to shade your nose in the sun and double as summer raincoats. Bathing suits have large hand-painted square cotton scarves which can be quickly slipped off the shoulders and knotted at the waist to make beach skirts.

Satin Is Her First Choice

Little-waisted white satin bridal dress with the skirt puffed over the hips and fully trained.

THE girl that he marries this Spring or Summer will, nine weddings out of ten, wear white satin. This is the news from New York's famous designers of bridal dresses, who have a way of knowing that most brides-to-be feel they look most beautiful in traditional, gleaming satin.

Pictured today is an example of the heirloom type of dress preferred. It has this season's yards and yards of fabric, extended into a newly wide train. Sleeves are quaintly puffed at the top and slim therefrom to the wrist. Narrow lace ruffling edges the heart-shaped neckline, filled in with marquisette, and is continued down the front of the basque bodice.

Something new for the bride who wears Junior sizes is the wedding dress designed for her own particular measurements. A number of New York collections feature such dresses for the first time this season. Among the most appealing and newest is an ankle-length dress of white faille with an accordion-pleated overskirt of white organdy. Bridesmaids' dresses go along are made of white faille with wide oval necklines, little puffed sleeves and colored organdy sashes.

Detroit 'Y' Party

Co-ed groups of the Birmingham Y will be hosted by the Northeastern YMCA next Friday night, June 6, when groups will meet there for swimming, dancing and group games. Reservations for the evening, Ed Kirbert warns, must be in the Y office early. All groups will leave for the Detroit Y by automobile at 7:30 p. m. on Friday.

Cancer Drive Nets $12,600 from Area

Official tallies on the Birmingham and Bloomfield campaign for the American Cancer Society set the figure at approximately $12,600, the highest yet obtained through a cancer fund drive in this area, according to Mrs. Walter Powers, chairman of the drive.

While the 1947 cancer drive is over, she said, there are many Birmingham groups, including 15 women's clubs and church groups of all denominations who give of their time working on cancer dressings for patients.

"During the past year over 5,000 of these dressings were prepared," she stated.

"Dressings of this type are available to any doctor or cancer patient who needs them. The clubs will be glad to supply as many as they possibly can for local use."

Request for them should be made by calling the Community House, or by contacting Mrs. Powers herself.

"For these dressings, the women who make them need white material—as much of it as possible. They also remake wornout white shirts into hospital jackets, but need the old white shirts.

"Any resident who has old sheets, tablecloths, or other white linens or material, is requested to launder it and bring it to the Community House.

THE DETROIT EDISON COMPANY
2000 SECOND AVENUE
DETROIT 26, MICHIGAN

May, 1947

To Our Residential Customers:

The Detroit Edison Company has a story that needs telling.

It is an important but little noted phase of the story of skyrocketing prices and the now dramatic effort to stop dangerous increases in the cost of living.

The fact is that Detroit Edison fought this fight all through the days when there was no drama in it.

Through the war, and since then, there has been no increase in the price of Detroit Edison electricity to residence customers.

This Company, while PAYING higher prices for labor and materials, has been able to REDUCE the price of electricity.

Detroit Edison residence customers now use 50 per cent more electricity than they did in 1939.

This increase in use is a major factor in making possible the reductions in price.

That process, applied to ALL production, opens the door to lower prices, progress and prosperity, and to better living for the people.
