KEEPING HOUSE
by Norma Crane
FAMOUS HOME ECONOMIST

Kitchen Safety: Check these points to determine whether you are careful to avoid accidents in keening house:

To reach high shelves, use a step stool, not a chair or other makeshift means.

Wipe up spilled food from the floor immediately.

Apply floor wax thinly and evenly.

Avoid use of plastics near the stove. Some plastics are highly inflammable, other types melt readily.

Turn pot handles inward on the stove to reduce the risk of scalds and burns.

Keep the gas turned down to prevent boilovers from extinguishing the flame, causing the gas to escape.

Keep babies and small children out of the kitchen whenever possible, especially if you are working there.

Check appliance cords. Discard before they become so worn that they are fire or shock hazards.

There's a Great Day Comin' Manana! The Grocery Manufacturers of America announces that peeled, ready-to-cook potatoes, though only a dream in the past, will soon be a reality. They will come sliced in different sizes for French fries, hashed browns, julienne, or boiling. If a container of these treated potatoes is stored in a cool place, they will keep for a week or more . . . Pre-packed spinach, found in markets in transparent bags, looks better, tastes better, and IS better because it is higher in Vitamin C content than bulk spinach.

Kitchen Glamour: Torn or faded Paper Drapes, useless for next season, can be washed off, cut (to discard the undesirable parts) and used to line chest drawers or cover the closet shelves . . . Have a loaf of uncut bread (any kind) sliced lengthwise in the bakery. Prepare your favorite sandwich filling and spread it over each slice. Cut the crust off. At one end, line up a row of stuffed olives and roll the bread over them to form a thick roll, with a center of olives. Wrap in a damp towel and refrigerate until party time. Slice the roll about ½" thick and behold—dainty pinwheel sandwiches with lots of eye and appetite appeal. Fine for tea or cocktails . . . Put ordinary cup hooks into a rolling pin in a straight line at regular intervals. Loop some bright ribbon over the handles, tack the ribbon to the walls, tying the ends into large bows. Hang your pretty pot holders on the hooks and you'll be thrilled with this unusual and decorative idea. It is, indeed, a company conversation piece.

Recipe of the Week

Everybody wants to get into the act! Everyone is thrilled with the new Chiffon Cake and is dreaming up new ways for serving it. Here's a recipe that was described as "super" by several (men) tasters:

2 cups sifted all purpose flour
1½ cups sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup Mazola or Wesson Oil
7 Egg yolks
¾ cup cold water
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 teaspoon almond extract
7 egg whites
½ teaspoon cream of tartar

Sift the first four dry ingredients into a large bowl. Make a well in the center and put in it the oil, yolks, water and flavoring. Beat with a spoon until smooth. Put the egg whites and cream of tartar into a very large bowl and beat until stiff peaks are formed. Pour the flour mixture over the egg whites, and fold gently until combined. Pour into a 10" ungreased tube pan. Bake at 325° F. for 55 minutes and then at 350° for 10 minutes. Turn pan upsidedown, resting on a funnel or smaller cake pans, to cool. When thoroughly cool, remove cake. Empty a can of freestone peaches into a bowl. Crush them and add ¼ cup of brandy or rum; chill. Whip ½ pint of sweet cream and sweeten it with 2 tablespoons of confectioner's sugar.

The cake can be cut through the center (so that you'll have two ring cakes) and serve on a cake plate with the cream and peaches combined and spread over the top or you may cut thin slices from this large ring cake and pour the crushed peaches over each slice, garnishing with the whipped cream. Store leftover cake on a covered cake plate and it will remain fresh and tender for ten days.
