OBITUARY.
Maidie wife of Alfred Reynolds, died May 23. The deceased was born in Canada but had spent the greater part of her life in the vicinity of Royal Oak; her maiden name being McKelroy.

Mrs. Reynolds professed her faith in Christ, her creed being that of the Methodist church and her relatives nearly all members of the same in this vicinity. Her funeral was held at the church the Rev. Mr. Wells of Detroit officiating. She had been in rather poor health and it is supposed that her attendance upon her sister in Detroit hastened her death by bringing on the quick consumption. She leaves a husband and two small children, besides parents, sisters and brothers to mourn her untimely end. When she was four summers old she was called to take the last look at the pale dead mother, the scene was truly heartrending. She was a faithful wife and mother, was a christian from whose bed of suffering no word of impatience was ever heard and surrounded by those she held most dear she passed quietly into the haven of peace. And now while those kind friends tendered their sympathy to the bereaved, they paid their last token of respect to the departed. It is not our province to eulogize the deceased for we deem the life she had lived was sufficient and better than any eulogy which could be pronounced upon her. Her remains were followed by a large concourse of friends and relatives to the cemetery near this village.

A faithful and most praiseworthy home. What made the husband more than a stern taskmaster from his life long passion. The power supreme that his own soul. Who would guard her children with a tender mother's love and shield them from every danger. His love and her heart that being death's prayer.

DIED—In the village of Royal Oak, May 27, 1895, Anna Eliza, wife of Frank McWhell, in the 29th year of her age.

The subject of this sketch was born in the township of Royal Oak, September 1, 1850, was the daughter of John and Eliza McCracken, both deceased, but well known for many years to the people of Royal Oak and Troy. She was married to Louis F. McRoberts February 1, 1882. From her childhood she had been troubled with a throat difficulty which eventually was the cause of her death. She was the youngest of seven children, all grown to manhood and womanhood, and the first to be called away. She leaves two small girls, aged 4 years and 10 months respectively. Her brothers and sisters were all present at the funeral, which took place on Wednesday last, from the residence of David McDowell and her remains were laid to rest beside her father and mother in the Crooks cemetery in Troy. Anna Eliza was kind and affectionate, discreet, beloved in life and mourned in death by all who knew her, and why she should be taken away in the prime of life is one of the mysteries which we do not understand, but to which we must say again.

COUNTY LINE CLIPPING.
Somebody or something has been making free with Billy McRoberts' name.
At Clements buried a little one at the corners Monday, making four burials within a few days.
Robert Mitchell buried a little one last Friday. Robert intends moving to the Beaver into Charles Schlack's vacant blacksmith shop.

Elder Herrington made a flying call on some of his friends in this vicinity recently.
One of our neighbors killed off the hen on his good wife's nest of pilander's eggs, telling her they were duck's eggs.
Planting was about all finished up last week.
Mr. A. Everett's brother-in-law of S. Barr died at the corners Thursday May 27, of consumption.

TOWN LINE TROUBLE.
Mrs. Moses Shap is on the sick list; also James Delmarter, and Mr. Blair had a very bad attack Friday and his life was despaired of. Mr. Blair is failing. Elijah Adley has gone to Dakota.
Truly the McManus family have their share of tribulations. The old man is looked up at present, while Ed has a few friends left who think he would make everything all right if they would give the boy a chance.

Mr. Nelson's new house is fast nearing completion.
Jack Taylor, the runaway brother of Bill Taylor, is dead.
Mr. Olivant, whose son was killed last week, had only been with his family a few weeks previous to his son's death and had not seen him since he was an infant, at which time Mr. Olivant came to this country and his family lost track of him. On his way to his sister's residence Mr. Olivant stopped at Mr. Leonard's for a drink and was visited on by his own wife, neither one recognizing the other.
Mason Leonard had a bone-rattling and everyone is praising his hospitality of course.

AN AFFIDAVIT.
Do hereby certify that the Orient grain, wheat, and other commodities in the village of Birmingham, were made with hessian flax and one of the best flour in the city.
