Science Institute Schedules Shows

"Christmas Skies" are to be shown in the new McMath Planetarium, Cranbrook Institute of Science, each Saturday and Sunday in December, at 2:30 and 3:30.

The public is invited, at a nominal charge to defray expenses, but children under six are not admitted. Special groups may arrange for private showings on other days by phoning during office hours.

Groups may have a choice of subjects: the constellations, the planets, or celestial navigation.

FEATURE-of-the-month at the Institute is a collection of pen-and-jewelry from the Middle East—silver head-dresses, belts, rings, anklets and charms to ward off evil spirits. The objects range geographically from Palestine to the Persian Gulf, and northward to Kurdistan.

On Dec. 7 at 7:45 in the Cranbrook school auditorium, "The Amazing Monsieur Fabre" will be shown. Institute members and guests. A presentation of the career of Jean Henri Fabre, the celebrated entomologist, the movie includes some of the most dramatic accounts of insect life ever filmed.

Two short films also will be shown: "The Long Flight", and "Insect Caterers of the Bog Jungle."

Jacobson's Plans Children's Store

Jacobson's department store plans to move the children's section from its main store on West Maple avenue to a new building at 275 N. Woodward Ave.

Nathan Rosenfeld, president of the chain store, said construction probably will be started early in the year with a fall opening in sight.

The large building located at the southwest corner of Willets and Woodward was formerly occupied by the Wilson Pontiac-Cadillac agency. It has been vacant for a year and a half.

ROSENFELD said the remodeling would include new show windows and entrance ways.

Plans to enlarge the Maple avenue store will be dropped for the time being. Moving the children's line, which now occupies most of the lower level, will allow more complete coverage in their women's, misses and junior wear.

An architect's sketch of the new children's store will be ready in January.

Work currently is going on across the street in the expansion of Jacobson's Home Decorative shop on North Woodward. It is scheduled for completion this spring.

Willits Widening Cost Formula Set

To enable city officials to figure out the "arithmetic" involved in the widening of Willits between Woodward and Chester, city commissioners continued for two weeks the special assessment hearing on the proposed construction.

As tentatively outlined Monday night, the city would assume all the replacement cost of present paving and gutters. The property owners would pay 75 per cent of the widening cost, and half of the estimated $52,800 needed to acquire an additional 10 feet of right-of-way.

A Nov. 14 traffic survey on Willits, said Police Chief Ralph Moxley, showed 77 per cent of the vehicles were travelling through without planning to stop and park.

Home on Furlough

Pvt. Carlin V. Brawner is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Brawner, 2248 W. Lincoln, Birmingham, for a two-week furlough, following completion of his basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. From here he will go to Military Police school at Camp Gordon, Ga.
