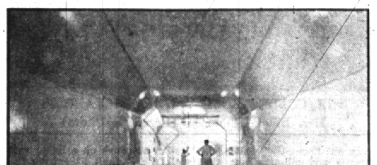
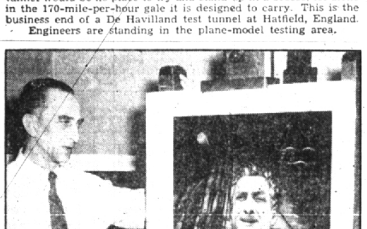
"SOUND" WEAPONS OF ELECTRONIC AGE—Resembling jeweled daggers, swords and clubs, these tiny weapons, most of them less than an inch long, are being wielded by scientists in a war to reduce the bulk and increase the efficiency of radio and television equipment. Worth their weight in gold, they're fragments of pure silicon as found in the earth. Officials of Dupont, one of the processors of the crystallized mineral, foresee widespread usage of it in the manufacture of tiny transistors, which replace some types of bulky vacuum tubes.



—AND NOTHING TO HOLD ON TO—This highly polished tunnel would be no place to try and stand up in a breeze, let alone in the 170-mile-per-hour gale it is designed to carry. This is the business end of a De Havilland test tunnel at Hatfield, England. Engineers are standing in the plane-model testing area.



HE HAS "SMOOTH" TECHNIQUE—Artist Rudolf Urmersbach, 52, of Mount Pleasant, Mich., has truly a soft touch with the brush. Using a technique all his own, he paints on black velvet.

Troy Seniors Eye Homemaking

Wednesday was "Homemaker of Tomorrow Day" for the senior girls of Troy High school who have enrolled in the Betty Crocker search for the American Homemaker for Tomorrow.

Across the country, 189,530 senior high girls in 8,090 participating high schools took a written examination testing their aptitude for the career that awaits nearly all of the them—homemaking.

The girls are competing for scholarships, travel opportunities and other educational prizes being offered by General Mills.

The contest aims at giving young women a deeper appreciation and understanding of the American home and the personal qualities needed to successful homemaking.

After each girl took the test, she received a 24-page homemaking guide to assist her in pursuing her future career.
