We doubt if there could be 'formed a jollier crowd of merry hearted, rosychecked boys and girls than assembled in the pleasant home of A. Bayleyson New Years eve. The party was given in honor of Mrs. Bailey's Sunday school in honor of Mrs. Bailey's Sunday school class. The guests were unmerous and thoroughly congenial and few more enjoyable occasions have ever been wit nessed in the town of Troy. In the early part of the evening Mr. Wattles, on behalf of her class, presented Mrs.
Bayley with a picture containing the faces of seventeen members of the class and a four policius coulder hearten lab of Bujev with a picture containing the faces of seymeten members of the class-and a finer looking, nobler hearted lot of boys is seldon seen together. A while after receiving the picture supper was amounced. The repeat was calcurate, such as Mrs. Bayley so well knows how to prepare, and the hungry boys and girls showed their appreciation of it by doing it angle justice. The eminded such as yeal them out, needle's eye, hap ye is the miller, etc. About midnight a willness spend to have come over the apirit of the merry makers, and upon in-restigation, we found the entertainment had become transformed into a watch meeting. Each one with watch in hand stood anxiopiny waiting for the exact time to arrive when he could get the letter of his neighbory for the vishing him a "Happy New Year." The guests took their departure in the early hours of the glid New Year, each one, we are and good will to such beath, happiness and good will to such beath, happiness and good will to each and every one in the Bayley house.
