Tiger 'Fan Club Day' Scheduled for Aug. 25

The Detroit Tigers' most vociferous supporters—teenage members of about 40 fan clubs—will have their day at Tiger Stadium Aug. 25 with a pre-game ceremony honoring their top favorites.

Four Tiger players are being selected in a poll of the youngsters on the basis of personality, cooperation, good looks and grooming. One of the four will be named King of the Tigers.

All will receive gifts from the young fans.

The Tigers claim the most comprehensive set of fan clubs in the major leagues and this is the second Fan Club Day at Tiger Stadium.

VIRTUALLY every Tiger player has a fan club this season, with some of the stars supported by as many as six. In addition, there are some clubs organized in behalf of the whole team.

The various clubs have organized the, Tiger Fan Club Association, with Alberta Haesebrouck, of 4686 Chalmers in Detroit, as president. The association is conducting the poll for Fan Club Day and will be in charge of the pre-game ceremonies.

Members of bona fide fan clubs affiliated with the association will be admitted free to the Tigers' game with Washington Aug. 25 upon presentation of their membership cards at Gate No. 3.

ily swimming, 2,356; and teen nights, 382. All three were slightly lower than last year.

DAY CAMP, another phase of the summer session, was held for six weeks at Springdale Park.

"A considerable drop in registrations (24) at the end of the year made me decide to recommend reducing it to five weeks next season," explained the park's director.

Music classes held weekday mornings at Seaholm High School, for a period of eight weeks, enrolled 268 children. It was an increase of 47 over 1961.

"ARCHERY, rifle and golf classes have been very successful," reported Martin. "All three enjoyed an increase in registration and enrollment over last year."

In a report submitted to the board of recreation (composed of city and school district officials), Martin outlined recommendations for next year's summer program.

THE RECOMMENDATIONS are:

- Schedule the music, drama and puppetry specialist full-time instead of part-time. "She would then devote her mornings to simple dramatics, which could be scheduled on a fee basis and held separately from the playground program.
- Eliminate the craft assistant and utilize that person as another full-time leader on a larger playground.
- Schedule all boy's softball games one morning per week on Eton Parks' four diamonds. This would free the sports supervisor for more attention to the girl's sports activities.
- Continue to use the baton instructor part-time for preschool sessions. Also, centralize the baton classes away from the distractions of other playground activities.
- Consider changing the playground location from Pembroke Park to Pembroke School to increase storage space, workspace for crafts, indoor facilities for rainy-day programs and supply electrical outlets for a record player and movie projector.

In the swimming programs, Martin's recommendations included a Red Cross junior and senior life saving class, a teen night at Derby pool, reduce evening sessions from 2½ hours to 2 and extend the recreational, family and teen sessions for one week.
