One of this earth's greatest influence is that of exemplifying good. The kind words and acts one does affects the words and acts of others . . . like a pebble tossed into a pond, the ripples extend farther than one can see. Plant a beautiful garden, maintain your house in good repair . . . and the street on which you live will beckon others to do likewise.

Uses Valentine Theme For Bridge Luncheon

MEADOW LAKE — The Clyde Fulton home on Meadowlake Drive is bubbling these days with pleasant happenings. They entertained Richard Burknardt and Mr. and Mrs. Hans Hiertz recently for cocktails and dinner. Burkhardt is a former Meadowlake resident and is now living in San Mateo, Calif.

The traditional red and white colors of the season played a part in the decorations for a bridge luncheon on St. Valentine's Day for a group of Mrs. Fulton's friends. Guests included Mrs. Wilfred Dierlamm, Mrs. Joe Copeland, Mrs. Joe La Plante, Mrs. Stanley Voorheis, Mrs. Hazel Welch, Mrs. Jay Weatherwax and Mrs. Calvin Meisel.

WESTCHESTER — A cocktail and luncheon party preceeded a baby shower given for Mrs. M. B. Ricketts of Pebble Lane by Mrs. Joan Rust of Kirkshire Drive in Birmingham.

The guests were members of the Newcomers drama group of which Mrs. Ricketts is a member. Mrs. Mickey Falk, Mrs. Ann Frisch, Mrs. Maggie Ryan, Mrs. Wilma Klein, Mrs. June Wisby and Mrs. Ann Holmes had as much fun as the guest of honor during package-opening time.

FRANKLIN WOODS—A Valentine's day luncheon was enjoyed by Mrs. David Barnett, Mrs. John Mann, Mrs. L. M. Sprague, Mrs. Harvey Fischer, Mrs. Leon Jones, Mrs. George Meyer and Mrs. George Staeger at the home of Mrs. Richard Ford on Pickering Road.

WESTCHESTER — "The Dividends of Indoor and Outdoors" will be the subject discussed by Alice Wessells Burlingame, speaker for the Monday meeting of the Westchester branch WNFGA, at the home of Mrs. John McColl, 405 Dalebrook Lane.

Club member, Mrs. D. P. Koisinen will continue her presentation on the subject of "Starting Perennials from Seed."

Cohosting the afternoon will be Mrs. Fay G. Knapp, Mrs. Lawrence Salter and Mrs. Byron Trerice Jr.

MAPLEBROOK — The monthly meeting of the Maplebrook branch WNFGA will be held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. A. A. Frank, 540 South Cranbrook Road.

Program chairman Mrs. R. L. Knudsen will show slides furnished by Michigan division photography chairman Mrs. Emil Schamlec.

Co-hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. J. J. Jasper and Mrs. H. I. Slone.

BERKSHIRES—A man with a hobby is Anthony Wolf, 7106 Old Mill Road, whose hobby is building model rail roads, even to the final touch of miniature people.

The Wolfs are recent newcomers to the Berkshires, coming here from Detroit. Two daughters, Rose Ann, 10, and Mary Louise, 9, are steady contributors to all the fun and frolic around the house. Wolf is a partner in Levin-Pierce-and Wolf, Consulting Engineers.

Busy Season ForB'hamArea Girl Scouts

Two Girl Scout neighborhoods, Adams and Torry, have merged. At their February meeting in the Ranch room of the Community House they elected new officers and officially adopted the name Adams Torry Neighborhood.

Mrs. Russell W. Garman was elected Neighborhood Chairman. Council delegates are Mrs. Fred G. Crosby, Jr., Mrs. Harold W. Ferch-and, Mrs. John W. Jickling and Mrs. Erling Oyen.

JUNIOR High and Senior scouts are enjoying some adventures in good scouting. Mrs. William Smith's Seniors, hearing that the kindergarten room at Cass Community church in Detroit needed redecorating, spent a Saturday there painting chairs.

Mrs. John May, leader of a Derby Junior High Girl Scout troop, has sent out a plea for used uniforms to give to girls in a troop in an underprivileged area of Detroit. Girls in Mrs. May's troop are planning an International Luncheon in May at which the Detroit troop will be their guests.

BLOOMFIELD Hills Neighborhood Girl Scouts, 200 of them, and their 26 Leaders got together and went sleigh riding at Upland Hills Farms, southeast of Oxford, Michigan, recently.
