

Birmingham Eccentric

to the secretary of state for publication and to the publisher of the Birmingham Post.

The report for the month of February is published in connection with the last issue of the Birmingham Post. The weather was generally clear, with a few showers of rain, and the temperature was in the neighborhood of 40 degrees. The wind was from the north, and the sea was calm. The weather was very pleasant, and the people were much pleased with it. The Birmingham Post is published every day, except on Sundays and public holidays. It is a very interesting and useful paper, and is read by many people in Birmingham and elsewhere. The Birmingham Post is published by the Birmingham Post Office, and is sold by all news-vendors. The Birmingham Post is a very important paper, and is one of the best in the world. It is published by the Birmingham Post Office, and is sold by all news-vendors. The Birmingham Post is a very important paper, and is one of the best in the world.

Time's whirling brings about strange revolutions in human relations and feelings. One of the most striking instances of this is the case of the Birmingham Post. Mr. Beecher's death has occasioned the revival of many pleasant things and memories. Among them his witty answer to the question asked him in connection with his Yale lecture on preaching. "Mr. Beecher, in your opinion, are there any so many short pastors in these days?" "Largely of the divine mercy," was the instant reply. "The uncertainty of the appointment of a pastor is a relief to him. It leaves each to find out for himself whether divine mercy favors the church or the departing parson."

Joel Chandler Harris has contributed to the next number of The Century a story entitled "The Georgia Game Warden." The scene of which is laid in Georgia before, during and at the close of the war. It is a war story from the south, and is a very interesting and useful paper. The Birmingham Post is published by the Birmingham Post Office, and is sold by all news-vendors. The Birmingham Post is a very important paper, and is one of the best in the world.
