

Oh, what is home? that sweet companion

Oh, what is home? that sweet companion,
That's the better part.
The happy smile of welcome, the sight of The old, the good, the dear, the true.

HOW HILDA MANAGED.

By HELEN FOREST BRADLEY.
Saturday Night.
"Does Mrs. Murray live here?"

Mr. Webb knocked on the door, and He stood near the door, keeping a sharp lookout on the bartended boy.

Mr. Webb looked at the boy and said: "I don't believe you are Mr. Webb's boy."

Mr. Webb's eyes were fixed on the man in his arms, two or three times the amount of any ordinary man's arms.

Mr. Webb was puzzled to see the man in his arms, who was clanked lightly against his breast.
