Competition in the life of trade, and Trusts are the death of competition.

The Panama canal was to be short cut to the Pacific, but it is a case of the fabled goose that laid the golden egg.

One reason why the girl of the period is so popular is because the young man of the period could not be persuaded to court in the old-fashioned way.

The fact that the two-headed girl gets $700 a week from dime museums is a case of the fabled goose that laid the golden egg.

Malaria is a fall delusion that stalks over the land in its winter weather.
